SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1888.

The 51st Congress will be Republican by 5 to 7 majority.

It is now supposed that Governor Jackson will issue his proclamation, announcing the election of Congressmen, next week, and that certificates will be given to Stockbridge, of the 4th District, and Compton, of the 5th.

The Democrats are professing to find comfort in the reflection that the fight over the distribution of the spoils will create dissensions and divisions in the Republican ranks. They evidently expect Gen. Harrison to be a civil service reformer of the Grover Cleveland pattern.

The aggregate majorities of the three Republican Congressmen elect, in Indiana, exceed the aggregate majorities of the ten Democratic Congressmen elect, just 4591. The election of ten Democrats, under the circumstances, is due to the outrageous gerrymandering of the Congressional Districts by a Democratic Legislature.

Since the defeat of Mr. Cleveland some Democratic office-holders, who, during the present administration, have successfully striven to supplant worthy and efficient Republicans in the public service are becoming strenuous advocates of civil service reform. They would probably claim to have been so before and doubtless were, after their own fashion. Then they wanted a reform that would put them in; now they want it of the kind that will keep them.

What is the matter with Major A. C. Rhodes and Mr. James T. Caulk? They have been removed, the first named from the office of chief liquidating clerk and the other from the special agency service in the Baltimore Custom House. Mr. Caulk is a well-known politician of the 17th ward, and the only wonder has been, if offensive partisanship had anything to do with the removals, how he has so long escaped the axe of the executioner. Are other heads ready to drop into the basket?

The process of counting out Mr. Goff, the Republican candidate for Governor of West Virginia; the Harrison electors and Republican Congressmen, still continues. Groff is undoutedly elected, and there is good reason to believe the State is honestly Republican on the Presidential ticket. The election of two Republican Congressmen is finally admitted by the Democrats, with good probability of a third. West Virginia may find herself with a surplus of State governments, as the Democrats will probably insist upon Fleming's inauguration on the crooked returns.

The newspapers commenced the work of constructing a cabinet for President Harrison as soon as his election was assured. Some of them may, by accident, succeed in naming a portion of the timber of which it will be composed, but all discussion of the subject must, at this early day, be based upon speculation. Gen. Harrison is familiar with the qualifications of all the leading Republicans of the country and will probably be governed by his own judgment in the selection of his cabinet officers. There is abundant material of the best character from which to choose his advisors, and it is this very multiplicity of eminent statesmen in the Republican ranks that leads to suggestions and speculations in regard to the composition of the cabinet.

The Advocate in claiming that Mr. Cleveland's policy and views on the "tariff and revenue reform," had been endorsed by a majority of the people, and that "it was only by the division of the people by State lines that an endorsement of a practical kind was prevented," was jumping at conclusions. Mr. Cleveland's plurality in 1884 did not exceed sixty-two or sixty-three thousand, allowing him the bogus majorities claimed in a number of the Southern States. An analysis of the vote cast at the recent election in all the Northern States and in the nine Southern States of Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Arkansas, shows a net Republican gain of 96,495 over the plurality in the same States in 1884. This more than wipes out Cleveland's alleged plurality of 1884 and leaves a margin of thirty-five or forty tnousand for possible Democratic gains in the remaining States of the South. Whatever the vote in those States may be, however, it is very clear that in the States interested to any considerable extent in manufactures there is an emphatic endorsement of the Republican doctrine of Protection, and an equally emphatic repudiation of Mr. Cleveland and his theory of tariff reform.

Banquet to Gen. King.

Upwards of 200 prominent Republicans of Baltimore City and the State of Maryland have tendered a banquet to Gen. Adam E. King, which he has accepted and named Thursday, December 6th, as the time. It will be given at the Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, and will be a magnificent affair, probably without a parallel in the history of the State. Among the long list of subscribers we notice the names of Walter B. Brooks, Alexander Shaw, John K. Shaw, Talbot J. Albert, John M. Denison, Jas. A. Gary, Gen. Agnus, F. M. Darby, Thomas Deford, George Small, D. L. Bartlett, J. Frank Supplee, John S. Gilman, S. D. Mallory, Daniel E. Conklin, John C. King, Enoch Pratt, Sebastian Brown, Joel Gutman, Thomas H. Kensett, Gen. Thomas J. Shryock, J. Alex. Shriver, G. A. Parker, James Carey Coale, J. E. Jacobs, Hon. Hart B. Holton, Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, Hon. W. D. Burchinal, George L. Wellington, H. M. Clabaugh, Samuel Roop.

