ANOTHER ONE OF Kent county's prominent business men and citizens has passed to his reward, after a long and useful life spent in this community. A man of genial nature, generous impulses, kind and agreeable disposition, he naturally gathered around him many warm personal friends. It was our pleasure to have met Mr. M. A. Toulson about 37 years ago, and for all the years since that time we found him to be of a most agreeable and pleasant personality—a man easily approached, agreeable and affable. Whenever an occasion arose for him to differ with you it was done in a gentlemanly, yet firm manner. The community has lost a good citizen, the poor a good friend, the church a loyal member and the business interest of Chestertown a valuable asset.

$100,000 FIRE AT CHURCH HILL

A fire of unknown origin, which started in the rear of the garage owned by Mr. Harry Massey, destroyed a large part of the business section of Church Hill Tuesday evening of this week.

Fire fighting equipment from Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's Caroline and Talbot counties was at Centreville attending Firemen's night at the Centreville carnival when the fire siren sounded and five companies were soon on their way to Church Hill, Millington getting off first.

When the equipment arrived at Church Hill the fire had caught to the adjoining frame dwellings before connections could be made to pump from the mill pond the fire had depeloped into a general conflagration that efforts to save the burning buildings were futile although the fine streams of water from five engines soon began to have its effect and the flames were checked about two and a half hours after the fire started.

A conservative estimate of the loss is put at $100,000. The destroyed property includes the Church Hill Motor Co., Garage, the general store of C. E. Anderson, the Church Hill Bank, The Town Hall, Carroll Catlin's Plumming Shop, Godwin's Barber Shop, Mrs. Henry Nehus Grocery Store, The hardware store and home of Harry Walls and the home of Dr. Norman S. Dudley.

DEMPSEY WINS IN 7TH

FOUL CLAIMED BY SPECTATORS

Jack Dempsey came back Thursday night over a strange and baffling trail in the presence of 85,000 people who has paid over a million dollars to see the challenger picked to meet Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship of the word, Dempsey struck Jack Sharkey two blows, which were claimed by prominent sport writers to be fouls, early in the seventh round and as Sharkey apparently doubled up in pain, Dempsey followed with a left hook to the jaw and Sharkey, the Boston sailor, fell squarely upon his face, writhing as if in the deepest agony and counted out.

Up until the seventh round the two men had apparently fought on even terms, each giving and receiving a terific beating.
