TURKEY THIEVES IN JAIL

Elijah Smith and Levy Glenn, both colored, are in the Kent County jail, charged with stealing a turkey from Mr. Leon Brown Tuesday night.

Mr. Brown heard some one around his turkey roost and saw a colored man going from the barn toward Chestertown. He gave chase but lost the trail in a marsh, but continued to town and saw Smith on the street.

Sheriff Hadaway and deputy Jester located the turkey in the possession of the up-town barber who stated that he gave Smith a check for $4 for the turkey. When arrested, Smith had the check and it is understood that he has confessed the crime.

Stock Turkeys for Sale

For eight years Baker's Bronze Beauties have been bred, fed, and cared for to produce the highest quality stock and show birds. Each year we are building up a stronger disease resistance and heavier egg laying strain. In any busines you get no more than the quality you pay for You pay only a few dollars more for our stock than you do for stock that has been raised principally for slaughter.

We again have a thousand birds to select from and we have had no epidemic or sickness in our four flocks. Neither did we lose 350 turkeys during a wind storm in the early summer, as some of the newspapers said we did.

Goblers from $20, Pullets from $15, all well bronzed birds of large size. Have a few birds with poor color in their feathers but just as large and healthy as any for $15 for goblers and $12 for pullets.

Four unrelated blood lines to select from. Show birds quoted on request.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUISINGS

Yesterday is but a dream,
And tomorow is only a vision;
But today well lived
Makes every yesterday
A dream of Happiness,
And every tomorrow a vsion of hope;
Look wel therefore to this day.
—From the Sanscrit.

Indian Summer has staid so long this year, that we forgot that she must go. The Nor'Wester and the flurry of snow last Sunday reminded us that old Boreas is really here to claim his own. But still the beautiful lights of Autumn linger, and the trees, though bare look very picturesque in the purple light. Thanksgiving has past and Christmas is in air with her promise of Cheer and Goodwill. Each season has its pleasures and compensations.

The Rack

Perhaps there is a reason for the worst of pain,
No doubt there is an agony that's more complete,
But surely there's no torture that is better named
Than that antithesis of comfort called the rumble seat.
Harcourt Strange.

The "Passing Show" is ever with us. We do not need to take up our albums and look at the pictures of twenty years ago, to note the passing, but everywhere it is selfevident. An old newspaper a few days ago, in telling of the New railroad trains, thought it dangerous indeed, to go twelve miles an hour: a later one spoke of the airplane as an imposibility, and the language is changing too. The reason that Shakespeare's comedies are no longer popular is because the wit and fun of his day, is no longer fun to this generation. Even the jibes and wit of last year, are subject to change and alternation and out of touch with the present time.

"So over the wires the tidings speed,
Bitter and grave and gay
Some hearts shall beat and some shall bleed,
For the tale they have to say,
As I sit all day by my desk alone
I hear the stream go by.
And catch the wires changeful tone
With a smile and with a sigh.

It is gratifying to think that after the dreadful fate of the Vestris, that our next president is taking no chances but is going to the same port, sailing on the dreadnaught, Maryland. May she carry him safetly to the haven where he would be with a message of goodwill to our neighbors at the South.

The question that is worrying the office seekers at present is whether there will be sufficient turkey to go around.

Some people think that the reason the election went to Hoover was that it was not willing to disappoint the Literary Digest.

OLD KRIS IN CHESTERTOWN DEC. 12

The Chestertown Mercantile Section of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce are planning a big celebration in Chestertown on Wednesday, December 12th.

A parade of floats depicting Christmas scenes will be held and all business houses, organizations and individuals are invited to enter floats in the parade. The parade last year was one of the most elaborate ever held in Chestertown. Prizes of $50, $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded to the winners. After the parade, Old Kris will give a present to every boy and girl in town that day and a jolly good time is expected.

In the evening an elaborate fireworks display will be held and the full day's affair is expected to exceed anything ever held here.

The committee in charge of arrangements is Messrs. M. E. Newsome, Carl N. Bordley, and W. P. Newnam.

TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY

Next Sunday, December second, will be known throughout the State of Maryland as well as the counties at large, as Tuberculosis Sunday, when the people of the State will be reminded of the humane and far reaching achievements of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, which is now conducting its Twenty-first Annual Christmas Seal Sale.

Governor Ritchie in his proclamation issued a few days ago, urged the people of Maryland to respond liberally to the Annual Christmas Seal Sale and expressed the hope that the clergy of the State would bring before their congregatons the need for increasing effort to stamp out the "great white plague."

Governor Ritchie further commenting said, "I am confident that the people of Maryland wish to show their appreciation of what is being done by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and wish to assist it to continue serving mankind."

BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION TO START SHORTLY

STATE ROADS COMMISSION APPROVES PLANS—TO BE SECOND LONGEST IN WORLD

Promoters of the Chesapeake Bay bridge this week expressed the belief that construction work on the span that will connect Baltimore directly with the Eastern Shore would start in a few weeks.

They said this following announcement that the State Roads Commission had approved their plans.

Only a few minor matters need attention before work can begin, Stuart S. Janney, attorney for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Company, explained. These, the company hopes, will be out of the way by January 1, he added.

Bids probably will be invited soon, Mr. Janney said. When the bids are in and the cost of the structure is known, the matter will be submitted to the Public Service Commission for its approval of the securities issue necessary for the project, now estimated at $11,000,000.

With this out of the way, the contract will be let and the bridge begun, Mr. Janney asserted.

Announcement of the State Roads Commission's approval of the bridge specifications was made by John N. Mackall, chairman and chief engineer.

Approved followed certain changes made by the bridge company engineers after a recheck of conditions in the bay among the route of the span.

The changes, Mr. Mackall said, were in the foundation work. They were made voluntarily by the bridge company engineers, ne explained, after they had taken additional borings and studied the nature of the bay's bottom where the bridge is to be built. Considerably larger foundations in certain places, longer and more piles are to become a part of the structure on account of this recheck and the changes which followed it.

The bridge will extend from a point near Back river, in Baltimore county, to a point in Kent county. It will be built in a series of spans, one of 440 feet, another fixed span of 840 feet, a lift span of 370 feet, another of 840 feet and one of 440, all over the west channel, and over the east channel a 680-foot span, another 370-feet lift span and a 370-foot fixed span.

The main bridge will be six and a quarter miles long, according to the plans, but including the approaches and fills the length of the structure will be ten and one-tenth miles.

With the exception of the San Francisco Bay bridge, now under construction, this will be the longest bridge project in the world, Mr. Mackall said.

The lift spans and the main fixed spans will be fifty feet above low water. The clearance under the lift spans, when opened, will be approximately 140 feet. The minimum clearance under any of the bridge spans will be fifteen feet.

All these were specifications contained in the plan agreed on finally between the bridge company and the War Department when the Government approved the project. The War Department's participation was in the interest of present and possible future navigation in the upper bay.

The State Roads Commission made no recommendations concerning the main outline of the bridge.

Mr. Janney said he felt confident of an early beginning of the structure, barring, as he put it, any unexpected developments concerning the bids. Although no specifications are in the hands of the contractors now, he expects them to be put out immediately, with the hope of getting some definite figures within three weeks.

PLEASANT OPEN MEETING

The Women's Literary Club held a very pleasant open meeting on Friday of last week. The Library room was filled to capacity and Mr. Moore, who had visited the Holy Land, gave a most interesting address. He told of the wonderful possibilites of the Holy Land, how the natural resources had been abused under Turkish rule, and what wonderful chances the English can have in this war torn land.

After the address tea was served and pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

PONTIAC CHANGES MODEL

A Pontiac Six, new in practically everything but name, shortly will appear on the market, it was announced today by the Oakland Motor Car Company.

A bigger, smarter, more powerful and more luxurious Pontiac, bringing big car features within the price range of the small six, was promised by the Oakland company.

In preparation for 1929, extensive building projects under way for some time past now are practically completed, and will give the Oakland-Pontiac plant a capacity next year in excess of 350,000 cars.

SPORTS OF WEEK

A POOR HUNTING SEASON—WASHINGTON ENDS SEASON—BASKETBALL THE NEXT SPORT HERE — FOXHUNTING STILL DRAWS ATTENTION OF PEOPLE —NAVY DOWNS PRINCETON—CARNEGIE LOSES TO NEW YORK UNIVERSITY—OTHER SPORTS.

BY POLK T. BRAMBLE

The hunting season, which was inaugurated in Kent the first part of November, holds the record as being the poorest in recent years. Rabbits and quail are scarce. The heavy rains of August are said the young rabbits also perished. Every year game becomes scarcer and scarcer in Kent and adjoining counties. Whether a closed season or an importation of game here would help, is a question.

Foxhunting in Kent and Queen Annes counties continues to hold the attention of our people. This is a real sport, with no trophies or game as a result of a day's work. A day in the field, with hounds and horses and riders, would be a revelation to some of the lounge lizards who would probably die from exposure to the low temperature and cold winds. However, if it did not kill them, it would benefit them.

Temple University crashed through Washington College almost at will Saturday, and defeated them in the final game of the season by the score of 77 to 7. Washington, as was predicted by everyone, was too light for this fine team, and the wonder to us is that the score was not even greater. Temple has one of the best of the second class teams of the country and but few of the best teams could defeat them.

Basketball is the next sport that will draw the attention of local lovers of athletics. The Washington College basketball team is practicing daily and will be in fine shape when the season begins in a few weeks.