The recipient of this compliment is well worthy all the honor that can be bestowed in this or any other manner. Gen. King is Maryland's most gifted orator. He has a national reputation and his eloquent voice was heard from Maine to the West during the late campaign. Maryland is proud of him, and her sons in honoring him honor themselves.

The official vote of the State of Maryland, for President, at the recent election, was, Cleveland, 106,172; Harrison, 99,761; Fisk, 5,358. The detailed vote by counties will be given next week.

By the official returns of the vote for Presidential Electors in the State of Maryland it is shown that Mr. Samuel Roop leads the next highest man on the Republican ticket 46 votes.

Mr. Benson Did Not Vote for Cleveland.

A leading Prohibitionist of Westminster who saw the quotation in the SENTINEL, last week, from the Baltimore County Union, charging Mr. Joshua L. Benson, the Prohibition candidate for Congress in the Second District, with having voted for Cleveland, wrote to that gentleman and requested an explanation. Mr. Benson's reply disposes effectually of the charge against him. He did not vote for Mr. Cleveland. On the contrary, he was at the polls all day, distributing Prohibition tickets and openly voted for the candidates of that party. Mr. Benson states that he has furnished the Union with the testimony of several persons, including two of the judges and one of the clerks of election, who saw him vote the straight Prohibition ticket. He is a reputable gentleman and his statement may fairly be considered conclusive in the premises.

What Will be Done?

The 50th Congress will have little time, during the remaining brief period of its existence, to devote to the subject of tariff revision. It will only be in session three months and that will include the holidays, when a recess of ten days or two weeks will probably be taken. Altogether there will not be much more than 60 working days before the Speaker's gavel will fall and adjourn the body forever. If the assertions of Democratic newspapers and orators, during the recent campaign, are to be received as reliable the surplus is piling up in the national treasury at a rapid rate, and something must be done to give it circulation. It will not be necessary for Congress to devise the ways and means, however, as ample authority is conferred upon the President, by law, to purchase U. S. bonds and cancel them; and if a reduction of the surplus be really advisable, in view of the enormous appropriations made for the support of the government, at the last session of Congress, it can be made by the method provided. It is not probable, therefore, that much attention will be devoted to tariff revision until the meeting of the 51st Congress, in which the Republicans will have a majority, both of the Senate and House. The bill now pending in the Senate will form the basis of the tariff legislation that will then be enacted. It is, in the main, an admirable measure, differing from the Mills bill in that, while it provides for all necessary reduction of revenues, it does so by a process that maintains the protective system and preserves American markets for American products, of the field and the forge, the farm and the factory. This bill would doubtless receive attention and approval by the Senate at the approaching session, if any possible hope existed that it would meet favorable consideration at the hands of the House which passed the Mills bill; but, it is too much to expect that the free-traders of that body are ready to give voice to the will of the people, expressed at the late election, by the enactment of such laws as will give practical effect and force to their verdict at the polls. In this condition and under these circumstances it would be only a waste of the Senate's time to take up the bill for discussion. There need be no apprehension, however, that the deliverances of the Republican party on the subject were intended merely for campaign buncombe. It is the serious and determined purpose of the representatives of the party to correct the inequalities of the present tariff and to adjust it to such altered conditions as render it necessary, always keeping in view, however, the home interests that require the fostering hand of the protective principle. The Republican party will prove equal to this emergency as it has to all questions that demanded action in the past when the obligations of authority rested upon it.

The Vote for Congressmen.

From PHILADELPHIA PRESS.

The vote for congressman in Connecticut and New Jersey shows some significant variations from the electoral vote. In the first State the Cleveland electoral ticket had 385 plurality; but the three Republican congressmen elected have 1587 plurality, and the one Democratic congressman 811 plurality, leaving a net Republican plurality in the State of 776. This result will hardly bear out the claim that the tariff discussion had no effect on the Connecticut voters.

