According to the Baltimore Sun Almanac the sun entered the constellation of aries at 4 o'clock 43.8 minutes A. M., on the 20th inst., at which hour spring commenced and the vernal equinox occurred. The calculations for the Hagerstown almanac place the hour and date of these events at 11, o'clock 42 minutes P. M., of the 19th inst. The variations are doubtless caused by the difference in the latitude and longitude of the places at which the calculations were made. Taking the Hagerstown almanac, which is regarded as trustworthy and reliable, as authority the day and night of the 19th were equal.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland, Independent Order of Mechanics, met in Baltimore on Monday and continued its sessions until Wednesday of this week. Chas. A. The office at that place is now practically vacant, the duties of the Collector, who is absent, being performed by his deputy. Mr. Cunningham is strongly endorsed by the leading citizens of this place, who have known him since his childhood, and it is known that his appointment would be acceptable to citizens of respectability and standing in Brunswick, regardless of party, notwithstanding he is an earnest and conscientious Republican. His appointment would be creditable to the administration and operate to give it standing in that community. We sincerely trust it may be made.

One of the notable features of the evening was some fine music by Messrs. Chas. R. Woods, Nelson Yingling and Chas. ### Temperance Address.

A very interesting address was delivered at Carroll Hall, on Thursday evening, by Rev. R. Alder Temple, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, Most Worthy Patriarch of the order of Sons of Temperance of North America. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was not large, but those who braved the elements to hear the Reverend gentleman were more than repaid for the effort. Mr. Temple gave an account of the systems and methods persued by the Sons of Temperance in Nova Scotia which have resulted in making that Province thoroughly temperance territory. Prohibition exists in all but three of its counties and no licenses are issued in any. The members of the order, here, received some valuable hints and were shown the effect of active, persistent and well directed effort in developing public temperance sentiment. The activity recently apparent among the Sons of Temperance in Maryland will, doubtless, be increased and the hoped for revival of the order hastened by the labors of Mr. Temple.

Westminster and the New Railroad.

Whether the proposed extension of the Harrisburg and Gettysburg Railroad to Washington will be by way of Westminster is yet an unsolved problem. Messrs. John L. Reifsnider, Edward Lynch, Charles C. Gorsuch and Charles E. Fink, the citizens committee who interviewed Col. J. C. Fuller, President of the road, in Philadelphia, last week, reported at a meeting held at Firemen's Hall on Saturday night, and gave such information as they had ascertained at said interview. It was not, of course, specific, but was considered sufficiently encouraging to justify the acceptance of a proposition made by Col. Fuller to raise a fund for the survey of the route. John L. Reifsnider, Esq., Dr. Charles Billingslea and Col. S. K. Herr were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions for the purpose indicated and the responses made to their efforts justify the assumption that this initial movement will be entirely successful.

Proceedings of the County Commissioners.

The County Commissioners were in session on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Among the business transacted was the reappointment of Emanuel Shaffer as steward at the Alms House, for the term of one year commencing March 1st, 1889. An order was passed that the Board will sit on the 2d, 3d, 15th ang 16th days of April, for the purpose of making transfers and abatements. An order was also passed instructing counsel to the Board to advertise a notice prohibiting persons from obstructing public county roads with brush and other rubbish; also the gutters along county roads.

Mr. Henry Steffy, the oldest citizen of Manchester district, and among the oldest in the county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hambright, near Manchester, on Saturday last. He had reached the age of 94 years, 1 month and 26 days. Mr. Steffy was a soldier in the war of 1812. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and his remains were interred in the cemetery of that denomination, at Manchester, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. C. M. Eyster officiating.

Arbor Day in Carroll County.

The designation of April 10th, as Arbor Day, by Gov. Jackson, has elicited a prompt response from the school authorities of the State, as the appended circular letter from Prof. Newell, Secretary of the State Board of Education, amply indicates. A copy of this letter, prefaced by orders of the County School Board directing that arrangements be made for a celebration of the day in the manner suggested, will be sent to every teacher in the county, and it is here printed in the hope and expectation that it will awaken the interest of the general reader as well, in this important subject. The denudation of the country of its forests has been productive of evil results that may, in some measure at least, be repaired by the general observance of this day in the spirit of the law recommending it. The letter is as follows:

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION,
Baltimore, March 15, 1889.

DEAR SIR: The Governor in pursuance of law has appointed the 10th of April next to be observed as "Arbor Day."

The purpose of this observance is to inspire the young with a love of trees, to prevent the unnecessary destruction of our remaining forests, and to lead to a more general system of tree-planting, and tree culture.

You will notify the teachers of your county that the ordinary school exercises will be omitted on Arbor Day; and that the pupils shall assemble at the school-houses at an appointed hour with their friends and neighbors.

Appropriate selections should be read, suitable songs sung, and essays read by the pupils. Addresses by citizens of the neighborhood would also be in order, either in the school-room or on the ground.

