TRANSCRIPT'S MUISINGS

Surely Lowell never looked on a lovelier snow scene than we did last Sunday morning; the ground covered with its white blanket, the trees bending under their load of fleecy crystals and the rising sun tingering the sky and all the white landscape with a rosy light. But our snow storms are as fleetig as a noon day cloud, today all white, and tomorrow melted by the ardent rays of the sun. Too much sunshine for snow in this peninsula of ours.

By L. H. Robbins.
The State of the Nation

Below the Line and far away
Our next Executive, or Primate,
Submits to kisses and embraces
In many Latin kinds of places,
It is a pretty warmish climate.

So Congress at the Capital
Becomes again the star attraction,
Full of lame ducks yet strong of jaw,
And probably, like Bernard Shaw,
All dialogue and little action.

One player note, with saddened mien,
Disheartened in a high endeavor,
Who, soon, alas! will quit the show.
Ah! Dawes may come and Dawes may go,
But Senate rules go on forever.

The President his swan song sings
Before he, too must make his exit.
He tells the statesmen they should be
Observant of economy.
All wonder, though, if he expects it.

The nation, Mr. Coolidge says,
Is tranquil now; and that is true,
For hark, the football roars have ceased.
The Western giants looking east
See nothing further to subdue.

Hoover will leave his train, and ascend to the heights where the 40 ft. bronze statute, "Christ of the Andes" stands. It is a pledge between the two countries, Chile and Argentina that there will be peace as long as the statue endures. This statue was made of the cannon that was being cast to aid in a boundary dispute between the aforementioned countries. It is fitting that Hoover, who is carrying a message of goodwill to our Southern neighbors should visit this token of lasting peace.

What is the best definetion that you know of an opitmist? Why a pedestrian who goes to a dentist to preserve his teeth for ten years.

We were interested in the case in Philadelphia where a manufacture of chocolates charged that he was paying, excess taxes amounting to many thousands, because chocalates are not luxuries but food. After long delibration they decided that chocalates was candy, therefore a luxury.

These are the commands for politicians, given by the Grid Iron Club at their recent supper in Washington. "Out of the depths of my experience I commend you to these ten commandments." Samples of them folow:

"Don't steal the first page on inauguration day and you may be invited to sit in the Cabinet.

"Don't be afraid to criticize the Senate. You know how much it needs it, the public likes and the Senate thrives on it.

"Don't pretend that you understand the equalization fee. Al Smith found there wasn't a vote in it—so did I.

"Don't commit yourself to another fellows candidacy for President. He may hold you to it."

"With characteristic modesty," the Gridiron Club undertook to reveal the future of the Democratic party in a skit entitled "Democrotic Gypsies." A fortune teller said:

"I see two Democrats vieing for a presidency,"

"Presidency of what?" demanded the chorus.

"Of the 'I Told You So Club'," said the fortune teller. "One of them Is Senator Simmons of North Carolina; the other is a strong, silent man from Alabama, name of Heflin."

Bid Good-by to Coolidge.

HURT IN AIRPLANE CRASH

Arthur Harris, son of Mrs. Evelyn Harris, of Howell Point farm, was sightly injured on Wednesday of this week when a plane which he was piloting crashed on the farm of Mr. Harry Catlin on Still Pond Creek.

Young Harris has been taking a course of instruction at Logan field and was making his final solo flight before receiving a commercial pilots license. When he was making a turn over the Catlin farm, the machine crashed 100 ft. to the ground. He was rushed to the office of Dr. Frank Hines in Chestertown where it was found that his injuries were only minor cuts and bruises.

The plane was owned in Easton, Md., and young Harris was on a flight from Easton to the bay shore and back. The plane was not seriously damaged and is now undergoing repairs.

