HEALTH NOTES

OYSTER SEASON UNDER WAY—SANITARY LAWS PROTECT CONSUMER

Through the cooperation of the oyster shucking houses and oyster dealers with the State Department of Health, the consumer may feel safe when purchasing oysters from Chesapeake Bay and tributaries.

In connection with the opening of the oyster season, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, announces the appointment of the following physicians as medical examiners of employees of oyster establishments in the sections indicated:

Dr. F. B. Hines, Chestertown; Dr. C. E. Collins, Crisfield; Dr. E. E. Wolfe, Cambridge; Dr. W. N. Palmer, Easton; Dr. Norman S. Dudley, Church Hill; Dr. Merritt Brice, Millington; Dr. C. R. Truitt, Salisbury; Dr. E. J. Townsend, Ocean City; Dr. F. A. Camalier, Leonardtown; Dr. T. L. Higdon, Wayside; Dr. I. N. King, Prince Frederick; Dr. D. A. Fields, Nanticoke; Dr. J. C. Joyce, Annapolis;

The sanitary requirements for the packing houses and other plants engaged in the oyster business are outlined by Mr. A. L. Sullivan, Chief of the State Bureau of Food and Drugs, as follows:

¶General cleanliness of each establishment; all floors and shucking benches to be cleaned and flushed with clean water at least once a day and further safeguarded by a thorough flushing with scalding water or with an approved sterilizing solution; all utensils to be sterilized by live steam or boiling water.

"Personal cleanliness of the employees and freedom from any catching disease; particular attention to the health of those employed. A medical examination must be made of every employee.

"The following are required of certified establishments: The use of an approved type of shucking bench; of non-corrosive, non-rusting utensils, tanks and paddles, and of knives constructed in such a way that they will not retain particles of food or slime.

"Especial attention is directed to the following:

"1. A supply of hot water or steam must be available while the plant is operating. The use of solutions of chlorinated soda such as B. K. and of chloride of lime for sterilizing utensils and benches is recommended during warm weather.

"2. The air pipes of blowers should be sterilized daily with live steam, or removed, cleaned and then sterilized with B. K. or chloride of lime. This precaution is necessary to prevent bacterial contamination and high scores.

"3. Returnable carriers must be thoroughly washed and sterilized before and after using.

"4. Excessive or unnessary washing of oysters in fresh water with not be allowed. Packers, wholesalers or retailers incorporating water in oysters will be liable to action in the courts. Retailers are especially warned in this matter as a number are under investigation.

"Certificates issued last season remain in force until suspended or revoked.

"We can count on the cooperation of the parkers and dealers because they realize that it is to their advantage to keep our Maryland oysters above suspicion. We were fortunate, last year, in having no cases of communicable disease traced to Maryland oysters. We hope to have an equally good record this year."

True courtesy extends impartially to one's own countrymen and to people of other nations, for it is the generous sense which recognizes good everywhere, inasmuch as God "made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."—The Christian Science Monitor.

PENINSULA NEWS

Browning Baker, aged about 54 years, a well known man of Tabot and Queen Annes counties, is believed to have committed suicide between 6 and 7 o'clock Sunday morning while sitting in his automobile which was parked in Easton, by shooting himself through the roof of his mouth with a 38 calibre pistol. He was rushed to the Easton hospital where he died two hours later. Mr. Baker, a graduat of Yale University, came to the Eastern Shore from Long Island, and lived on a farm near Centreville, later moving to Easton where he had lived with his brother. His brother committed suicide about three years ago.

Rev. R. W. Trapnell, D. D., after 15 years of service at St. Andrew's Church, leaves December 1, for a new charge in Norfolk. Dr. Trapnell is well known in Chestertown.

Stephen Kline, of Elkton, aged 32 years, a lineman, employed by the Northern Maryland Electric Company, met his death there, shortly after 11 a. m., on Thursday. He was working on a pole about twenty feet in height when it suddenly snapped at its base and fell.

Construction work on the two sections of concrete road, one on the North and the other on the South side of the Canal, between Bethel and Chesapeake City, each 18 feet wide, the former 1.34 miles and the latter 2.58 miles in length, was begun on Monday.

While Mrs. Viola Walmer, wife of William Wamer, of McClellandsville, a hamlet about three miles from Newark, Del., was walking to her home from that town on Saturday night, about 8.30 o'clock, she was attacked on the way by Robert Jones, colored, who was setting on the roadside.

Headed by Gov. Robert P. Robinson, members of the State Agriculture Commission, and a delegation of growers and business men from the two lower counties of Delaware will go before a Federal Commission at Washington, D. C., some time this month to protest against further extension of the Japanese beetle quarantine in Delaware.

An elaborate street parade, speeches, fireworks and a general celebration by residents of Harford and Cecil counties will mark the opening of the double-deck bridge across the Susquehanna river as a free bridge on Monday, October 1, it was announced by Mayor Pennington, of Havre de Grace.

STORM HITS PENINSULA

EASTERLY GALES FOLLOWED BY HIGH TIDE DAMAGES WATER FRONT PROPERTY

A West India Hurricane which started in Porto Rico, and swept to Florida thence through the southern states and went to sea at Cape Hattaras, caused a two day easterly gale on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.

The gale started Tuesday and reached its height about 4.30 p. m. Wednesday dying completely that evening. The gale blew the water out of the rivers on the Eastern Shore.

On Thursday morning the wind shifted to the south and blew for ten hours, backing up what was considered the highest tide for at least twenty years.

At Chestertown the wharf properties and yards were flooded and the Radcliffe road was made impassable to automobile traffic. Water of Front street reached a depth of twelve inches and the cellars of the water front properties were flooded.

Tolchester beach was under water and the garages, which housed a number of automobiles contained three feet of water. Twenty-five feet of the approach to the pier was damaged by the wind and tide.

All yachts except three in the harbor at Chestertown were taken up Creeks to safe anchorage after a number of hausers were broken.

REPORT OF DIOCESE OF EASTON

Statistics of the Diocese of Easton compiled for the Journal of the Convention, soon to be issued, contain some very interesting figures. There are 2,349 families in the Diocese 4,231 confirmed persons and 6,198 church members. There are 227 church school teachers and 1,700 pupils.

Salaries paid to clergy amount to $41,227.12, pension premiums paid $3,091.37 operating expenses $15,665.30 total current operating costs $63,793.30. For special parish objects $12,990, convention fund $4,508, the Church's program $14,629, and for all Diocesan objects $16,706, payments on debts $21,907.

The total disbursements were $125,749.75, and balances on hand at the beginning of the year were $13,426. The value of all church property amounts to $1,300,975. Fifty-two churches and missions are embodied in these figures. They mostly show big increases over the preceeding year.

Subscription to the Transcript $1.50 per annum.
