A beautiful rainbow arched the Western horizon yesterday morning. The old saw is, "a rainbow in the morning is the sailor's warning," meaning, of course, that it presages an approaching storm. Either the rhyme of the old weather prophets has more sound than sense or the weather bureau has made a mistake, as the probabilities indicate fair weather for this region.

Mitchell, in the Carroll county court, at the November term, 1887, and who was then acquitted on 26 indictments.

A special feature of the celebration of the Harrison victory, at Uniontown, on Tuesday evening, was the illumination of a number of dwellings at some distance from the town. Near the old toll-gate, on the turnpike, the dwellings of Wm. Myerly, Josiah Sullivan, Charles Bankert and H. Troutfelter were brilliant with lights and presented an attractive appearance. The dwelling of Leonard Zile, one of the staunch Republicans of Uniontown district, situated about a mile East of the town, was particularly noticeable. Every window was illuminated and shone as a beacon of joy to the passers by. It was much admired by the delegations on their way to the town and by all beholders. Philip Babylon's house, nearly opposite, was also brilliantly illuminated and attracted much attention and favorable comment.

Our young friend, David M. Roop, of Birmingham, Ala., writing under date of November 12th, says:

DEAR SIR:—Please send me the "SENTINEL," beginning with the "Big Rooster" edition of the 10th inst, as I surely want to see your "Rooster," and also want to get the news from old Carroll county. The Democrats down here in the "Sunny South" take the defeat of Cleveland very hard, but the most of the level headed ones express the opinion that it will be better for Birmingham, (this being a coal mining and iron making and also manufacturing town).

With a hurrah for Harrison and Morton and wishing a large turn out of Republicans at your parade.

Mr. Jeremiah Pittenger, a soldier of Company F, 7th Maryland Regiment Volunteer Infantry, in the war for the Union, died at his home, near Haugh's Church, on Thursday, the 18th instant, in the 48th year of his age. Mr. Haugh was highly esteemed by his neighbors, and his funeral, which took place at Haugh's Church, was as largely attended as any ever known in that neighborhood. He was a member of Miller Post, No. 38, G. A. R. The pall-bearers were all soldier-comrades of the deceased and wore their uniforms on the sad occasion. The coffin was draped with the American flag.

Tanner Celebrates the Great Victory.

The Tannery Republicans celebrated the grand Republican victory, with great glee on last Saturday night. After the receipt of the joyful news that Harrison and Morton were "all right," the employes of the Tannery determined to give vent to their patriotism by an illumination and feast. So, after nightfall on Saturday, they gathered on the hill opposite the works and started a huge bonfire, keeping it up for two or three hours, cheering, singing and making speeches. They were invited to the residence of Augustus Berwager, where the ladies had provided a bountiful repast consisting of a great variety of cakes, pies, fruit &c., and a barrel of good Harrison cider to wash it down with and clear their throats for further cheering. The festivities were kept up until a late hour and everything passed off very pleasantly and happily. Not less than a hundred persons were present, and everybody was surprised at the number, as the affair was pretty much impromptu. All look forward with interest to the celebration four years hence, when Harrison will be re-elected.

Meeting of the District Division.

The District Division Sons of Temperance, recently organized at New Windsor, held several sessions in this city on Saturday last. The object of the organization is the revival of the order and the promotion of temperance, purity and morality. The Sons of Temperance, a quarter of a century or more ago, wrought an excellent work on this line, but gradually declined in activity and influence until the order had not much more than a name to live. Carroll Division and a few others have survived and have now organized an aggressive campaign. The District Division is composed of the subordinate Divisions located at Reisterstown, Baltimore county: Finksburg, Westminster, New Windsor and Union Bridge, Carroll county; and Mechanicstown and Jefferson, Frederick county. The purposes and objects of the organization are purely non-sectarian and non-political, looking only to the reformation of the fallen and the rescue of the victims of the liquor habit, through the power and influence of fraternal combination. A resolution was passed, during the sessions of the District Division, to make an energetic effort to revive extinct Divisions, arouse interest in such as may be languishing and organize others wherever it may be practicable. Prof. A. W. Hawks, of Baltimore, has been employed as organizer and will co-operate in the work. For Westminster a resolution was adopted to request the ministers of the city to preach temperance sermons at such alternating periods as will give one monthly service of that character, and pledging the attendance of the Sons of Temperance on such occasions. A public meeting was held on Saturday night, at which addresses were made by R. T. Smith and Prof. A. W. Hawks, of Baltimore; and Dr. Chas. Billingslea, of Westminster, who presided. Prof. Hawks is a fine elocutionist and humorist, and some of his recitals were very entertaining. The organ, played by Hammond Leas; cornet by Elmer Newman; and the clarionet by Edward Mobley, made very pleasant music. The meeting was quite a success.

