TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

We do not get perfect character in our sleep. It comes to us as muscle comes through doing things. It is the muscle of the soul.

The politician is having a hard time these days. No sooner does he get the Eastern Lion of business quiet than the Western Ram comes and butts him down.

Old Dr. Reed, of Missouri, eminent diagnostician, says times are ripe and rotten ripe for change.

If Coolidge does not choose to run he had better not cross the down town streets in the cities.

So Sunshine Mary has gone to her rest. Such a reverse of fortune was hers, educated in a convent, then a singer and at last a seller of daily papers in the street. But she never lost her brightness. Though all the money she left behind was $26.00 her cheerfulness gave her customers the impression that she was a millionaire.

Things are surely dependent upon the whims of America women. The Chillag long hair sisters of Austria have become bankrupt because she does not " choose" to let her hair grow, and Poiret, the arbiter of fashion for Paris, has come over to persuade her to consent to wear longer dresses for a season. Whether she will be persuaded or will follow her own sweet will, remains to be seen.

The Perfect President

Now that Calvin quits the race,
O! my fellow-countrymen,
Shall we see his like again?
Can we ever fill his place?

Where's his match, his parallel?
Where is any other man
Who, in trying moments, can
Keep his hands off things so well?

In what party do you note
Any statesman with the skill
To remain so nice and still
In the middle of the boat?

Change must come? Well, we can try it;
Doubtless we can manage with
Hoover, Lowden, Dawes or Smith.
Yes, but we shall miss the quiet!

Why does not Borah let the G. O. P elephant rest in peace? No sooner does he get his plank ready avoiding both the wet and the dry than Borah comes tooting the prohibition horn in his ears. It is hard on G. O. P's. nerves, we must say.

When Abbe Huc, the French Jesuit priest, was traveling in China he had occasion to ask the time of his attendant. The man immediately went over to a cat that was basking in the sun and, examining its eyes, then told the abbe that it was about two hours after noon. He explained that the pupils of a cat's eyes were largest in the morning and that they gradually grew smaller as the light increased until they reached their minimum at noon—and then they began to widen again, till at night they became large.

Why does not Elizabeth Ford make her appearance? Every body is waiting. Wall St. even is standing agog. Stocks and bonds are on the qui vive. What will she be like? Will she follow the graceful lines of the Buick or the 'most beautiful Chevrolet, the Pontiac six or the Studebaker? Will she turn up her nose at her hard worked sister Lizzie? All this remains for the future to decide. Hurry Miss Elizabeth and set our conjectures at rest.

Such beautiful fall days! Can nature do more for us?
See here has been dawning
Another fair day,
Say, shall we let it
Pass useless away.

Like Queen Elizabeth of old Mrs. Elder had the Spanish youth laying their coats down that her danty feet might not be mired. Let us hope that when she arrives in this country the weather will be so fair that there will be no mud.

Are you advertising?
If you wish in the world to advance,
Your merits we're bound to enhance.
We will stir it and stump it,
Help you blow your own trumpet
And trust us, we'll give you a chance.

This is the Leaning Tower of Pisa, said the guide.

Tourist—That does not sound like the name of the contractor that built our garage, but it looks very much like his work.

Mr. Wampus is very sanguine about everything. His wife warned him that he had parked his car out in front without any lights.

"Well," was his easy response, "maybe the fireflies will roost on it."

PENINSULA NEWS

Reduced lighting rates for consumers of the Eastern Shore Public Service Company (formerly the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company) effective throughout the territory served, are announced today by officials of the Company.

Train service over the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railroad was delayed when a barge collided with the railroad bridge over the Nanticoke river. The bridge was damaged to such an extent that it was unsafe for the passage of trains.

