BETTERTON MAN GETS MEDAL

For rescuing Major Thomas Monroe, U. S. A., from the Little Gunpowder river C. R. Crew, a carpenter, Betterton, Md., was given a Congressional life saving medal Thursday. The presentation took place at Edgewood Arsenal at 3.30 p. m.

One day last winter the boat in which Major Monroe was returning from a hunting trip upset, precipitating the officer into the icy water. Burdened with heavy hunting clothes and equipment, he had to struggle desperately to keep afloat and was unable to make progress toward shore.

The officer's shouts for help reached Crew, some distance away on shore. He hastily launched a boat, rowed to where Major Monroe was fighting to keep his head above water and pulled the officer aboard.

Crew is working at the arsenal, where Major Monroe is stationed.

The presentation ceremony was held in front of headquarters. All officers connected with the arsenal attended by order of Lieut.-Col. Walter C. Baker, commander of the post. Civilians also were present.

SILO CONFERENCE

FRIDAY, JUNE 22ND

Silo construction is becoming a subject of vital interest to many Kent Dairymen. In addition to the many wooden and few tile silos in Kent, there are already several ground or pit silos in use. How to repair ground silos is of interest to some. Whether to construct wood, tile, cement, metal or pit silos is the question to be decided by Kent dairymen who plan to build silos this year.

To assist Kent dairymen with the silo problem, County Agent Horace B. Derrick, is calling a meeting of all interested dairymen for next Friday, June 22nd at 1.30 p. m., in the County Agent's Office.

Arrangements have been made to have Mr. C. E. Wise of the Service Department of the Portland Cement Association, Mr. J. A. Conover, Dairy Specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service, and probably an authority on silos from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to attend this conference.

A discussion of the uses and relative values of the various types of silos will be held, after which a visit to at least two pit silos will be made for inspection purposes. Everybody interested in silos is cordially invited to attend.