Celebration Postponed.

The commttee having charge of the arrangements for the celebration of the Repblican victory, on Thursday, in Westminster, met in the SENTINEL office on the morning of that day and after full consultation determined to postpone the demonstration, on account of the exceedingly inclement weather, until Monday evening next. Of course it was a disappointment to the Republicans, because, under more favorable circumstances, the affair would have been of surpassing magnitude. Every district in the county had signified its purpose to send in a large delegation, while an excursion from Baltimore would have brought hundreds to unite in the rejoicing. Now keep the spirit alive, and let the postponement only stimulate to greater efforts. A message from Baltimore gives assurance that Henry Stockbridge, Jr., Sydney E. Mudd, Daniel L. Brinton and Col. Theo. F. Lang, late Republican Congressional candidates; Daniel E. Conklin, Chairman of the State Central Committee; Wm. M. Marine, and many other prominent Republicans, of Baltimore, will certainly be here. An excursion train will be run from Baltimore. An excursion train will also be run from Double Pipe Creek, leaving there at 5.33 P. M. and stopping at all intermediate stations. Returning it will leave Westminster at 11 o'clock, P. M. A train will also be run from Westminster to Glyndon and intermediate stations, leaving here at 11 o'clock P. M. Republicans of Carroll county, it is your celebration. Come in your strength and make it a grand success.

Patapsco Items.

There is a prospect of considerable improvment in the village of Patapsco very soon. The establishment of a cotton factory here is in contemplation. Hope it may prove to be true. There is also some talk that a gentleman in the canning business has been considering the propriety of locating his factory here, on account of convenience to the Railroad. This gentleman stated, a few days ago, that his expenses for hauling to and from the Railroad, amounted to eight hundred or a thousand dollars per annum.

Since "free-trade" received such a black eye on the 6th instant there seems to be a general boom in business.

Your correspondent remembers well how business prospered after the election of Gen. Harrison in 1840, and there is the same prospect now. Your correspondent was only 16 in 1840, but he helped to pull the wagon with the log-cabin, hard cider and coon. He couldn't vote but he whooped it up for the General then, but did not think he would have an opportunity forty-eight years afterwards to whoop it up and vote for another General Harrison. He feels happy to have enjoyed this privilege himself and to have had three sons unite with him in it. Four in one family solid for the General of 1888. Hurrah! Hurrah!

Time brings many changes and this election will be fruitful in this respect But America wants no free-trade. The citizens of this free country want

JUSTICE.

Wheelbarrow Parade.

The paying of the wheelbarrow bets, at Union Mills, last Saturday afternoon, brought together about five hundred people. The Democratic wheelers were Nelson Koontz, Frank Byers and Dr. J. J. Stewart, and their Republican passengers, respectively, were Harvey Tagg, Thomas Burgoon and Edward Schaeffer. The procession started about four o'clock from the M. E. Church, with the wheelbarrows in the lead, and after them came the Mt. Pleasant Band which was followed by several masqueraders in a cart. The line of march was through the village and up Pipe Creek hill as far as the junction of the Hanover road, and from there back again as far as the Post office, where the procession dispersed.