George Marion Powell, of Wicomico County, who had been indicted for criminal assault on Miss Elizabeth Owens, 19, daughter of Rev. I. S. Owens, of near Crisfield, on August 25th, 1927, was found guilty of common assault by a jury in the Circuit Court for Worcester County last Tuesday night, and on Wednesday the Court sentenced him to serve five years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Luther Baxter, of Stevensville, met with a most painful and serious accident one day last week, when he took a thirty foot tumble from the top of a ladder.

Klansmen of Newark and visiting members of the Order, from other points, held an initiation ceremony, in a field near the town, on Saturday afternoon, and a street parade at night, headed by a band, in which women members of the Order participated. A meeting was held after the parade, at the New Century Club's rooms, where refreshments were served.

Local gunners on the Susquehanna flats are getting their ducking outfits in condition preparatory to the opening of the season on Wednesday, November 2. Red heads, black heads and marsh ducks have been seen in large quantities and Capt. Johnny Keen this week reports that canvas backs, the choice of all ducks, are very plentiful.

The Northern Maryland Power Company this week filed a bill in Cecil County asking the Court to set aside the findings of the Public Service Commission in permitting the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company to extend its lines into Havre de Grace. The case will be set for trial in the near future.

Delay in reaching a decision over the advisability of the $100,000 Kent Island Narrows dredging project was occasioned last week, when Major C. R. Pettis, U. S. Government Engineer received a communication from a Kent Island waterman, to the effect that deepening of the channel would destroy some of the finest natural oyster bars in the waterway.

Torn to bits and placed in an envelope, a paper purporting to be the last will and testament of Mrs. Harriett F. Beckner, formerly of Queenstown, and a sister of W. Wesley Story, of that town, has been pieced together by Attorney Thomas J. Keating, Jr., of Centreville and eventually may be accepted as the true will of the deceased, in spite of the fact that there is another will dated April 4th, 1923, a subsequent codicil dated December 18th, 1926, and another paper dated July 20, 1927.

Church Hill had a dynamite scare last Monday morning, when the old vault of the Church Hill Bank of Maryland was razed, preparatory to breaking ground for the handsome new structure to be erected by H. B. Pilchard, Pocomoke City contractors.

One of the charges of the explosive proved a bit too heavy and one of the bricks from the old vault was hurled through a plate-glass window in the store of J. E. Thompson, on the opposite side of the street.

E. R. McKim, capitalist of Tryo, N. Y., telegraphed the Isle of Wight Land Development Company of Ocean City, this week, that he had definitely decided to construct a new modern fireproof hotel at Maridel Beach, Md., resort under development north of Ocean City.

The inspection of Maryland seed potatoes this year has broken all records set heretofore with the result that 429 acres were examined this year compared with 247 in 1926. The varieties inspected were Irish Cobbler, Jersey Red Skins, McCormick, Green Mountain and Rural Russets. The value of the potatoes grown for seed this year in Maryland is estimated at approximately $42,000.

Worcester County, the leading potato growing county in the State, is responsible for the greater part of the acreage with approximately 300 acres on forty-four different farms devoted this fall to the production of seed potatoes.

Be good to one another and your religion will almost take care of itself.

REV. CHARLES F. SWIFT

Rev. Charles F. Swift, D. D., has been engaged to speak in the Chestertown Methodist Episcopal Church, Chestertown, Maryland on Sabbath, October 30th at 11.00 a. m., at which time he will give his great address "Religion the Foundation of Democracy," which deals in a very lucid and clarifying manner with the question of maintaining in our institutional and governmental life the ideals and principles of Christianity.

Dr. Swift is one of the outstanding men in the ministry of the Methodist Protestant Church and has had large experience in public affairs, both in church and state and comes fully qualified to deal intelligently and logically with this great question. For several terms he was a member of the State Legislature of Pennsylvania and Chairman of one of its most important committees. For a number of years he has been associated with the National Reform Association of Pittsburgh and occupies a very enviable place among the strong men of this Association upon the platform.

ANOTHER SLAG ROAD PROPOSAL

It is understood that another slag road proposal will be presented to the County Commissioners at their meeting next Tuesday.

