ELECTRIC RATE REDUCED

The Chestertown Electric Light and Power Co. beginning January 1, 1929 will make a reduction in their lighting rates for this community. A full schedule will appear in this paper next week.

NEW CHEVROLET ON DISPLAY

The first new six cylinder Chevorlets to arrive in Kent county are on display today at the garages of Russell Motors Corp., at Chestertown and Newsome's garage at Betterton.

The changing from the four cylinder car to the six cylinder has created much interest in the motor world and motorists in Kent county have been anxiously looking forward to seeing this new car.

THIEVES STEAL CHICKENS

A thief stole three hens from a pen of chickens at the home of Mr. Wilbur Thomas on Sunday evening of this week.

The thief evidently had a thorough knowledge of chickens and was very particular about the kind of chickens he stole. The three hens stolen were the only ones in the pen that were laying, the others were not desturbed.

TRANSCRIPT'S SAFE LOOTED

The safe at the office of The Chestertown Transcript was looted Thursday evening and about $75 in cash was taken.

A number of checks and papers were taken out of the safe and left on a desk in the office. Entrance was made through a back door and a small piece of steel which was found in the back room was used to pry the money drawer open.

WATERMEN ORGANIZE

The watermen in the vicinity of Rock Hall will have a get to gether dinner in Rock Hall tonight in the interest of organizing and to discuss certain fish and oyster laws which will come before the Maryland Legislature at the coming session.

Those interested in sport fishing and hunting have organized and received much publicity through newspapers and radio about certain conservation measures.

A number of prominent citizens of the county will attend the dinner.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

Notice is hereby given to the stock holders of the THIRD NATIONAL BANK OF CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND that the regular ANNUAL MEETING for the election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year will be held at their banking house in Chestertown, Maryland, on TUESDAY, JANUARY 8th, 1929, between the hours of 10 a. m., and 2 p. m.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUISINGS

The Christmas season has been a beautiful one this year. Just as the sun shone so brightly so the promise of peace and prosperty seems a forecaste for our country this year. This is the time when we do not listen to the pessimises, but to the tellers of good times coming. The stacks of cards, too, tell us that we are not forgotten by our friends. So we are going to take some time off from the rush, and read their messages to us. There is nothing to brighten life for us more than steadfast friends.

"Then we'll write a line and a message send"
To a friend or two,
For glad the man who can always boast
Of a friend or two;
The fairest sight is a friendlly face,
The blithest tread is a friendly pace,
And heaven will be a better peace
For a friend or two.

It is a good thing, that between Christmas and New Year, we have time to mend our fences, to repair the old mistakes and get ready for the good resolutions of the New Year. We wont be discouraged if our retrospect is not encouraging. We will just begin again for. As Henry Ford says, "Business is never so healthy as when like a chicken, it must do a lot of scratching for what it gets."

Why are the golfers going about with such bright faces these days? One thing is the lake is frozen and the balls do not lose themselves in the water. Only the adventurous caddy though has the hardihood to skate on its surface.

Many a golfer can murmer plaintively these lines.

"When it comes to hunting golf balls
My middle name is mud.
For I always lose a good one
And I always find a dud."

Where are the pedestrians
That is the question now adays.

Santos-Dumont has perfected an invention which enables people to walk with less fatigue. All he has got to do now to make a big success is to perfect a device capable of locating people who still walk.

H. I. PHILLIPS.

Little Lily had begun to learn natural History. At teatime her father questioned here.

"Let me see, where do figs come from?"

"From fig trees," replied Lily.

"And lemons?"

"From lemon trees."

"And dates?"

Lily thought a moment before she replied: "From calendars!"

Never have we felt more than now what wonderful things the scientists are doing. One discovery follows another. It seems that the Almighty Father is revealing to them one secret after another from his mighty store house of nature.

Pioneering Science

If men had not toiled for the sake of pure science, says Dr. Millikan, the mighty industries of today would never have come into existence.

"When old Copernicus, A. B.,
Ashiver on his tower,
Studied the stars till half-past three,
The looks he got were sour.
And Galileo, when he gazed
And saw the moon as-is,
Was not extravagantly praised
Nor thought of as a whiz.

