About noon on Wednesday an insect, supposed to have been a small green spider, got into Phineas A. Gorsuch's right eye, which soon afterwards became very much inflamed and swollen. The swelling extended to the cheek and side of the face, which, when Mr. Gorsuch was seen by our informant, on Thursday, was frightfully extended.

The Masonic campaign for the fall and winter will be opened by a meeting of Carroll Royal Arch Chapter, No. 31, on next Tuesday evening, the 18th inst. This is an event important and interesting to all the Free-Masons of the county who may contemplate applying for the capitular degrees. The companions anticipate a busy season, and the word is "first come, first served."

The United States Senate passed on Tuesday last a bill appropriating $108,000 to pay war claims adjudicated under the act of 1864. Two Carroll county claims were among those embraced in the bill, one of P. H. L. Myers for $210, and one of Jonas Legore, administrator of Ezra Legore, for $140. The bill had previously passed the House and will doubtless receive the approval of the President.

Walter R. Rudy, of Mt. Airy, was married, on Wednesday evening, to Miss Laura Routzahn, of Middletown, Md. The ceremony was performed in the Reformed Church of the latter place, by Rev. A. M. The thumb and index finger of the right hand of Harry Manger, who is employed on the farm of Mr. Wm. G. Rinehart, near this city, were caught in a fodder cutter, a few days ago, and nearly severed from the hand. Dr. M. L. Bott, who was called to the case, at first thought amputation of the thumb might become necessary, but resolved to save it, if possible. Considering the serious nature of the accident the young man is doing very well and the Dr. has decided that amputation will not be required.

The efforts being made at Double Pipe Creek to divert the current of the stream, which, since a portion of the mill-dam was washed away, has been striking and undermining the abutment of the bridge at that point, on the Carroll county side, have not yet been successful. A stone wall was erected for the purpose, recently, but the high water of Tuesday swept it away. We understand this is only a repetition of a previous occurence. Some decided measures seem to be necessary to prevent serious damage to the bridge.

Etta, Leander Gladhill's little daughter, met with quite a painful accident at her father's residence, West Main street, on Friday of last week. The lower sash of a window fell on three of the fingers of her right hand and cut and bruised them severely. The marvel is that the bones were not broken and crushed. The wounded fingers and the hand were much swollen for a time, but the swelling has subsided and no permanent injury is apprehended. The little girl, who is not yet seven years old, bore the pain caused by the accident with great courage and fortitude.

The peddler of cheap jewelry and bogus watches has turned up in New Jersey, where he has succeeded in duping citizens of several communities. His last appearance was at Asbury Grove, about a week ago, where he sold 100 watches at ten dollars each, operating precisely as Dalton did in Westminster several weeks ago. The swindler, in this case, gave the name of McCurdy. He is probably the same individual whom a number of our citizens have cause to remember by the depletion of their pocket-books. He succeeded in carrying away the entire fruits of his operations at Asbury Grove.

After ten or twelve days of cloud and four or five of rain, Wednesday dawned a fair and beautiful day. Soon after night-fall, however, threatening clouds arose and a heavy electric and rain storm passed over this county. The lightning was intensely vivid and the peals of thunder loud and resonant. The rain fell heavily, at intervals, for an hour or longer. At Manchester it was accompanied by hail of large size, which, however, did no damage. In this city several telephone wires were burned but no material injury inflicted. The fall of hail at Pleasant Valley was quite heavy and did considerable damage.

A very pleasant surprise party was given to Misses Maggie and Janie, the little daughters of Mr. John J. On Saturday last, a number of gentlemen from this city, Avondale and New Windsor, including representatives of the AMERICAN SENTINEL and Democratic Advocate, accompanied Mr. James A. Mitchell to Sharpsburg, Washington county, for the purpose of examining the osage orange hedge fence, surrounding the Antietem Cemetery. The Cemetery Company planted 120 rods of hedge, four years ago, and last April Mr. Mitchell was employed to plash and wire it. The gentlemen, who examined it, were much pleased with the fence, and all expressed the opinion that Mr. Mitchell has discovered the best method of wiring and plashing osage orange hedge, and that his patent is the most practical and successful in existence, and that by its use a perfect fence is secured at a very moderate cost. The hedge does not occupy more ground than the ordinary post and rail fence.