As the vehicles were provided by the wheelmen, they were decorated with mottoes favoring Democracy, but that made no difference to the happy Republican passengers who triumphantly waved the colors of Harrison and Morton. The wheelbarrows were not handled as though they were loaded with eggs, and their occupants, anticipating something of that kind were fortunate in furnishing themselves with cushions. Everything connected with the affair passed off quite satisfactorily, and the novel sight will not soon be forgotten by the residents of the village.

Just before noon on the same day, about twenty enthusiastic republicans raised a seventy-foot pole opposite the Academy, and the afternoon parade passed under the Harrison and Morton colors floating therefrom.

Celebrating the Victory.

While the SENTINEL's date of publication is Saturday, it is really printed and partially circulated on Friday afternoon. This furnishes the opportunity to notice the parade and illumination at Union Bridge, in honor of the great victory of the 6th, on Friday night, 16th instant, in advance of its occurrence, and to say to the Republicans of Westminster and vicinity that an opportunity to participate in the affair is afforded by an arrangement with the Western Maryland Railroad, which will carry excursionists to Union Bridge by the regular 6.50 P. M. train and return them by special train, leaving the latter place at about 10.30 P. M. Union Bridge Republicans invite their Westminster brethren to join them with torches and banners, in the great demonstration.

The Republicans of the village of Winfield will illuminate their houses and parade with torches and banners, to-night, (Saturday) to express their joy in the auspicious event of Gen. Harrison's election. There will be just such a grand and happy time as Winfield well knows how to provide.

On Tuesday night the Republicans of Hampstead will demonstrate their gladness in the result of the Presidential election by a fitting celebration of the happy event. An illumination and torch-light procession will of course be the distinguishing features of the occasion.

Brave old Taneytown will give public expression to the rejoicings of the Republicans by a magnificient demonstration, on the same line, next Wednesday evening. It will, of course, be a rousing affair.

To all of these celebrations, Westminster, and the other districts adjacent to the localities in which they will be held, will send delegations. One address or more will be delivered at each place.

Wedding Bells.

Reported for the SENTINEL.

KOLB–DILLER.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening last at the residence of the bride's parents. The contracting parties were Miss Rosa A. Kolb, daughter of Elder T. J. Kolb, of Double Pipe Creek, and Mr. E. Dorsey Diller, of Mt. Pleasant, Frederick county. The ceremony was performed by Elder Daniel R. Sayler, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. Miss Anna Weybright acted as bridesmaid and Mr. John Royer of Westminster, as groomsman. The bride and bridesmaid were attired in rich suits of cream colored goods. Each carried a boquet of white chrysanthemums and a lily. The groom and groomsman presented quite a handsome appearance dressed in the conventional black.

After numerous congratulations to the happy couple the guests were invited to supper and found the table groaning under the weight of a luxurious repast, to which ample justice was rendered by all. After a period of social enjoyment the guests were invited to another apartment where delicious refreshments awaited their attack in the utmost profusion. The bride was the recipient of numerous presents, both useful and ornamental, consisting of glass, china, table-linen, towels, clocks, silverware, &c. Among the friends present were Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Diller, of Mt Pleasant; John Delaplaine and family, of Broad Run; Samuel Weybright and family, John Weybright and family, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Weybright, Dr. C. H. Diller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Duvall, Elder D. R. Sayler and family, Miss Clara Young, Mr. and Mrs. Dotterer, of Double Pipe Creek, and Miss Ella Shoupe, of Ohio.

From CARROLL NEWS.

ENGLAR–MYERS.

An interesting and pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Myers, in Uniontown, on Thursday, Nov. 8, it being the occasion of the marriage of their only daughter, Ida M., and W. Philip Englar, son of Uriah Englar, Esq., of New Windsor.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, carriage after carriage came until seventy-five or eighty guests were assembled. At 1.30 p. m., the bridal party, consisting of the bride and groom, preceded by Miss May Stouffer and Mr. Edw. Snader, entered the spacious parlor, where they were met by Elder Wm. Lyon, who in an impressive manner performed the ceremony. The bride looked very pretty in cream cashmere and wore white chrysanthemums. After the good wishes and congratulations of their many friends were expressed, the young couple led the way to the dining-room, where tables laden with many good things were found.