Again, in New Jersey, while the Democrats carried the state by 6728 plurality on the presidential vote they have only 2734 plurality on the congressional vote. The total vote shows also that the Republicans cast 1364 more votes for congressman than they did for president, while the Democratic poll on congressmen was 2601 less than on president. So it will have to be admitted that the tariff was a strong factor in the New Jersey contest and that nothing but the liquor vote in Hudson and Essex Counties prevented the state from going to Harrison.

There is no comfort for the Freetraders to be found in the vote of either one of these states The one was lost by trading in one congressional district, and the other was swamped in the determination of the saloon to be revenged on the Republican party for the passage of the High License and Local Option law. Hudson County, which includes Jersey City and where the liquor interest reigns supreme, gave Cleveland 8036 plurality, or 1308 more plurality than he had in the whole state. The returns from the counties make it evident that when New Jersey frees itself from the control of the saloon it will stand in the Protection column.

John H. Owings, of the 6th district of Howard county, has been appointed clerk of the Circuit Court for that county, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late clerk, Louis J. Watkins. The appointment is until the next general State election in 1889.

The business portion of Pocomoke city was destroyed by fire on Thursday night. The loss is estimated at $500,000 with an insurance of $100,000.

Pre-Election Predictions.

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 22d, 1888.

Mr. Editor:—Soon after the Presidential nominations, this year, I exchanged in writing, predictions as to the result, with my friend, Mr. Samuel Cover, of this city. I stated, briefly, my opinion that General Harrison would be elected and received from Mr. Cover a more elaborate opinion, in which he set forth the States which would probably vote for each of the candidates, the doubtful States in his opinion, and the number of electoral votes certain for Mr. Cleveland—sufficient, of course, to elect him. I then informed Mr. Cover that, if his predictions failed, I would publish his statement. They did fail, and I now hand you, herewith, the paper referred to, and respectfully request its publication in the SENTINEL. Mr. Cover says, "we"—that is, the Democrats—"are fighting for the great principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland." In this connection I desire to say that I decidedly prefer the principles of Washington, Lincoln and the President-elect, Gen. Benjamin Harrison. Let me add that it is better for him to boast who putteth off the harness than for him who putteth it on. You will recall the Bible story of Sennacherib and his proud army, so beautifully described by Byron, in his poem on the subject, from which I quote as applicable to the present condition of Mr. Cover and our other Democratic friends:

> "Like the leaves of the forest when summer is green,
> That host with their banners at sunset were seen:
> Like the leaves of the forest when autumn hath blown,
> That host on the morrow lay withered and strown.

Very Respectfully,
JOHN SMITH, of Wakefield.

MR. COVER'S PREDICTIONS.

WESTMINSTER, July 16th, 1888.

By the request of Mr. John Smith, of Westminster, I have agreed to venture my opinion on the Presidential campaign of 1888. I am fully convinced that Hon. Grover Cleveland will carry the following States:

FOR CLEVELAND, CERTAIN:

New York,
New Jersey,
Connecticut,
Delaware,
Maryland,
Virginia,
West Virginia,
North Carolina,
South Carolina,
Georgia,
Alabama,
Mississippi,
Louisiana,
Texas,
Florida,
Arkansas,
Missouri,
Kentucky,
Tennessee.

For Cleveland 204 electoral votes sure.

FOR HARRISON, CERTAIN:

Pennsylvania,
Ohio,
Illinois,
Iowa,
Oregon,
Wisconsin,
Kansas,
Minnesota,
Nebraska,
Maine,
New Hampshire,
Vermont,
Massachusetts,
Rhode Island.

For Harrison 155 electoral votes sure.

DOUBTFUL:

Michigan,
Indiana,
Colorado,
California,
Nevada.

42 doubtful.

The above statement I give as my sincere opinion and judgment, for what it is worth, and those that look at it after the election will consider it very good. You will see that President Cleveland will get 204 electoral votes sure and a good chance for three of the doubtful States will be carried by him and probably all of them. The doubtful States depend very much upon the current between this and the election, which I think will tend towards Cleveland, yet that is one of the things in the future. I am satisfied that there is no doubt of Democratic success, as the great and grand old party is united, it has the numerical strength on its side, and when we are united Republicanism must be defeated. We are a party of principles, not of spoils, and there is not nor ever was any other party, nor ever will be any other party, that could or can live but the grand old Democratic party. We are fighting for the great principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland.