At the conclusion of the literary exercises the tree, or trees, will be planted and named. The trees must be procured beforehand, and all necessary arrangements made. If the school premises do not afford a suitable place, let the trees be planted by the roadside, and in such a way that in successive years a line of shade trees will grow up. If the school prefers to plant fruit trees, there is no objection. The pear and cherry are graceful and excellent ornamental trees for the way-side.

One of our leading nursery men says, "Plant small trees. I would not accept three-year-olds as a gift where I could buy yearlings at a reasonable rate."

The following hints on How to plant are by Dr. B. G. Northrop in the Report of the Secretary of the Conn. Board of Agriculture.

"Let the holes be dug beforehand, and deeper and wider than is needful to receive the roots when spread to the utmost. Great care is needed in 'lifting' or digging up trees so as to get the most and longest roots possible, and especially the fine capillary rootlets. When first dug up, the roots should be set in a box or barrel and covered with moist leaves. Spread some four inches of good soil in the ample hole. Set the tree about three inches lower than it stood before, spread its roots carefully in all directions as they grew. Churn the tree gently while rich, pulverized soil is thrown upon the roots, working it around them with the hand so that no empty spaces be left; dashing water on the roots to secure their closest embrace by the soil; tread the earth firmly about the roots; cover the whole with a little loose earth to prevent the surface from baking; leave the soil around the tree a little lower than the general level; and mulch freely with straw or leaves."

To ensure success, everything must be made ready beforehand.

Advantage might also be taken of Arbor Day to screen the out-buildings with evergreens, such as Norway spruce, hemlock, arbor vitae; or holly and small cedars which can be had in our own woods.

Twenty-six States have, by Act of Legislature or orders of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, adopted Arbor Day as an annual festival. It has not been the privilege of Maryland to lead in this, as she has done in so many other instances; but let us follow steadily in the footsteps of those who have gone before us, and marked the track.

M. A. NEWELL,
Sec'y State Board of Education.

To J. A. DIFFENBAUGH, Esq., Sec'y, Treas'r and Examiner.

U. B. Conference.

At the annual session of the Maryland Conference of the United Brethren Church, held at Mechanicstown, Md., last week, Rev. C. M. Hott read a paper on temperance, declaring against high and low license as insufficient to remedy the evils of the liquor traffic, and urging prohibition as advocated by the third party movement as the only means to permanent deliverance from the curse. The reference to party created quite a lengthy and warm discussion, and by amendment was stricken from the report.

Frederick, Md., was chosen as the next place of meeting of the Conference. The following are the appointments for the ensuing year: A. M. Evers, Presiding Elder.—Hagerstown, C. I. B. ### Tin Wedding.

On Friday night, the 15th inst., the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Harry S. Davis and Mrs. Kate E. Davis nee Kate E. Crawford, youngest daughter of the late Dr. Francis J. Crawford, was celebrated, at the old Homestead, "Waterloo," situated in Franklin district with over 150 invited guests, to rejoice with the bride and groom.

Ten years ago Harry S. Davis wooed and won the esteemed and popular Kate E. Crawford, who for a tenth of a century has divided his sorrows, and doubled his joys.

The fruits of this marriage are three children, one of whom is a little Miss of seven or eight summers, who is certainly an adept in dancing to the music of jigs, hornpipes, waltzing &c.

Mrs. Davis, who is a handsome brunette, looked radiant in a costume of silver gray silk, with black lace overdress. Her ornaments were diamonds.

The bride of ten years ago has aged but little, and the groom gave little signs of "time's inroads"; and their beaming faces were sufficient proof that neither of them regretted the contract they had made, for better or worse, in the long ago.

The spacious mansion was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, and aglow with lights during the whole night. In the dining-room stood the table glittering with silver, cut glass, and fine chinaware, interspersed with plateaus of tropical, and semi-tropical fruits. At 12 o'clock the guests were seated at this table for supper, and the menu was served in courses consisting of the substantials and all the delicacies of the season. The sight would have made a city caterer blush.

The folding doors of the spacious parlors were thrown open making a room 24x40 feet, for the young men and maidens, with not a few of those who could hardly be called young, who moved gracefully in tripping the light fantastic toe. The music was furnished by an Italian Orchestra, from Baltimore city. Another room was devoted to those who enjoyed playing progressive euchre, and still another to those who indulged in neither of the above pastimes, but enjoyed themselves in social chat. Dancing was kept up until daylight the next morning, and breakfast was served at 7 o'clock. The presents were numerous and useful, and consisted of everything in the tinware line. Altogether this was one of the most pleasant social events of the season. The following is a partial list of those that were present:

Thomas E. Parlett and family, Mr. Wm. Hall, of Baltimore; Mrs. Nimrod Gosnell, Mrs. Vincent Shipley, son and daughter, of Baltimore county; Miss Susie Shipley and Lady friend, of Ohio; Mr. James Hewett, brother and sister, George M. Prugh and family, Miss Harriet Prugh, Messrs. A birthday party was given to little Josie, daughter of James Smith, of this city, on Tuesday evening. Quite a number of little folks were present. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake, confectionery, nuts, oranges, and other fruits, were served in abundance. Games and other innocent amusements made a very pleasant occasion for the happy children.