The proposal, it is understood, will come from the Development company that has purchased the John F. H. Stokes property, and will extend from the Still Pond Betterton road at Bonwell's corner to the Stokes farm, a distance of approximately three miles.

In the proposal the Development company will bear part of the expense of building the road.

This is the third slag road proposal that has been presented to the commissioners this year in which private citizens agree to bear part of the expense. The other two were accepted.

M. P. DISTRICT CONFERENCE

About fifty ministers and laymen from Kent county attended the fall meeting of the Upper Peninsula District of the Maryland M. P. Conference held at Centreville M. P. Church on Thursday evening of this week.

The principal speakers at the meeting were Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of the General Conference; Dr. J. H. Strong, ex-president of the Maryland Annual Conference and Dr. E. A. Sexsmith, secretary of the Board of Church Extension, and Dr. Makosky, president of the Maryland Conference.

Dr. N. O. Gibson, of the Chestertown M. P. Church was chairman of the meeting. The Upper Peninsula District extends from the Nanticoke river to the Bohemia River.

HARRY SCOTT TO LEAVE COUNTY

Harry Scott, found guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and sentenced by the Court to 60 days in the Kent county jail and $100 fine was brought before the court this week and told that his sentence would be suspended provided that he would leave this Judicial Circuit and never return.

This Judical Circuit includes Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot counties.

The court arrived at this decision due to the fact that Scott, or Scottie, as he is known here is a native of another state, and that this community would be better off if he left and never returned.

WEDDING NOTES

Miss Irene Rollison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rollison, and Mr. Herbert Beck, were married Saturday evening, October twenty-second, by the Rev. C. L. Dawson at the Methodist Protestant parsonage near Wesley Chapel. The couple were attended by Miss Delma Watson and Mr. James Higgins. After a few days visit with the groom's sister, Mrs. Howard Creighton, and Mr. Creighton, at Salisbury, the young people will reside with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Beck, in Piney Neck.

600 PEOPLE VISIT TURKEY FARM

PENNSYLVANIA, DELAWARE AND EIGHT COUNTIES OF MARYLAND ARE REPRESENTED

Probably the largest gathering of people interested in turkey raising ever assembled at one time in Maryland visited the Maryland Turkey Farm on Wednesday of this week.

The occasion was the turkey field meeting held at Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baker's Maryland Turkey Farm in Quaker Neck, Kent county.

People from Dorchester, Wicomico, Talbot, Caroline, Queen Anne's, Kent, Cecil and Dorchester counties as well as from Delaware and Pennsylvania made up the six hundred interested spectators who attended the meeting and inspected the flock of 1000 Bronze turkeys which Mr. and Mrs. Baker have raised.

The visitors came in 167 automobiles.

The meeting was called to order on the beautiful lawn overlooking the Chester River by County Agent H. B. Derrick, chairman of the meeting who welcomed the guests.

1.30 p. m.—Methods used and management employed in raising 1000 turkeys on the Baker Turkey Farm in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baker. This included selecting the flock, incubation, brooding, housing, feeding, etc.

2.10 p. m.—Recently developed practices in turkey raising by Extension Poultry Specialist, Mr. W. H. Rice.

2.20 p. m.—Turkey Production and the Extension Service by Dr. Thomas B. Symons, Director Maryland Extension Service.

2.25 p. m.—Drawing for 1200 pounds of Turkey Mash donated by local feed dealers. Twelve turkey raisers present will receive 100 pounds of Turkey mash each, whenever they want it.

2.30 p. m.—Inspection of flock of 1000 turkeys raised during 1927, tour being conducted by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baker.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Baker shipped 100 handsome bronze stock turkeys for which they received $2000.

It is estimated that Mrs. Bakers turkeys are worth $15,000.

BRIDGE PLANS CHANGED

WIDENS SPANS TO MEET OBJECTIONS

In an effort to meet, as far as possible, the objections of owners of barge lines to the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge, plans are being prepared for a set span with a horizontal clearance of 300 feet and a vertical clearance of fifty feet, it was announced yesterday by the bridge company. This will be in addition to two draws with horizontal clearance of 210 feet each.