Very Respectfully,
SAMUEL COVER.

Hulless Oats.

A despatch from Centreville, Md., to the Baltimore American, says:—The Cir-Court of Queen Anne's county, owing to the fact that election day occurred to interrupt its proceedings, adjourned on Monday afternoon, and was recommenced on Wednesday at ten o'clock, Judge John M. Robinson presiding. Notwithstanding the oft-repeated warnings set before the people through the country press, and indeed the press of every portion of the state, against the sale of agricultural seeds of fictitious values the people of Queen Anne's and adjoining counties were swindled to the amount of thousands of dollars in the hulless oats fraud. Queen Anne's came in for a share in this swindle of more than twelve thousand dollars given in notes varying in sums from ten (the price per bushel) to hundreds of dollars. It was thought that these cases, as it was expected that payment of these notes would be resisted, would form the most important, as well as the most interesting of the proceedings of the present term of court. Judge John M. Robinson called the attention of the grand jury to several acts of the Assembly, the provisions of which require that duty at the May and November terms, although these laws are rarely violated in this county, in reference to the sale of seeds, &c., and it was clear that those who had given notes for hulless oats at ten dollars per bushel, which notes had fallen into the hands of innocent third parties for value without notice could derive but little comfort, and it is now thought that the notes will be paid as they fall due without contest.

Annual Statement of the School Treasurer.

To the Honorable, the Board of School Commissioners of Carroll County:

I submit herewith a statement, as required by law, of the receipts and disbursements on account of the public schools of Carroll county for the fiscal year ended September 30th, 1888.

A comparison of the year's accounts with those of the preceding year, shows an increase in the receipts from the State of $559.24, and in those from the county of $3,000; an unusual addition to the revenues of $250 from a fine and of $574.20 from the sale of abandoned school lots; and a shrinkage in the salaries paid to the teachers of white schools of $1,452.47. On the other hand, the amount expended in building new schoolhouses was $3,116.07 more, and that paid to colored schools was $610.69 more, than in the preceding year, while the book-fees were $237.67 less, but the attendance was also less by 213.

It became necessary from time to time to secure temporary loans from the banks in order that payments which could not be delayed without entailing hardship on teachers and others, might be made. The amount thus borrowed during the year was $5,500. Of this $4,000 was repaid within the year. The residue has been paid since its close. It was hoped that as much more could be paid on the standing debt, but the cramped condition of the county treasury rendered it impossible for the County Commissioners, without increasing taxes, to advance out of that year's funds more than $5,000 towards paying the expenses of the special term of school ordered by Act of Assembly of 1888, and the deficiency had to be made up temporarily out of the school treasury.

This also prevented the payment in full of the bills for books and furniture before the close of the year. About $1,200 of these bills had to be carried into the accounts of the current year.

I repeat what I have frequently said in my published reports, and what any fair observer can easily see to be true, that the school revenues are not sufficient to meet the necessary school expenses. Old schoolhouses and furniture fail and new ones must be provided. It is impossible to keep school without schoolhouses. Complaint has been made that too many were built within a short time. It ought not to be forgotten, that the only condition on which the County Commissioners would agree to give any fund whatever for building purposes, was that all the new houses which were necessary should be built at once, even if it cost a term of school to do it, and that in almost every case where a new house has been built the old one was no longer fit for use.

The increase of $610.69 paid to the colored schools, does not seem to have been so well invested if the attendance of the colored children indicates the measure of the colored people's appreciation of schools. Their attendance was less than 47 per cent. of the enrollment, and that was but 432 pupils in the whole county, when it should have been nearly or quite twice as many. The houses for colored schools are in the main as comfortable and well furnished as those for white schools, and several of them are in charge of competent white teachers. Yet it has been a very common thing during school hours and in fair weather to see the streets of the towns and villages where colored schools are kept, full of colored children, idle or at play, and the schoolhouse nearly deserted. Repeated appeals to the parents secured but little if any improvement. The heroic remedy recently adopted of closing the school until assurances were given of good attendance is already producing gratifying results. It might, perhaps, be profitably extended to a number of white schools; for this great evil of irregular attendance is not confined to the colored race, although it has been worse among them than the other. I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,
JAMES A. DIFFENBAUGH,
Secretary, Treasurer and Examiner.