When Newton watched the winesap fall
And paused to wonder "Why?"
He seemed, no doubt, what we may call
An unproductive guy.
Yet still they fussed about the stars
And why the apple swings,
And hence today we all have cars
And radio sets and things.

Think gently of the scientist
Who looks so dull and queer.
His mind, perhaps, is in a mist
And far away from here;
He may not seem at all to fit
The money-making game,
But, take a wise man's word for it,
He gets there just the same."

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED THIS WEEK

Among the marriage licenses issued this week were:

Horace T. Otwell, Middletown, and Fannie Elizabeth Boyd, of Kent County.

C. Howell Crew and M. Elizabeth Moffett, both of Kent county.

Alton B. Scot and Gladys M. Fleming, both of Queen Anne's county.

Howard Merritt Joiner and Helen Dorothy Needles, both of Kent county.

Henry M. Rutter and Fanny T. Bramble, both of Kent county.

BRIDGE BIDS TO BE OPENED JAN. 8, 1929

More than twenty bids for the construction of the bridge across Chesapeake Bay will be opened January 8 by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Company for the beginning of actual construction of the span. The span would connect Baltimore with the Eastern Shore.

This announcement was made Wednesday by an official of the bridge company, who asserted the plans, specifications and tentative charges for crossing the bridge would be filed with the Public Service Commission before the end of this week.

Work May Start In Month

It is expected that construction of the bridge will begin before the end of next month, it was added.

Stuart S. Janey, counsel for the bridge company, conferred with Harold E. West, chairman of the Public Service Commission, in regard to filing of the bridge program.

It was said the basic rate for passenger automobiles, including the driver, had been agreed upon and that tentative rates for trucks and heavier vehicles would be left to the discretion of the commission. The basic rate for ordinary automobiles, it was said, would be $1.25.

To Expedite Application

The Public Service Commission will be asked to approve the franchise granted by the last Legislature for the bridge and will also be requested to approve the immediate start of construction work.

The company's plans for the construction of the bridge have been approved by the War Department, the Legislature and the State Roads Commission. Provision is made for the State to take over the bridge after twenty years.

Cost Put At $10,000,000

The cost of the bridge is expected to exceed $10,000,000. However, if the contracts are for less than this amount, the commission will be asked to authorize issuance of stock and bonds only for the amount needed.

The bridge will run from the topmost point of Miller's Island to a point near Tolchester, on the Eastern Shore.

NUTRITION NOTES.

YOU AND THE LUNCH ROOM MANAGER

Have you ever thought of how dependent a great army of peope in his country are upon the manager of the lunch room. Unfortunately there are ever so many people who have to eat as he more or less dictates. A person can have every desire to drink that needed whole milk each day, but if he is one of the unfortunates that eats at a restaurant three meals a day and the manager of that lunch room serves only skimmed milk, and that stretched by water, what chance has the diner? If that same person appreciates the need for his having butter, and the lunch room owner insists on using oleo margarine instead, what is the eater to do?

If the menu maker never fails to realize that inorder for his customers to be able to choose food that is adequate for health, he must add to that meal something besides meat and potatoes and rice and boiled dried beans, he is really affecting the health of many people who must eat there day in and day out.

A certain Chef in Maryville, Missouri had the right idea. He was Chef at a college dormatory where many young men and women were fed daily. He not only prepared the meals, but had charge of the planning. The Red Cross chapter of the county had a nutritionist and when the plan of holding a food selection class was announced, he asked if he might join as he thought that his knowing how to select adequate food would benefit not only himself, but the hundreds of students that he was called upon to select food for each year. Would that more restaurant keepers felt as did this Chef.

MIRIAM KINCHELOE,
A. R. C. Nutritionist.

