WINS PRIZE

MISS LOUISE D. SIMPERS, OF CHESTERTOWN, WINS MEAT STORY PRIZE

A Chestertown high-school girl, Miss Louise D. Simpers, has been selected as champion of the State of Maryland Contest, it was announced today.

Miss Simpers' story was chosen from among 16,000 submitted to receive one of the principal prizes awarded.

The contest is one conducted annually among high-school students of home economics throughout the United States by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. It is said to be attracting a larger number of contestants each year, principally through the encouragement of high-school teachers who find it of great educational value to their students.

Under the rules of the contest, the United States was divided into four districts. Miss Simpers ranked fourth in the Eastern district. The championship of this district was won by Miss Ellen B. Alpigini of Merchantville, N. J. Miss Agnes Childress, of Ordway, Colo., was declared National Champion.

The judges in the contest were four women well-known in the field of home economics hroughout the United States: Dr. Louise Stanley, Chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, chairman; Dean Margaret Justin, Kansas State Agricultural College; Dean Jean Krueger, Michigan State College; and Dr. P. Mabel Nelson, Iowa State College.

Miss Simpers' story was entitled "The Meat Packing Industry." All phases of the meat and live stock industry were covered in the thousands of stories submitted. Typical of the subjects dealt with are the following: "The Food Value of Meat," "Meat and the Diet," "Our Beef Supply," "Cooking Each Cut of Meat by the Best Method."

PLEA FOR MORE ASSOCIATE

Notwithstanding the fact that the total membership in the Associate Committee of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company has reached 150 there is still room for you, Mr. Property holder, if you have not yet forwarded either to Mr. J. S. Kreeger, Clarence Newcomb, or James Kirby your application for membership together with annual dues of $3. This appeal is being made with especial reference to property owners living in our country districts and smaller towns, who are more dependent than they perhaps realize upon the protection which the Fire Company offords them through its splendid body of fire fighters and unexcelled equipment. It is worth while to say here that a new fire truck costing $2250 has just been purchased for exclusive use in fighting country fires, and it is one of the best investments for your protection the company has ever made. Now, if the members of the Fire Company are so solicitous for the welfare and protection of the property holders in the town and county as to invest this large sum for your benefit, don't you think Mr. Property Holder, that it is but fair that you assist the Company to the extent of $3 per year in maintaining its high standard of efficiency. We ought to have at least 300 members in this committee, there is no valid reason for not having this number, and we appeal to every property holder in the county to accept his responsibility in this matter, and send in your $3 without delay.

T. D. BOWERS, President.