Boston College is the only Eastern College undefeated and untied, but not a single informed person would believe that they could win from Army, Carnegie or New York University, or the Navy. The following shows the leading teams and records in the East and South:

	G.	W.	L.	Td.
Boston College	8	8	0	0
Tennessee	8	8	0	0
Detroit Univ.	8	8	0	0
Emory Henry	8	8	0	0
Florida	7	7	0	0
Georgia Tech	7	7	0	0
Lowell Textile	8	7	0	1
Villanova	8	7	0	1
Heidelberg	7	6	0	1
Bowling Green (Ohio.)	7	5	0	2

Navy, with full equipment and full regalia, paraded Franklin Field, Philadelphia Saturday in fine fettle, and they rode roughshod, also over Princeton's fine football team.

The Navy started the season with a series of disasters and ended in a blaze of triumph. Any team which can boast of victories over such fine elevens as Pennsylvania and Princeton in one season cannot help but feel that the campaign has been a success. Just as in the case of N. Y. U. with Strong and Army with Cagle, it was the individual exploits of Lloyd which spread gloom in the Tiger stronghold. His work alone accounted for the only nine points of the game.

Saturday surely was an eventful day in football. Not that there were any surprising upsets, but in the fact that the teams which seemed on the surface to have just a slight edge were turned back. In most instances it was hard football and the results were decisive. This time strategy and execution were the determining factors, not the so-called breaks.

Harvard won because it was the stronger, because there was more deception in the attack and because the defense was unfaltering when hard pressed. Yale, as courageous as ever, fighting valliantly but hopelessly, was outplayed virtually all the way by this powerful and inspired Crimson team. There was no doubt about the evident superiority of the Crimson that played in the Bowl last Saturday.

Too much cannot be said about the great team which New York University put on the field against Carnegie Tech. This team, strong in all departments, and while not rated as versatile as Carnegie before the game showed conclusively Saturday that it had everything that goes to make a great team—versatility, power, courage, a scoring punch and an individual scoring threat—Ken Strong—which, combined with an alert and resourceful defense, paved the way to a well deserved triumph.

Then we have the case of an Army team facing an eleven rated by many experts as one of the strongest physically that ever trod on a gridiron. This fearless Army eleven successfully fought off repeated thrusts of a determined Nabraska eleven and in the final analysis it was the superior work of Cagle which decided the game.

The team that can stop Cagle can win; Notre Dame did that and won, while Nebraska failed and lost. The Army eleven of 1928 rates with the best in the country and this game Army team, in its only setback, looked great.

Passing the third century mark and reaching a total of 303 points, New York University maintained its lead in scoring among college eelvens as the result of games played on Saturday. Georgetown retained second place with 286, while Tulane climbed to a tie with Florida at 264. There also were several other changes.

Points scored fo rand against some of the leaders above the 200 point mark follow:

	For	Against.
N. Y. U.	303	46
Georgetown	286	29
Florida	264	25
Tulane	264	76
Stanford	248	62
Boston College	244	39
South. California	240	45
Lafayette	237	44
Tennessee	236	39
Detroit	234	14
Pennsylvania	222	26
South. Methodist	221	63
Carnegie Tech	220	53
Temple	217	17
Army	215	53
Ohio Wesleyan	209	20
Schuylkill	205	60
Davis and Elkins	203	41
Washington State	201	59

Georgia Tech, Florida and Tennessee stand at the front among the five unbeaten and untied gridiron combinations of the United States, and also maintain their deadlock for first place for the Dixie title. Each has five victories in the Southern Conference, while the Knoxville eleven has won eight games altogether. Georgia Tech, a step behind in games won and lost, boasts an intersectional victory over Notre Dame to supplement its Conference showing. While these teams were profiting by the upsets of the contenders of the East and West, yesterday was a day of quiet all along the Southern front.

Out of a race that grew more involved with each set of games, Illinois, the 1927 titleholder, has emerged with the gridiron championship of the Western Conference. The race was one of the closest in the history of the Big Ten, with four teams in the running for the championship honors on the last day of the campaign. Illinois, its season marred by only one defeat, a 3 to 0 upset scored by Michigan, won the title yesterday by whipping Ohio State, 8 to 0, while Wisconsin was falling before Minnesota, 6 to 0, and Iowa was losing to Michigan, 10 to 7.

The Army does not look upon its forthcoming contest with Stanford at the Yankee Stadium today in an optimistic light. The record compiled by the Pacific Coast team, together with the unexpected reverse suffered by the Army at the hands of the Notre Dame eleven, combine to prevent a feeling of over-confidence among the cadets. Stanford is reported to have an exceptionally fast eleven.

DR. J. P. FRANKLIN GETS NEW POST

Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, director of the Baltmore city Bureau of Communicable Diseases, sent his resignation to Dr. C. Hampson Jones, Commissioner of Health, this week to take effect January 1.