It is understood this revision of the plans now before Major C. R. Pettis, War Department engineer in charge of the Baltimore district, will meet the objections of virtually all shipping interests of the city.

Philadelphia Interests Cited.

Whether it will satisfy the Philadelphia interests which have taken the lead in opposing the bridge is not known. It was the Philadelphia opponents of the bridge who proposed that 4,000-foot spans to be built over the two channels of the bay. The bridge promoters have pronounced this proposal "impossible and unnecessary."

Asked whether he attached any significance to the opposition of the Philadelphia shipping interests, since one of the results of erection of the bridge would be to divert trade from Philadelphia to Baltimore, Major Pettis said:

" I believe that the Philadelphia shippers are sincere. Baltimore interests are not opposing the bridge as strongly as the Philadelphians because of the benefit the bridge will be to Baltimore.

Mentions Compensation.

"If this bridge seriously interferes with the business of Philadelphia shipping interests, they will lose, without anything to compensate them. The Baltimore shipper can afford to take a shipping loss which will be compensated by increased trade from the Eastern Shore and increased real estate values both on this and the far side of the bay."

Major Pettis explained that if the present plans before him were revised he would hold a second hearing. He already has intimated that the plans before him cannot be approved by him.

The revised plans of the bridge company will not be ready for several days, it was asserted yesterday.

"BLOODSHIP" REAL EPIC

Gripping Sea Story Told With Sincerity And Played With Dramatic Power

If you want to see a moving picture that is different from anything you have yet seen, go to the Lyceum Theatre Friday and Saturday of next week, where "The Blood Ship" a new type of sea melodrama, is the featured attraction. It is one of the most satisfying films we have viewed in some time. Real action, perfect characterization and wonderful photography make this an outstanding production. The story, with its background of elemental passions run riot, holds the interest from the very start. Its deft handling by the director, George B. Seitz, enhances the sheer power of the plot and develops every bit of value in the continuity.

The plot, in its essence, concerns itself with the brutal carrying-ons of "Black Yankee" Swope, a clipper ship captain who knocked his man out first and asked questions afterward. His nemesis, played by Hobart Bosworth, comes up with him, and on board ship takes place one of the most thrilling two-man fights ever screened. Jacqueline Logan, sweet and winsome as ever, plays the role of Mary, the girl who doesn't turn out to be Swope's daughter, after all. Richard Arlen is a satisfying lover in the character of John Shreve, who sails aboard Swope's hell ship because he wants to be near the love of his heart. Walter James' portrayal of Swope is a memorable bit of play acting, as is also James Bradbury's characterization of the "Knitting Swede."

A noticeable feat in connection with the picture is that action rather than titles is depended upon to put the story across. In eight reels of fastly moving drama, there are only about fifty titles, and that is what makes "The Blood Ship" ring so true.

LADIES MINSTREL SHOW

TO BE STAGED NOVEMBER 28, 29, 30, UNDER DIRECTION OF WHEELER PRODUCTION CO.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company are going to stage "Nic-Nacs Of 1927" at the Lyceum Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights November 28, 29, 30.

"Nic-Nacs Of 1927" is a big minstrel musical revue, featuring an up to the minute lady minstrel scene and several other big novelty numbers. The cast will include, besides a large number of Chestertown's best lady entertainers, Mrs. H. J. Wheeler of the Wheeler Producing Company, who are staging the revue, and her sister, Mrs. Mary C. Saville, of Wilmington, Delaware. Male minstrel shows are quite common, but lady minstrels, in which our best lady entertainers don male attire and appear as black face singers, dancers, and comedians should prove quite a novelty.

The Ladies Auxiliary are taking this means to raise some funds, and feel that they will have the hearty co-operation of Chestertown and Kent County.