ANOTHER ROOM TO HOSPITAL

Due to the urgent need for more room in the Kent County Hospital, the Hospital Board rented a fifth room in the Rodney building. This gives accomodation for eight patients and still leaves a long waiting list of those who are anxious for treatment. With the growth of the hospital demands are being made for other operations than those for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

It has been found necessary to rasise the rates after January 1 to meet the added expense and the hospital nurse's salary. The rate has been $7.00 for nursing service, the use of the operating room, either and bed for twenty four hours. This sum has proved inadequate and will therefore be increased to $10.00. The surgeon's fee is a matter between the surgeon and the patient.

The County Health nurse, Miss Margaret White of Prince George's County and a recent graduate of Garfield Hospital, Washington, D. C., arrived on December 3rd and immediately began her County duties. It was found necessary to replace the Kent County Public Health Nurce's Car which had been in constant use for three years, with a new Tudor Ford Sedan. The nurse's route lies over many of the dirt road of the County and makes its trips in all sorts of weather under conditions that shorten the life of a car considerably. It was considered advisable to get a sedan rather than the coupe, as before, in order to accomodate patients for the Claibourne Preventorium or any of the hospitals in the nearby cities.

A card of thanks and appreciation is appearing in all the County papers thanking the many contributors for their gifts to the hospital. Up to the present time it has been impossible to thank each contributor personally as the work in connection with the organizing of the hospital and its subsequent rapid growth has been overwhelming. Every contribution, no matter what its size has been, has been greatly appreciated and it is hoped the donors will accept this form of thanks.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY POOL

The Kent County Chamber of Commerce has asked a number of New York buyers and buyers from other sections for bids on a turkey pool for Christmas. A few small buyers have come to the Chamber this week and have been much pleased with the birds they have bought in this vicinity. When a small order comes to the Chamber the executive secretary endeavors to get in touch with growers who sent incards in response to the questionaire sent out before Thanksgiving. The secretary regrets that all cards did not give telephone numbers in the case of those who are not listed in the book as nearly every person has some obliging neighbor who would carry a message. In some cases, therefore, the secretary is unable to reach certain persons in the short time before such a buyer wants birds. When the large bids come in there will then be time enough to communicate by mail with all those who have signed cards and are therefore on file at the Chamber.

This movement is in its infancy in Kent but has great possibilities for future business. The Chamber is putting forth every effort to establish a center for the sale of turkeys and will keep in touch with buyers throughout the season and will begin, in the summer, to start the work for the next holiday season. Buyers have assured the Chamber that the turkey selling season is not confined to the time shortly before Thanksgiving until New Year but that it continues as late as March.

That the Eastern Shore of Maryland has more to gain than many other districts from the advance of aviation and aerial transportation, which permits passage over land and water indiscriminately, is the statement made by Edward P. Warner, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics. in a letter to officials of the Starlighters, Inc., a Philadelphia aviation company, which recently established an airport at the town of Hebron, near Salisbury.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE APPROPRIATION INCREASED

Last week, the Board of State Aid and Charities approved an annual maintenance appropriation for Washington College of $60,000 for the next two years. It will be remembered that the Board in 1926 recommended an appropriation of $50,000 to which sum Governor Ritchie later added $10,000 a year. Now, the Board of State Aid and Charities increases its grant of two years ago to $60,000.

Johns of Washington College attended the annual meeting last week of the Association of the Business Officers of the Colleges and Universities of the Eastern States, held in Amherst, Mass. LATE FILMS BOOKED

The management of the New Lyceum Theatre here has announced the booking of the $2,000,000 Universal Production "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Other late films scheduled for early showing here are, "Fazil," "The Red Dance," "Submarine," "The Man Who Laughs," "Mother Machree," "The Air Circus," "Revenge," "Sunrise," "Our Dancing Daughters," and "Mother Knows Best."

Winter born calves given proper care and feed will grow like summer born calves, but one must remember that calf raising begins before the calf is born, because only cows in good condition produce strong, vigorous calves.