He has accepted an appointment from the State Department of Health to succeed the late Dr. C. C. McCulloch as health officer of Allegany county, with headquarters in Cumberland. He also will become a deputy State health officer, with jurisdiction in other counties in Western Maryland.

Dr. Franklin's new position includes an annual salary of $5600 which is $2000 more than his present position.

Dr. Franklin is a captain in the One Hundred and Fourth Medical Regiment, Maryland National Guard, but expects to be transferred to the Cumberland company of First Infantry as medical officer. He was connected with this regiment before he came to Baltimore. He is an active member of the Flint Club and the Lister Society, organizations of physicians and surgeons.

He succeeded Dr. Jones as a member of the Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts, and directs the first-aid, personal health and kindred activities of the Scouts. He is also a member of the Rotary Club.

Dr. Franklin was deputy health officer for Cecil, Kent and Queen Anne's counties with head-quarters in Chestertown for a number of years and is a frequent visitor in Chestertown.

ENTERTAINS CALF CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nicholson entertained the members of the Kent 4-H Calf Club at a turkey banquet at their home on Friday of last week.

Other guests were Rev. and Mrs. John White, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Derrick, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Nicholson and Mr. D. Z. Miller.

—"King of Kings," will be shown at the New Lyceum Theatre this afternoon and tonight.

AIR PORT OPENS TODAY

10,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED TO ATTEND AIR MEET

Ten thousand people are expected in Chestertown to-day to attend the official opening of the Chestertown Air Port at the Dodd-Lusby field one mile and a half from Chestertown on the Tolchester road.

An air meet, starting at 2 p. m., staged by air planes of the Maryland National Guard, Government planes, and a number of private owned planes will be the feature of the days program.

The program of the air meet includes stunt flying, parachute jumping, air plane races, air plane rides, etc., which will draw spectators from all parts of the Peninsula and Western Shore of Maryland.

State and Federal authorities as well as many private owners of planes are interested in this air port as it will be the only official landing field on this part of the Peninsula.

The air port is being promoted by the Chesapeake Aircraft Association, which will operate a regular air plane passenger and package service from Chestertown to Baltimore and connect with carriers to all parts of the country. This aircraft company has had the full cooperation of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce which organization secured the location and are assisting in the opening day program.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY BANQUET

The Still Pond Auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held a banquet in the S. S. room of the M. E. Church Thursday evening, November 22.

A very delicious menu, consisting of a generous portion of chicken salad, a slice of ham, peas, apple sauce, jelly, rolls, coffee and cake, was served. About 80 persons partook of this sumptuous banquet.

Entertainment was furnished by Prof. Kilpatrick's Quartette from Washington College consisting of Messrs. Bennett, Giritis, Blackett, and Moffett, with Earl Willis at the piano.

Rev. Claude Clark, Pastor of the Still Pond charge, acted as Toastmater.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, President of Washington College was introduced and gave a short address. He said the aim of the college is not to educate the young people for the city, but, rather, to have them return to their home communities to become the leaders in the upbuilding of the same and to advance the work that is being so ably carried on by the organization represented at this meeting.

Mr. Creasy, Principal of the Chestertown High School, was introduced as the head of the largest educational institution of the county. He spoke of the congested condition in the high school and assured the parents that there is relief in sight for this condition. He said there are some disadvantages in the larger school but, in his opinion, they were outweighed by the advantages. Whether or not a pupil succeeds is largely with the pupil himself.

Mrs. Richard B. Groves, of Chestertown sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Cora McWhorter.

Mrs. Toulson and Mrs. Ralph Geary sang a duet accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Harper.

Mrs. Foster Davis, of Baltimore, Supt. of Young People's Work for the Baltimore Branch of the U. F. M. S., was introduced as the speaker of the evening. She has a most pleasing personality and her remarks were an inspiration to the members of the society. She talked of the wonderful heritage that the young people will receive from the older members who will celebrate their 60th anniversary in Columbus, O., October next. She mentioned 16 different foreign countries that have a Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. The whole evening was a most enjoyable affair.

GOLF LEAGUE ON SHORE NEXT SPRING

A representative from the Salisbury Country Club was in Chestertown on Sunday and discussed with members of the Chester River Yacht and Country club the possibility of forming a golf league on the Peninsula composed of tre Country Clubs of Salisbury, Easton, Chestertown, Ocean City, Rehoboth and Dover.

The tenative plans of such a league would be for each club to visit the other five clubs making ten matches for each club covering a series of ten weeks. Each match would be composed of four foursomes, making a team of eight men.

The matches would be social affairs and develop a friendly rivalry among the clubs as well as develop the game on the peninsula.

Committees from each club will probably meet during the winter and formulate definite plans.