Among those present, besides Elder Lyon, were Elders S. Stoner, E. W. Stoner and G. Ecker.

At three o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Englar, accompanied by their attendants, amid showers of rice and rain, were driven to Westminster, where they left on the 4.50 p. m. train by way of Baltimore for Washington, Philadelphia and other cities.

Usefulness and beauty were combined in the numerous presents.

The Hickory-Nut Party.

Afloat, afloat, in a hickory boat,
Where the river is salty and deep.

On October 26th an article appeared in the Democratic Advocate, entitled "A pole that wasn't raised," in which a would-be wit rallied the Republicans of this place on account of the difficulty with which they raised their Harrison pole. He was especially merry over our failure to erect a hickory pole, forgetting that "he laughs best who laughs last." I am only a boy. I am only 17 years old. I did not live in the days of Andrew Jackson, but I thought the cause would consecrate the timber; that a single kiss from our banner would purify and a single embrace make holy the poorest and meanest wood that grows. I knew that the Democrats claimed the earth, but I thought, and still think, that the banner of American protection had a perfect right to float from any American tree. Therefore, in selecting a pole, the kind was not considered. To stimulate the patriotism of my young comrades and to encourage Republican voters, I determined, if possible, to have a pole erected. In this my Republican friends enthusiastically assisted me. A pole was secured; a speaker and a band engaged; but on account of bad weather the band was absent. We first tried a hickory pole, but it was so limber and unstable that it was abandoned, and in its place we raised a magnificent poplar, 130 feet high, and from that pole now floats the banner of peace, prosperity and security. The banner of the Republican party is starting anew to run its race of greatness and glory. The writer says, "the day following old hickory still laid low." Yes, and it lies there still—prone, broken, prostrate, fit emblem of a prostrate party.

And now let the writer return: let him stand by the side of this prostrate hickory pole; let him stand by the side of this mute and broken emblem of his party; and with the banner of Harrison floating in triumph above his head let him meditate upon the sixth of November. O, fateful day! How many Democratic projects it confounded; how many golden visions it dispelled; how many hopes born of ambition it destroyed. O, "Spectator!" O, Hickory-nut! O, Writer of boasts! how wretched must you have felt when the trumpet of doom was sounded; when you realized that the day of wrath had come; that Democratic doomsday was at hand. Farewell, Hickory-nut! good-by, Democrats! Remorse avails you not; repentance comes too late; you must go. The bell is ringing; the boat is ready; take your little drink of worm-wood and get on board. I wish you a rapid journey to the upper waters of Salt River, and judging by the size of your defeat I have no fear that you will return in the next thousand years. Accept my advice; take with you some Republican bread and butter, for you will find a thousand years a long time to live on hickory-nuts.

A GOOD REPUBLICAN.

Manchester Items.

Well, the battle is over and the minority of our community find themselves on the right-side. They will no doubt mark the event by a jollification, although they are only a few faithful ones in this Gibraltar of Democracy. But things are settling down and resuming their wonted channels, as though there had been no conflict.

Farmers find the corn yielding well and are getting $2.25 per barrel for it out of the field.

Business is good here for an insolated town and merchants have no reason to complain. The loss occasioned by the closing of the Manchester cigar factory has been fully made up by the firm of Miller & Hoffacker, who opened with 20 hands last week for the manufacture of cigars; and the Citizens' Stock Company, which opened on Tuesday, having bonded for 25 hands. These enterprises will bring operatives and their families to the town from a distance, who will take the places of those who have left. It only needs the railroad to boom the town and make it a thriving place. But the railroad matter is wrapped in silence, important as it is. We ask, "Why?" and echo answers "Why?"

There was an oyster supper last week at the city hotel.

Farmers are buying cattle to feed during the winter and giving the drovers a boom.

Rev. Dr. Rupp is visiting friends in Western Pennsylvania.