SANTA VISITED CHESTERTOWN

According to schedule, Santa Claus arrived in Chestertown by air plane at 11 a. m. Wednesday morning and, after circling the town a number of times, dropped presents up and down Main street which were quickly gathered up by the throng of boys, girls and grown-ups which lined the streets on both sides. The presents that were dropped contained certificates for merchandise at the various stores of the town, and after flying over town the airplane landed at the Chestertown Air Port and Santa then took his station on a private float that was specially built for him and led the parade through town.

The parade consisted of floats representing various organizations followed by new model automobiles of various makes.

The judges, Messrs. Herbert Perkins, A. H. Covey and Robert Crew gave first prize of $50 to the 4-H Calf Club who had a very creditable exhibit. Their float consisted of an airplane, "The Spirit of Christmas," carrying Santa Clause and loaded with toys etc.

Second pribe went to the Chestertown Rotary Club, their float showing Santa on the roof of a house with his pack endeavoring to get down a much too small chimney. It was very popular with the Kids as Santa distributed nuts and oranges to the kids as he passed along.

Third prize was given to Washington College who had a very attractively decorated float containing various Christmas sayings.

Fourth prize went to the American Legion float which depicted American soldiers in a machine gun nest opening Christmas packages and mail from home.

Following the parade, Santa Claus gave an orange and present to every boy and girl in town.

The affair brought people to Chestertown from all part of Kent county and neighboring sections of Queen Anne's.

TOMATO TARIFF QUESTION

In accordance with the official action taken at the recent meeting of the Executive Committee, Vice-Presidents and Governors, the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association is placing before each Congressman and United State Senator representing the Peninsula, an urgent request that they use their office and influence towards securing a material increase in the tariff levied on tomatoes and tomato products from Italy or other foreign countries.

Mr. Landeth L. Layton, of Georgetown, who asked for this action at the meeting of the Association's official board, stated that all influence possible should be brought to hear to secure this increase, for the protection of tomato growers throughout the entire country.

Because of the large tomato industry on the Peninsula, the Association is extending every effort toward securing the increased tariff. The Congressmen and Senators are urged to place the Association's request before the President and to make every other endeavor to obtain the advanced rate.

BUICK MOTOR CAR SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Mr. E. T. Strong, President and General Manager of the Buick Motor Co., in a statment at Detroit, praises Detroit newspapers and officials of the city for the safety campaign which recently has been waged against speeders and reckless drivers there, and expresses the hope that a similar program might be carried out in every city, town and hamlet in the nation.

Messages are being sent to the more than 4,000 Buick dealers throughout the country, each of whom will be urged to get behind such a movement in his district.

"The fact that some communities have accomplished so much in the humanitarian work of avoiding traffic casualties is conclusive proof that the campaign can be carried to a successful conclusion everywhere," Strong declared, "and the Buick Motor Co. pledges the fullest co-operation of its giant resources in working to this end.

"The automobile no longer is a luxury— it is a necessity, and much of its immense value to the world is being perilled by those who use the streets as speedways and those who drive without due care in the crowded traffic of the present era."

That the problem is a big one, Strong is certain, but he is equally certain that with the proper co-operation of all concerned the strets and highways can be made safe and the value of the automobile for business and pleasure consequently increased.

Newly set trees will be better for a winter mulch of manure or straw. But leave a little space between the mulch and the trunk, or mice may burrow into the litter and feed on the bark.

AIR PORT OPENS TODAY

Chestertown's new air port will be officially opened today, Saturday, rain or shine, according to a statement made yesterday by officials of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce.

Lady Mary Heath, of England, the noted British aviatrix who is famed as the holder of altitude records made in England, has accepted an invitation to fly to Chestertown today and take part in the program.

Meanwhile bombing planes from Washington and ships of the fleet operated by the Maryland National Guard, as well as many visiting planes from Eastern airports, are preparing to visit the landing field, one mile from Chestertown on the main Tolchester highway, and take part in the opening meeting which will feature machines of all types and sizes.

Other features of the afternoon will be stunt flying, parachute jumping an a general air carnival.

State and government officials will take part in the afternoon program and thousands of spectators from all parts of the Eastern Shore.