A fair audience greeted Prof. A. H. Merrill, at Odd Fellow's Hall on Thursday night, and greeted him, too, with the utmost enthusiasm. The SENTINEL was unfortunately without a representative to hear the Monologue Reading of Esmeralda, but from persons who were present it is learned that the Professor more than maintained his high reputation in this community as an elocutionist. Rounds of applause greeted him at every appearance.

A note from John H. Mitten, Manager of the SENTINEL, who attended the National Encampment of the G. A. R., at Columbus, Ohio, this week, informs us that the excursionists from Maryland had a very pleasant trip and were royally received by their comrades and citizens of Columbus. The parade on the 11th was a great one. There were eighteen divisions of the G. A. R., in line. The city was gaily decorated and flags were flying from almost every house, except that of Judge Thurman, the Democratic candidate for Vice-President.

Jacob Humbert, a citizen of the vicinity of Mayberry, died very suddenly on Wednesday evening last. He had been at work during the day, with his son, making fence. He seems to have had some premonition of approaching death, as after quiting work he carefully covered his working tools in a corner of the fence and calling his son's attention to them said: "If I do not come this way again you will know where to get them." They then went to the house and after a short time he remarked that he did not feel well and would go to bed. He went up to his room and five minutes afterwards his daughter found him dead in bed. Dr. Jacob Rinehart who was summoned, pronounced the cause of his death disease of the heart. It occurred about 6 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Humbert was in the 69th year of his age.

Church Re-dedicated.

[The following is published by request.—ED. SENTINEL.]

Emanuel Lutheran Church, Manchester, now stands rededicated for both English and German services. The English reopening exercises were held on the 26th of August, when Rev. H. H. Weber, pastor of Grace English Lutheran Church of Baltimore preached a stirring sermon from Luke 9, 13; "Give ye them to eat." Similar exercises were held in German the following Lord's day, when the pastor preached from Psalm 84, 2. A pastor from abroad was also expected on the German day, but circumstances which lay beyond our control prevented. On both these occasions, collections were held, when an opportunity was given to the friends of the congregation to aid in paying for the recent repairs. The response was liberal. What our members paid on those and other days will be kept separate for entrance upon a list of contributions for future reference.

Preparations really began over a year ago, when a number of our enterprising ladies began and successfully carried out a quilt enterprise, from which $201.51 were realized. Early last spring, the council voted in favor of repairing the church, and immediate calculations and arrangements were made. A visit to the church will show that the pews are moved from the wall by an isle and the box-like appearance of them is replaced by a neat scroll arm made at the shops of Messrs. C. Moul & Co., of Hanover, Pa.

As for the decorations on the walls and ceiling there is but one opinion entertained by those who are able to judge, which opinion is highly flatterering to the artists, Messrs. Watt & Bro. of York, Pa. For the improvment of the walls, ceiling and pews, the council is responsible.

By adding the proceeds of the quilt enterprise to an appropriation from the S. S. teachers, Bible-class, together with the profits of our Dairy-Maids' reception (the most succcessful festival we ever had) our ladies found their way clear to present to the congregation a new carpet of the best church quality, cocoa-matting for the vestibules, rebuilt pulpit-platform and altar-rail, a full set of pulpit and chancel furniture from Baxter C. Swan's shops in Philadelphia, and bracket-lamp for the pulpit.

In addition to these gifts, the congregation was presented with a grand communion table from Miss Emma Berwager's S. S. class; of which class Misses Grace Ganter and Carrie LaMotte's gatherings for the above purpose deserve especial mention. Mrs. Eyster's S.S. class also presented a pair of walnut collection plates.

On the whole our congregation has ample reason to congratulate itself on so fine a place to worship God. The proper authorities were careful to avoid anything gaudy, and strove after neatness and good taste. Had our council hired the workmen at another season of the year, and had our people been less willing to lend a helping hand when necessary, these repairs would have cost us a great deal more. As it is, we have, for for a comparatively small cost, a place of worship which is a credit to our town, a recommendation to our congregation and a constant delight to every worshipper.

Thus let us move on in the ways of progress until every thing in and belonging to our church and congregation is in first-class order.

A joy, possessed by one and all alike, is a bond which unseen binds all together for the accomplishment of untold good both in a secular and spiritual sense.