Harney Items.

Mr. J. W. Black's boys were out peddling fish, last Saturday, when the horse became frightened a short distance out the Littlestown Road and ran through our village very rapidly. A short distance down the Taneytown road the wagon came in contact with the fence and the horse broke loose from the wagon. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Last Sunday morning a wagon was seen on the fence near here. The people on their way to church thought that one of our neighbors had had a run off on Saturday evening, but it turned out that some persons had taken the wagon out of a shed in the night and placed it on the fence for a little amusement.

The shooting match, which was to have been held here last Tuesday, was postponed on account of the bad weather.

Mr. Hess, who had been very ill the past few weeks, is much better.

The Sunday School, at this place, will be reorganized on the 31st of this month. The school will purchase a new library and have it ready at the opening at that date.

Clayton Bush, who for a number of years has been employed in a gold mine in Colorado, is at home on account of his health. He took a severe cold last fall which brought on pneumonia and left his health in a bad condition. He is under the treatment of his father, Dr. J. C. Bush, and will return to his Western home as soon as his health will permit.

A. N. Hess, who purchased a tract of woodland near here, has a force of hands at work making railrod ties.

D. J. Roop, Esq., has changed the appearance of things about his residence by cutting down several large trees that stood in the yard.

Messrs. Roop & Zile have disposed of their poultry and will devote more of their attention to plants, seeds, and flowers. If they keep on improving as they have begun, Meadow View seed-farm will soon be one of the attractions of the county.

There is a great deal of talk about the proposed railroad between Gettysburg and Washington. Some of our people almost imagine they hear the whistle of the first engine coming up Meadow Branch.

Miss Mattie Mitten is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. E. Bankerd.

Frizellburg Items.

New Windsor Items.

Post office blood is at fever heat.

James Lambert's small boy fell and broke his arm on Wednesday.

John Budd, D. D., colored, lectured in the pavilion this week, on earthquakes. They spring, he says, from supernatural causes, and he plainly showed how the "Sea-hoss came out and pawed in the valley?" By many he is looked upon as "the voice of one crying in the wilderness" to prepare the way for the gentlemen of the affirmative next Wednesday night.

DAN D.

In the terrible cyclone which passed up the Atlantic coast the latter part of last week the American bark, E. L. Pettengill, of Portland, Maine, was wrecked in the Chesapeake bay, about five miles from its entrance, and the captain and crew, fourteen in all, perished.

Reported for the SENTINEL.

Wedding at Hedgewood, Va.

A few of their nearest relatives assembled at the attractive home of Thomas R. and Ellen H. Smith to witness the marriage of their eldest daughter Anna T. to Eli Elliott, of West Liberty, Iowa. At 5 o'clock, in the afternoon of the 14th inst., the bridal party consisting of J. Russell Smith, brother of the bride, in the role of best man, and Miss S. L. Haines, of Linwood, Maryland, as bridesmaid, followed by the contracting couple, entered the parlor. After a few moments of solemn silence the marriage rite was performed according to the simple and impressive manner of the Society of Friends of which the bride is a member. The happy pair received the congratulations of those present, after which a very nice supper was served.

The bride, in white, adorned with Brussels lace, smilax and rose buds—against a back ground of blooming plants—presented a picture long to be remembered by those who witnessed it. The many handsome and useful presents evinced the high esteem in which the bride was held by her relatives and friends.

The next day, accompanied by parents and friends, the bride and groom were driven to Purcellville, Va., where, amid a shower of rice, they boarded the Eastern bound train enroute for West Liberty, Iowa, by way of Philadelphia, Pa.

While we sincerely regret the loss of one of our most attractive young ladies, we wish them unbounded happiness in their Western home.

The bride is a niece of Mr. J. L. Haines, of Linwood, Carroll county, Maryland.

Shiloh Items.

The pleasant weather of the past week had the effect of stirring the people out. There was scarcely a family in this neighborhood that was not engaged in gardening. Nearly every farmer was plowing, either for corn or oats. One of them had three teams turning stalk ground for oats. But Tuesday's rain put a stop to all such employment for some time.

There is to be considerable shifting around this season. Some have already moved. Mr. John Brummel has gone to Hampstead; also Mr. Frankforter. His place is occupied by Wm. Derr, who has purchased it of T. J. Gorsuch. William Caltrider vacates the mansion house at Shiloh mills; N. Bowers comes in the mill which Horace Garrett has occupied.

On the 17th inst. George B., son of Jacob Richards, passed away at the age of 27 years, 2 months and 18 days, after suffering about twelve years. For the past three or four years he was imbecile.

Mr. Joseph Armacost is quite ill at present.

The health of the community is generally good.

There's a pang in the breast, but we mention it not,
As we plod on our way, fulfilling our lot.
There's a pang in the breast which words cannot measure,
That aches when we think of our lov'd but lost treasure.

There's a pang in the breast, and we mention it then,
When we think that for ever, ah, never again
Will her bright beaming face flash over our way,
Our duties to lighten, and our love to repay.