VEST POCKET ESSAY ON TEETH

Teeth are used for cracking nuts, pulling corks, sharpening pencils and sundry other purposes. Some persons even masticate their food with them but this is infrequent as is evident from the large amount of pepsin and other aids to digestion which are sold. There are good teeth and bad ones, own and store grinders but the most beatiful ones are seen in the advertisements for tooth pastes. A good tooth is a valuable asset but no one appreciates that or gives the ivory implement a second thought until it joins the outlaw class. A bad actor can go on a rampage and raise more trouble than a den of wildcats and over practically nothing. Let a tooth have a touch of distal caries, which is slang for a decayed placed, and it will throw a fit. First it will kick, then jump and alternate with all sorts of gyrations until the party who harbors it will imagine he has a minature broncho imprisoned in his jaw. However, a tooth with an infection of some sort can mane the blue ribbon for unadulterated devilishness. If not prevented from pulling its nefarious stunts it can inflict on the person in whose mouth it is located all the tortures of the nether regions. With such a demon in action sleep is out of the question; a banquet of the most delicious viands fails to tempt, and the unlucky guy who is attached to the offender develops a grouch worse than a lion with a sore toe. But Oh Mama! after a dentist has, with the aid of a pleasant anathestic, put that baby to sleep and then painlessly removed it from the scene of its activities the world takes on a bright hue and one more trouble is soon forgotten. A dentist in need is a friend indeed.

The dental trouble of the denizens of the swine world exist largely in the imagination of the owners of the hogs. Frequently is a porker, suffering from indigestion, hog cholera or some other disease, made to submit to having some of its teeth knocked out or pulled because it was supposed to have an imaginary disease which is known as "black tooth." Not only have the animals been obliged to undergo much suffering because of this mistaken idea but thousands of hogs are lost annually on account of delay in having a correct diagnosis made and proper treatment administered. In outbreaks of hog cholera in Maryland practically 45 per cent. of the hogs are sick or dead before a veterinarian is called and the animals given proper attention. In a certain locality, where there have been a large number of outbreaks of cholera within the last two months, there are many instances where persons have actually had sick hogs at the time they were notified that cholera existed on nearby premises and they did not have their hogs treated for as long as ten days or two weeks later. As 96 per cent. of the apparently well hogs, in herds where cholera exists, are saved when promptly and properly vaccinated, it must be admitted that procrastination is not only the thief of time but an ally of hog cholera.

ANNUAL MEETING CHAMBER COMMERCE

The Kent County Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular annual meeting of the entire membership on Thursday, January 3, 1929, at 7.30 p. m., in the Chestertown Court House. At this meeting the reports for the past year will be read and the election of officers will take place.

This meeting is of great importance to every member of the Chamber of Commerce as this organization has developed into an outstanding instrument of service to the entire county. It has stood back of and pushed all worthy enterprises in the county and was entirely responsible for many outstanding progressive moves that have greatly benefitted all sections.

MUSKRAT SEASON OPENS NEXT WEEK

The open season on trapping muskrats throughout Maryland will begin next Tuesday, January 1st.

According to local trappers the outlook for the season is a fair one. Prices are expected to be about the same as last year and a large number of persons have indicated they will trap the animals in this county.

The season closes March 15.

WEDDING NOTES

Mrs. M. A. Tull, of Betterton, Md., announces the approaching marriage of her daughter, Grace May, to Mr. Frank Whitehouse on January 1, 1929, at Baltimore, Md.

Dr. G. H. Dana, local dentist and recently appointed dental clinical specialist for the schools in this county and Miss Josephine Mayer of Johnsonburg, Pa., were married at the home of the bride in that city. Following an extended wedding trip the couple will reside on Kent Circle where they have taken an apartment.

CHURCH NOTES

Chestertown M. E. Church

W. F. Corkran, pastor. The year 1928 has been a prosperous year in the history of our church; But we can make the year 1929 a more prosperous one. The public worship both morning and evening in music and preaching will be New Year services. The Epworth League at 6.45 p. m. will be in charge of Mrs. Howard Pennington and will be a study of the condition of our home church. By its persistency and efficiency is making for itself a large place in our church life.

Salem M. E. Church, Fairlee

Service for Fairlee charge, the last service for the year, 1928, will be as follows: S. S. 10 a. m. W. B. Barnes, Supt. As we look back over the year can we, as officers and teachers, say we have done our best. Divine worship 11 a. m. sermon by the pastor, S. L. Hanby, subject, "The Reckoning of Time." E. L. 7.30 p. m. to which all the young folk are invited. Oh that we all might feel as the master did and be able to say we have finished the work thou gavest me to do.

