NOMINATION OF BRUCE ASSURED

ALL ELEMENTS OF PARTY LINE UP BEHIND CANDIDATE WHO CAN WIN IN GENERAL ELECTION

MAKES MANY FRIENDS

The nomination of William Cabell Bruce as Democratic candidate for the United States Senate now seems assured. Mr. Bruce's candidacy is attracting all elements of the party, and the feeling that he will make the best candidate is spreading throughout the whole state.

Mr. Bruce is proving himself an attractive campaigner. He has made friends wherever he has gone. His genial personality combined with his many fine personal attributes, has won for him the admiration and the support of the rank and file of the party.

The impression is growing that Mr. Bruce, if nominated, will win a decisive victory in the general election, and thus restore to the Democratic party one of the seats in the United States Senate for Maryland. As has been said editorially in "The Sun," Mr. Bruce's candidacy is of a type which is bound to appeal strongly to those who see in the forthcoming elections a chance to recover for Maryland the prestige she formerly held in the counsels of the Republic.

It is generally admitted that Mr. Bruce, should he be elected, will immediately take a place among the leaders of the Democratic party in the United States Senate. His ability as a lawyer, as an orator, and his literary achievements will at once put him in the first rank of the Democratic Senators, and it is not doubted that he will make a record of which the whole State will be proud.

Mr. Bruce says:

"I confess that my leaning is toward the old Jeffersonian principles of Democracy which have proved entirely reconcilable with the most generous aspirations of the human race.

"The main thing that I hope to do in case I am elected to the Senate is to preserve my mental sanity and keep myself clear of all fads, crochets, empty dreams and inane projects of every sort, and yet, at the same time, remember that the place of a statesman is on the front seat and not at the tail end of the wagon. And I hope too that I would be able to keep myself free from all selfish class intrigues and combinations of every sort.

"I am opposed to the State or Government ownership of public utilities.

"Generally speaking, my political creed is based upon the old immemorial principles of individual initiative and enterprise that are the only true foundations for the lasting welfare and happiness of commonwealths."

William Cabell Bruce, of Baltimore City, was born on March 12, 1860. While a law student at the University of Virginia during the session of 1879-80, he was awarded by a committee of its faculty a medal for the best essay published during the session in the college magazine. Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, was a member of his class.

After leaving this institution, Mr. Bruce was a student at the Maryland University Law School from 1880-82. He was admitted to the Baltimore City Bar in 1882, and in 1887 formed a partnership with the late Judge William A. Fisher and his son, Mr. D. K. Este Fisher, under the firm name of Fisher, Bruce & Fisher, which acquired a large and varied practice. On the death of Judge Fisher, in 1901, the business of this firm was carried on under the same firm name by the surviving partners until the year 1903.

In 1893 Mr. Bruce was elected to the Senate of Maryland from the Second Legislative District of Baltimore City, and in 1896 he was made the President of that body.

In 1903 he was appointed City Solicitor of Baltimore City by the late Mayor Robert M. McLane. He was reappointed to this office by Mayor Mahool, and discharged its duties until 1908, when he resigned and resumed the practice of his profession. On June 1, 1910, he was appointed to the office of General Counsel to the newly created Public Service Commission of Maryland by the late Austin L. Crothers, Governor of Maryland, and reappointed to the same position by Governors Harrington and Ritchie.

While the head of the Baltimore City law department during the administration of Mayor Mahool, he was appointed a member of the Charter Commission to frame a new charter for Baltimore City.

In 1918 Mr. Bruce was awarded the Pulitzer prize for writing the best biography which tends to promote patriotic service, the biography being "Benjamin Franklin, Self-Revealed."

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of

CARDUI

and I then remembered my mother used to take it. . . After the first bottle I was better. I began to fleshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.