Brilhart & Bro's. have moved into their new factory with increased facilities for manufacturing cigars.

John H. Lamotte has added a large back building to his house and provided increased facilities for the manufacture of pudding and sausage, for which he finds ready sale in Baltimore.

The pork slaughtering campaign has opened in this section. Mr. C. Frankforter reports two, weighing 350 and 395.

DECIMUS QUINTUS.

Snydersburg Items.

Say! What was the matter with the Advocate's rooster? Four years ago he covered three pages of the paper; but poor, poor creature, he wasn't to be seen last Saturday.

Monday evening previous to the election some oversanguine Democrats were mean enough to drape the pole, erected by Master George Brilhart, with crape. The boy was very much hurt when he saw it on Tuesday morning; but his revenge was not long delayed. The jokers saw a light at the pole on Tuesday evening, and became very much excited, declaring it was an omen of war. And so it was; but the war was over and the victory won and by Thursday evening nine-tenths of those who played the trick on the boy were sicker than if they had been paralyzed.

Large Parade and Illumination in Uniontown.

The Republicans of old district No. 2 determined to paint the village of Uniontown red, on Tuesday evening last, and they did it. By 6.30 o'clock nearly every house in the place was handsomely decorated and illuminated and all seemed determined to make the best possible display. Well, too, did they succeed in the effort. By 7 o'clock delegations began to arrive, and soon Taneytown, Union Bridge and Westminster districts, Middletown, Frizellburg and Pleasant Valley were numerously represented. So great was the crowd that it was nearly 8 o'clock before it was properly mobilized and the parade commenced. After marching through the town the procession returned to the residence of H. H. Brough, Esq., where it was dismissed and gathered about the stand which was erected at that point. The meeting was then organized by the election of Wm. H. Hoffman, Esq., President, with a number of the oldest citizens of the town and district as Vice-Presidents. Speeches were made by H. M. Clabaugh, Esq., Col. Wm. A. McKellip and Dr. J. J. Weaver, Jr., and the meeting was kept up till a late hour. The whole affair was eminently successful and an honor to the Republicans of old Uniontown district, who have been so steadily increasing their majority and gave such a magnificent vote for Harrison and Morton. All along the line of the parade fireworks were displayed, and from the sidewalks the multitude continuously cheered as the procession filed past, while from the dwellings of the citizens there was a constant waving of handkerchiefs and flags, accompanied by joyful acclamations. The air pulsated with strains of beautiful music rendered by the Union Bridge Band, the Citizens' Æolian Band, of Union Bridge; the Pleasant Valley Band and the Sams' Creek Band, supplemented by single instruments played by persons occupying vehicles in the procession. Torches flashed along the entire line of the parade and every district carried transparencies of various designs, all going to make a novel and interesting scene. The procession marched with the citizens of Uniontown district at the head, under command of Wm. Myerly; followed by Frizellburg, under Leonard Zile; Middleburg, George W. Wilson; Union Bridge, J. J. White; Taneytown, Franklin Bowersox; and Westminster, M. Schaeffer. A large delegation composed of colored men was in line. H. H. Brough was chief marshal, with the following aids: M. G. Shaw, Charles Slonaker, J. Hollenberry, Benton Myerly and Wm. Myerly. The number of persons in the procession was estimated at 800. Everything passed off delightfully and no accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion. Well done Uniontown.

On Tuesday night Charles Martin, son of Wm. Martin, returning from the Republican celebration at Taneytown, was riding a colt which stumbled and threw him to the ground. The colt then trod on his hand and kicked him in the head inflicting painful but not dangerous wounds.

A large delegation from this district, headed by the Citizens' Æolian Band and under command of J. J. White, as marshal, attended the Republican celebration, at Uniontown, on Tuesday night.

Rev. J. S. Burton preached at Morgan chapel on the 11th instant, to a large audience.

Mr. Jesse Gosnell, who had his collar-bone broken, at Freedom, on election day, is in a suffering condition, and cannot lie down.