Worton Church

S. S. 2 p. m. B. F. Rash, Supt.; Divine worship 3 p. m. sermon by the pastor S. L. Hanby. May we with the Psalmist say, one thing have I desired of the Lord that will I seek after, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord and to enquire in his temple. The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies aid will be held on Thursday, January 3 at Sister William Raysons.

New Year's services at Emmanuel P. E. Church will be evening service at 11 p. m. New Years Eva, and Holy Communion at 10 a. m. New Years day.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT.

GAME DIVISION

Usually at this season of the year, the State Game Department of Maryland receives numerous inquiries concerning the close of the legal hunting season for upland game. Numerous sportsmen are under the impression that they have the privilege of hunting on January 1st. This, of course, is erroneous as the open season for the hunting or killing of all upland game, including jacksnipe, squirrel, dove, woodcock, Chinese ring-neck pheasants, ruffed grouse, rabbits, wild turkey, and bob-white quail is November 10th, to December 31st, inclusive. Therefore, December 31st is the last legal hunting day for upland game this season in the State of Maryland.

Therefore, any person found hunting upland game after one-half hour after sunset on December 31st, will be prosecuted for violation of the game law.

Section 62, Chapter 568, Acts of 1927, provide for an open season on muskrat and otter from January 1st to March 15th, inclusive. This section also provides for an open season o nraccoon and opossum, namely: November 1st to January 31st, inclusive. The open season for wild fowl is November 1st to January 31st, inclusive.

THE BOB TAILED FOX

Many sportsmen throughout the county are enjoying fox hunting and they are assured of a good chase at any time.

The bob-tailed fox, which lives in the vicinity of Wilkns Lane, can always be depended upon for a good chase. Tha fox was evidently caught a few years ago and deprived of his bushy tail. Hunters state that to their knowledge this fox has been affording sport for the past five years and when all efforts fail to find a chase in other parts of the county, the tendency is to go to Wilkins Lane and look for this bob tailed fox. A kill is always prevented as hunters always break the dogs when the chase is getting close.

DR. CARL MILLER TO WRITE BOOK

Dr. Carl Miller, head of the Department of Physics at Washington College, has been selected by the Oxford Book Co., to write a 150 page book of 50,000 words on the Elements of Physics. His selection was made after considering University Professors from all parts of the country which is quite an honor for Dr. Miller.

Dr. Miller's book will be written in a semi-technical style for laymen and will be interesting to the average layman who wishes to gain some knowledge of Physics. The book will be completed September 1st.

RUSSELL MOTORS CORP. OPENS TODAY

The Russell Motors Corp. will officially open their new garage on Cross St today, Saturday, at which time they will have on display a new six cylinder Chevrolet.

ATTEMPT JAIL DELIVERY

A jail delivery was attempt at the Kent county jail last week by digging a hole in the brick wall under one of the windows.

One of the prisoners wrote a note to Sheriff Hadaway of the attempt and when he reached the cell he found that a few minutes more work would have made a hole in the wall large enough for a man to crawl through.

It was unable to determine who made the attempt as a number of prisoners had access to that cell.

ON HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

Miss Helen H. Fairhurst, of Lexington, Kentucky, will succeed Miss Nellie Walters as teacher of the Commercial Department at the Chestertown High School. Miss Fairhurst is a graduate of Transylvania College, Lexington, Kentucky. She has also received Commercial training in two colleges, Lexington Business University, and Southern Brothers Fugazzi School of Business, of Lexington, Kentucky.

SHORE RADIO MOVES TO CROSS STREET

The Shore Radio moved this week from their former location in the Toulson building on High street to the Burk building on Cross street.

The Burk building has been completely remodeled and one half of the store will be used for a United Cigar Store which has been under the management of the Shore Radio for some time, and the remainder of the store will be used for the display of radios accessories and other merchandise.

The location formerly occupied by this concern will be enlarged and occupied by the American Stores.

DEATHS

Mrs. Kate I. Howard, 71, widow of the late Frank H. Howard, and a daughter of the late Postmaster and Mrs. Lewin S. Fowler, died at the home of her brother. Dr. T. Howard Fowler, on Sunday morning. She was a native of this town and was, throughout her lifetime, a member of Christ Methodist Protestant Church.
