WORDS OF WISDOM.

Chance is a word void of sense.

Nothing can exist without a cause.

Individual liberty is the virtue of life.

Borrowed knowledge is a mortgage on the mind.

Acquirements are but the appearance of culture.

Better a diamond with a flaw than a pebble without one.

"Passing away" is written on the world and all the world contains.

Many a cow stands in the meadow and looks wistfully at the common.

He who can take advice is sometimes superior to him who can give it.

Nothing is so strong as gentleness; nothing so gentle as real strength.

Vexation is but a lad; with time and opportunity he will grow to be Mr. Mad.

Sad, very sad it is, to see people literally starving to death for want of—fun.

A man who cannot mind his own business is not to be trusted with the King's.

A good word is an easy obligation; but not to speak ill requires only our silence, which costs us nothing.

No man can discover whether another is a fool or not, for it takes all his force of sense to discover he is one himself.

The style of language has no more to do with the conveyance of knowledge, than the form of a drinking cup has to the quenching of thirst.

Love cannot be regulated by any law of man. It is the very essence of individual liberty, a right which is proved by the possibility of interfering with the same right in another.

INFLUENCE OF FEED.

Mr. William V. S. Beckman once reported an interesting involuntary experience by which he learned that the most palatable as well as expensive turkey meat is built on a basis of lima beans. That the character of feed of all farm animals greatly influences quality of flesh and milk is a matter of common observation; a Home and Farm writer illustrates the fact as equally applicable in the case of egg-production: "Eggs in the corn and cattle districts of the West have far less keeping quality and a much thinner shell than eggs coming from States and districts of broken or hilly surface and a soil of comparative poverty. And the fact of a thinner or thicker shell does not tell the whole story. There has been found to be a radical difference in the proportionate amount of the constituent elements of the two classes—the thinnest shelled eggs, the product of very rich soil containing more nitrogenous and mineral matter, notably phosphorus and sulphur; and the thicker shelled, a larger portion of pure albumen, water and oil.

THE TOAD AS A WEATHER PROPHET.

A curious weather prophet is being shown in a Broadway store window. It is a tree toad confined in a glass tube. There is a little ladder for it to climb up and down on, and so susceptible is the little prisoner to changes that it ascends to the top of the tube when the air grows moist in advance of rain and descends when clear weather is near at hand. It also becomes noisy before a storm. To those who have never seen a tree toad it may be interesting to know that it resembles the ordinary garden toad in form, but is more flattened. The color varies from pale ash to dark brown, with blotches of greenish brown, and the stomach yellow. The eyes are large and brilliant. It abounds about old trees, old fences and old stone walls.

Lewis J. Beck, a Newark (N. J.) butcher, aged 23, is the latest freak. He sticks needles through his cheeks, nose, tongue, lips, fingers and external tissues generally, making of himself a human pin-cushion, without experiencing any pain or discomfort.

A meteor twice as big and twice as bright as the planet Venus sped like a rocket across the sky at Oswego, New York, on Friday night and in the far southeast burst into three balls. These were snuffed out, showing red, green and coppery in their quick exit.

Mrs. Popinjay never uses slang, but she came very near it the other day, when she found her chambermaid sitting at ease in the parlor, and exclaimed: "Now you get up and dust!"

A book-keeper keeps this warning hanging on his desk; "Never address your conversation to a person adding a column of figures. There is nothing so deaf as an adder."

Judge—I wish to ascertain if the witnesses are all here, and will therefore read out the list. Those that are present say Aye! The contrary, No.

Sir Isaac Newton earned fame by seeing an apple fall. Some people make money by keeping an apple stand.

When a man has settled with the toll-gate he comes by it honestly enough.

To prevent cattle from jumping—Confine them at the beginning of the spring.

THE NEW YORK GRAPHIC.

A New and Influential Factor in Republican Politics.

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION. NEW MANAGEMENT.

As a vigorously Republican newspaper The Graphic appeals to Republicans all over the country for support. The new ownership is daily making a better paper in news and illustrations and proposes to aid sound Republican Principles with aggressive pen and pencil.

The Graphic is the only illustrated daily paper in the world, and offers the best record of passing events for out-of-town readers through its pictures and news columns.

The Graphic now has a news service and staff of writers unsurpassed by any other evening paper in New York.

THE WEEKLY GRAPHIC

Is just the paper for Republicans throughout the country who need a general newspaper in addition to their local weekly. It is a twelve-page paper, six of which are devoted to clever pictures of current political and news events, and six pages to bright articles by bright writers, social, political and literary chat with all that makes a sound newspaper.

REPUBLICAN: During the coming year some of the most prominent leaders in the Republican party will contribute timely articles to The Weekly Graphic.

Remember that The Graphic, being an illustrated paper, does not interfere with any other paper.
