SPORTS OF WEEK

DEMPSEY MAY TRY COMEBACK—WASHINGTON LOSES TO MARYLAND AND WILL PLAY P. M. C. TODAY

Washington College will play Penn Military College today at Chester. This will be the first game in the new stadium. Many from here will likely attended.

The pictures of the Tunney-Dempsey fight show that Dempsey was not so badly outclassed after all, as many reporters would lead one to believe The fact of the matter is that the writer of this column, after reading many of the reports by various newspaper representatives, was almost persuaded that, after all, he did not see the fight. His views were at such variance with the views of ones more capable of judging such an event, who were, also, much closer to the ring, that he was almost persuaded, against his will, that either his eyesight or his judgment was all young. And now the pictures show that Demsey was outpointed, but not badly beaten.

The fight was unsatisfactory. Ten rounds is too short for a championship fight. Along this line it may be interesting to go into ring history for this conclusion. Corbett would never have lost to Fizsimmons had the fight been ten rounds; nor would Corbett have lost to Jeffers, or Fitzsimmons to Jeffers, or Johnson to Willard. Had the Dempsey-Tunney fight gone twenty-five rounds, history would have, perhaps, been repeated.

Dempsey and Tunney may fight again sometime within a year. The public seems to almost demand a more complete victory than the last result.

St. Louis probably will enter the World's Series as favorite over the New York Yankees despite early bets of 13 to 10 on the American Leaguers. The Cardinals have shown more consistent form during the closing weeks of the campaign, although they, too, faltered to some extent. Batting averages tell the story, the Yanks, who piled up an early lead through their murderous attack on opposing pitchers, having lost their pet bats or having become fit subjects for an occulist. The American Leaguers were far out in front most of the year in team batting. They slugged their way to victory after victory with only fair work from their pitchers. The batters went into a slump during the last month, but Cleveland, the only team in the league to menace the leaders, could not produce a punch to overhaul them. A study of batting averages shows the Yanks no longer at the top of team batting, having slipped from first to fourth place, Washington, Detroit and Cleveland have passed them.

Tickets for the Navy-Michigan game October 30 in the Baltimore Stadium will be placed on sale within the next week. It will be the biggest event on Baltimore's sport calendar and Navy officials expect to see every seat in the horseshoe occupied. The game will mark the first appearance in Baltimore of one of the greatest football elevens of the West. The Ann Arbor team is said to be as strong as last year's and is being picked to repeat the record of 1925, when it won the championship of the Middle West. Two or three regulars were lost by graduation, but Benny Friedman, Oasterbaun and the other bright stars are back in uniforms. Michigan beat Navy last year, 54 to 0, and will be out to repeat. On the other hand, a different story is heard around the gridiron of the Naval Academy, where a new coaching staff, headed by Commander Jonas H. Ingram, is working with all its might to make the Navy come through with victories over Michigan and later on against her old rival, the Army.

Maryland, on but straight football, swamped Washington College Saturday, 63 to 0. The Terrapin sensations were Snyder, Schrader and Pugh. The later scored two touchdowns by runs of 50 and 80 yards. Washington's best bet, Bobby Cavanaugh, was injured and retired.

Maryland drew first blood when Schrader went over for a touchdown. Kessler kicked goal. Washington then held better and, aided by penalties and fumbles, kept the Terrapins from scoring again in the quarter. Kessler and Stevens did some excellent open-field running, while Schrader was good at line bucking. Score first quarter: Maryland, 7; Washington, 0.

Maryland began the second quarter with a touchdown, Schrader again scoring and Kessler kicking goal. Pugh was sent in for Schrader and Suyder for Captain Stevens, of Maryland. Pugh carried on the work of Stevens in broken field running, putting the ball in a position for Snyder to score on an offtackle play. Kessler kicked goal. Byrd began sending in substitutes. Bobby Cavanaugh played the best football for Washington. The half ended: Maryland, 21; Washington, 0.

Maryland continued using mostly second-string men. Snyder scored he broke through tackle for a 20-yard dash. Pugh's kick was blocked. Snyder scored again on a straight plunge through center. Pugh kicked goal. Washington lost its best bet when Bobby Cavanaugh was injuried. Pughran through the whole team for 80 yards to a touchdown. He failed to kick goal. His next touchdown came from a 50-yard run. He failed to kick goal. The quarter ended: Maryland, 46; Washington, 0.

Maryland put over another score when Mike Stevens drop-kicked from the 16-yard line. Maryland had used every man on the first squad. On three plays following the touchdown Thomas scored a touchdown. Kicked goal. Thomas scored another a moment later and Stevens kicked goal. The final score was: Maryland 63; Washington, 0.

Unshaved Saints

English artists in stained glass have been perturbed by the complaint of the chancellor of the diocese of Chester that ecclesiastical windows do the saints sparse justice in presenting these holy men wearing beards. Artists in stained glass retort that they aspire to present their subjects with as much accuracy as possible, and that history shows most of the saints wore beards, especially as they labored in countries where conditions rendered shaving difficult and unusual. Thus, despite protests of the offended chancellor, stained glass windows in churches will in future, as in the past, present views of saints "bearded like the pard."

You don't know what you're missing!

THERE'S only one way you can know the joys of a jimmy-pipe packed with Prince Albert . . . smoke it! Nothing your friends may tell you, nothing you may read, can possibly give you the correct picture. If you don't know P. A., you're on the outside looking in!

Be skeptical. Challenge Prince Albert to give you the best all-round session you ever had with a pipe. No matter how set you think you are in the matter of smokes, try P. A. It will revise all your notions of how a pipe can perform when put on the right diet.

Buy a tidy red tin today. As you throw back the hinged lid, revel in that rich fragrance. That's tobacco! Tamp a load into your pipe and light up. Get that wonderful P. A. taste. Cool as an ocean breeze. Sweet as an unexpected legacy. Delightfully mild.

Mild, yes, but with a body that satisfies your smoke-taste to the full. The one tobacco that you can just keep smoking from morning till midnight. No other tobacco is like it. You can prove this in five minutes. Make the personal test today!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.