It is stated on good authority that tickets were circulated at Freedom, on election day, with the names of Harrison and Morton, as the Presidential candidates, above the names of the Democratic electors, and that several of them were voted.

All things considered, the Nation has achieved no greater victory than the overthrow of the Democracy on the 6th inst. An electric bolt from a cloudless sky would not have surprised them half so much. They were dumbfounded and stood about in groups, wondering what the matter was with the President, anyhow. We would suggest that he had an attack of softening of the brain, superinduced by dabbling too much with free-trade.

Shipley Items.

Lemuel Cook's sale was well attended and things brought fair prices. Mr. Cook has moved and Edward Freyman, who rented the farm, has occupied the dwelling.

Bemiller cut, split, hewed and mortised 722 posts; cut, split and pointed 1151 rails and put up 341 panels of post-and-rail fence.

Would it not be a good thing if Grover had the $10,000, which he gave for re-election, in his pocket. It might be useful to him in years to come.

The result to the Democrats is a very bitter pill. Quinine would be sweet compared with this defeat.

At the Democratic meeting in Harney, before the election: "I wonder where all these Democrats come from."—D. N. Henning. After the election: "I wonder where all the Democrats went."

Mrs. Charlotte Striker, of Lincoln, Ill., has been visiting friends here for several months. Her maiden name was Benner and she was raised near here, on the farm now occupied by Martin Slagle. She is a sister to Mrs. Maria Shoemaker, George Benner, near Taneytown, and Henry Benner, near here. Mrs. Striker left here thirty years ago, then twenty-two years of age. She left here the first of this week for Frederick, where she will remain a few days and then visit her husband's friends in New Jersey, after which she will return home. Last Sunday Mr. Henry Hilterbrick, who is married to Mrs. Shoemaker's oldest daughter, gave a reception at his residence, near Taneytown, or rather it was a reunion of the Shoemaker family. The following guests were present: Mrs. Striker and son, of Ill.; Ezra Shoemaker and wife; Albert Shoemaker, wife and children; Solomon S. Shoemaker, wife and child; Oliver Shoemaker, wife and children; Edward Shoemaker, wife and child; Geo. Shoemaker, and D. H. Mehring and wife, of Taneytown. At 1 o'clock they were invited to the dining-room where there was a table spread with the luxuries of the season, in abundance, and prepared in the most tempting style. Mrs. Striker gave each one present a small boquet of flowers, as a token of esteem and love which they value very highly. After spending the day in an enjoyable manner they bid their aunt farewell and took their leave. It is worthy of note that the company was composed entirely of Republicans.

Oh, father, must we give you up;
You whom we loved so well;
How can we drink the bitter cup
And say a last farewell?

His busy hands are folded;
His work on earth is done;
His trials are all ended;
His Heavenly throne is won.

Our father now has left us;
From suffering passed away
To join loved ones in heaven
In the realms of endless day.

—BY THE FAMILY.

In Union Bridge, November 3d, 1888, Rosie Pauline, only daughter of Wm. T. and Annie M. Townsend, aged 5 years, 11 months and 3 days.

Farewell, mamma, lay me gently
In my little narrow bed,
For 'twas God who gave and took me,
Now I'm numbered with the dead.

Weep not for me now, papa,
For I am so bright and fair;
I have gone to join the angels,
I have climbed the golden stair.

And my one and only brother,
How you'll miss me in your plays,
When you sit so lonely singing,
Through the long midsummer days.

Alas, my little schoolmates,
When you gather round my door,
You no doubt may think of Rosie,
But you'll see my face no more.

For I've gone to be an angel,
Nor will I shed a tear,
Nor ever know a sorrow,
Nor ever feel a fear.

You may strew my grave with flowers,
You may sing to me a song,
Sing to me a song of heaven,
When the summer days grow long.

Yes, loved one, sleep on, thou'rt free from all pain;
Through thy suffering hours did we soothe thee in vain,
When God in His mercy sent down from above
An angel that whispered a message of love.
