THE NEW FORD CAR

The Following Are Some of the Out-stan di Features of the New Ford Car:

BODIES

The bodies of the new Ford are of steel, the only wood used being strips for attaching interior trim, and in the soft roofing of the closed cars. In designing the new Ford car every precaution was taken to prevent squeaks, rattles or drumming sounds. The bodies are built with every feature necessary to eliminate metalic noises. The doors are of heavy construction and welded to give greater strength and rigidity. All body parts that are of steel stamping which might develop noises have reinforcing beads which not only prevent drumming sounds, but also increases strength. In assemblying a boyd, panels and frame sections are welded and riveted together where ever there is a possibility of the body weaving, due to uneven conditions on the road, thus eliminating all chance of metalic squeaks of this nature. In the final assembly of the large units of the body where bolts are necessary strips of antisqueak material are used between the sections. Wherever there are two pieces of metal coming together which might cause squeaks a double ply artifical leather anti squeak tape is put between them. Another feature of the body construction is the insulation of a heavy pad heat insulator on the dash of each car. This pad not only keeps heat from the engine entering the front part of the body, but also serves to quiet noises.

WINDSHIELDS

The windshields of the new Ford cars are of triplex shadow proof glass, and important safety feature. When this glass is broke each small particle of glass adheres firmly to the pyroxlin plastic internal layer with the result that there is no flying glass. This is a highly important safety factor in automobile accidents, a large percentage of injury result from cuts by flying glass, particularly from the windshield. There are also other safety features of this glass. It softens direct sun rays, it breaks headlight glare, it elimnates condensation under windshield of closed cars during winter and is flexible under impact.

There are many more important features of the new Model A car which we will be glad to demonstrate to you if you will give us a call.

SPORTS OF WEEK

WASHINGTON BEATS ST. JOHNS

By gaining a 4 to 1 victory on the baseball diamond Friday over its old athletic rival. Washington College gained a one hundred percent. athletic victory over St. Johns for the year 1927-28.

The game was probably one of the most interesting played on the local diamond during the past few years.

Each team scored one run in the first inning, this score holding until the last half of the eighth inning when a batting rally by the locals and a few costly errors by St. Johns players, netted Washington three runs.

Purcell for Washington and Roseberry for St. Johns pitched excellent ball, allowing 6 and 8 hits respectfully.

This game makes Washington supreme over St. Johns in foot ball, basket ball and base ball an honor that has not been awarded the locals for some years.

The Seventh Annual Interscholastic Championship Track and Field meet will be held today, Saturday, at Washington College when 157 high school entrants from all sections of the Easten Shore will compete for athletic supremacy. The afair is under the direction of Coach Phil Brown and the officials will be H. B. Derrick, Starter; O. C. Blades, J. D. Makoskey, J. T. Kibler, E. F. Griffin, Judges.

Jimmy Fox, the Sudlersville boy, knowing as the batting ace of the Athletics, came to the front this week. Jimmy's home run in the tenth inning with two men on bases won the game for his team against Cleveland. On Wednesday his 100 per cent batting netted two triples, one double and two base on balls.

Washington College track team lost to Hopkins last Saturday by a score of 82 1-2 to 43 1-2. Usilton, of Washington, won the high and low hurdles and tied with his team-mate, Ted Norris in the high jump. Usilton could easily have won the latter event but stopped jumping when all opponents were eliminated. Norris won the javeline throw and Crouse took the 220 yd. run. The team was handicapped by a trip around to Baltimore by bus arriving just in time for the event.

A VEST POCKET ESSAY

A dill pickle is an oblong obtusely prismatic pepo of the cucumber plant which has enjoyed prolonged ablution in a saline bath with a member of the parsley family. A self-respecting member of this edible fruit that has received the third degree possesses a flavor akin to the ripe brown taste of pre-Volstead days. The odor is only comparable to an ancient sauerkraut barrel with an aggravated case of halitosts. In fact, slices of an over ripe dill are frequently used as a disguise and free passage for sludges of limburger cheese artfully and artistically arranged on slabs of rye bread. Strange to relate, the dill pickle family, without either Government or State aid, possesses a large clientele, and some persons really enjoy them. We know of one family whose financial condition will not permit the desired indulgence in these spicily embalmed colic producers that puts up seven or eight barrels each year just for sick purposes. Moreover, soused pepos frequently prove real benefactors by jazzing up the palates of the unfortunates who have a sufficient amount of this world's goods to sport pampered but jaded appetites. Getting pickled may improve the standing of a cucumber in a community but it is not recommended to the inhabitants of this arid Nation as a means of getting into polite society.

The epicures of the swine world do not demand condiments of any nature to pep up their appetites. Provide them with suitable quarters and proper feed and they will make big returns on the investment. As an illustration a shoat at the University of Maryland this spring, without enrolling in The Nutrition Course, gained 87 1-2 pounds in 28 days. The undoing of these animals, however, is the fact that many owners consider anything good enough for a hog to eat, and anything is about what many of them get, frequently with disastrous results. Nine out of every ten new or primary outbreaks of cholera in Maryland are caused by the owners feeding the animals garbage, table scraps, kitchen swill, etc., that contain pork rinds, scraps, or washings from pork.

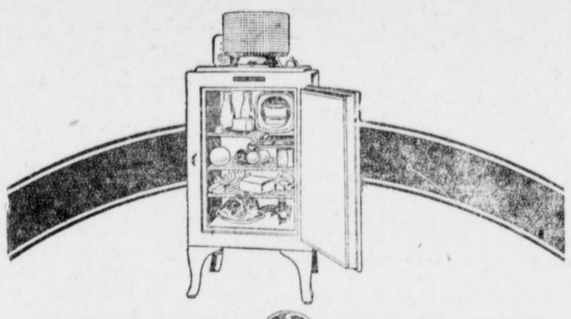
SIMPLIFIED!



GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

After fifteen years of intensive research in the vast laboratories of General Electric, this remarkably simplified refrigerator was produced. It marks an entirely new conception of electric refrigeration for the home. It is so simple mechanically that all its machinery is enclosed in one hermetically sealed casing. It operates quietly, economically, automatically. It hasn't a drain-pipe, belt, fan or stuffing box to get out of order. Guaranteed by General Electric. See it operate—study its advantages.
