PUBLIC VIEWS OPERATION OF FRIGIDAIRS

LATEST PREFECTION OF COLD CONTROL DEMONSTRATED AT LOCAL SHOW ROOM

A number of both men and women today witnessed the operation of Frigidaire's Cold Control, the latest perfection in the electrical refrigeration field, when the National Cold Control Demonstration of the Frigidaire Corporation was opened at the local show room on High St.

The display is most simple, yet very attractive and is sure to interest the housewives.

The demonstration will continue through this week until Tuesday and the display room will remain open until 10 o'clock every night, to care for anticipated crowds, was announced by George W. Baldwin the local dealer.

Similar demonstrations are being held throughout the country, in order to acquaint the public with this exclusive Frigidaire Feature, which for the first time gives the housewife complete control over the freezing chamber of the refrigerator.

Tempting frozen dessert, heretofore impossible to make in a house refrigerator, were prepared and frozen in comparatively short time, and served to the visitors.

Mr. Baldwin explained the simplicity of the new device which is now a part of all house hold Frigidaires. "Cold Control," says Mr. Baldwin, "Greatly shortens the time required for freezing ice cubes, desserts, and salads, and is operated simply by turning a small lever around a dial, and the various degrees of cold may be obtained."

Recipes for 115 new desserts, made possible through the invention of cold control are distributed to all those attending.

It is well worth the time to look-over this new display at 333 High St. Chestertown, Md.

NARROWS DREDGING STARTED

Work on the seventy-five foot channel through the Kent Island Narrows was begun last week.

The channel, which will be more than a mile in length and eight feet deep at low tide, is being dredged by the Lukens Contracting Company, of Baltimore, with a suction machine.

The dredge was placed in position on the Chester River side near Long Point last Friday and the pipe lines for discharging the material taken from the bottom were laid. The machine began cutting its way through the Narrows in earnest Monday.

The new channel will follow, in some places, the line of the old channel which was dug between Kent Island and the mainland a number of years ago. According to the terms of the contract, it is supposed to be completed in about four months.

The new channel, an appropriation for which was made largely through the efforts of Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of Denton, will increase many times the traffic through the Narrows, it is believed. Many miles of travel will be saved by boats bound to or from Baltimore to Eastern Bay points, or its tributaries, and between Chester River and the lower parts of the Chesapeake.

For a number of years the channel through the Narrows has gradually been filling up. At present, except under the most favorable conditions, only the smaller boats are able to negotiate a passage, and this often is done under hazardous conditions.

It is believed that the new channel besides expediting traffic on the Chesapeake generally, will prove a great aid to oyster houses in the vicinity of the Narrows. And also to oystermen and fishermen of Chester River.

The fact that the Maryland Legislature has turned the Narrows bridge over to the State Roads Commission is another big asset to traffic through that waterway. While under the control of the Commissioners of Queen Anne's county, there was only a sun-up to sundown service on the draw bridge which compelled small boats to take the long trip around the island at night. Under the State Roads Commission 24 hour drawer service will be maintained.

TO BROADCAST DEL-MAR-VA

With story and song a program devoted entirely to the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula will be broadcast from station WJSV, Mount Vernon Hills, Va., on Wednesday, April 17th at 8.15 p. m.

Thru the courtesy of Mr. James S. Vance, President of the Independent Publishing Co., which operates WJSV, one of the five most powerful stations in the United States, an invitation has been extended to Edwin C. Totten, Executive Secretary of the Del-Mar-Va Association, to present Del-Mar-Va's story at the time mentioned.

This opportunity is accepted by Association officials as being one of the most valuable ever offered the Association. Station WJSV, more generally known as "Mount Vernon Hills," is one of the powerful short wave length stations and the extent of its distribution is easily recognized with the announcement that it is regularly received at points as far distant as England.

The program to be presented by the Association will open with a solo, "The Good Old Eastern Shore," to be rendered by Filbert Hitch, a student at Tome Institute, and rated as one of the most able young singers on the Peninsula. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gayl A. Hitch, of Laurel. This will be followed by a talk by Mr. Totten, and if the present plans are carried out, will be supplemented by a talk by Col. Charles I. Stengle, Associate Editor of National Farm News, of Washington, who is very familiar with Del-Mar-Va as both he and his Father have preached in years gone by in many of the Peninsula towns.

For the benefit of Peninsula residents who may care to tune in on this program the station operates on 1460 K. C. or 205.4 meters and on the average dial is found between 2 and 10.

BETTERTON

During a recent wind storm the "Cadwalader" ran into the Ericsson Pier and did considerable damage to it. It is now being repaired and the boats are stopping in on their regular schedule.

The Crumpton talent will give a play, with music and monologues, on Monday evening in the school auditorium, for the benefit of Betterton Epworth League.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Price, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moore, Misses Florence and Lou Jewell and Miss Louise Hepbron attended the conference session in Wilmington last week. Rev. W. D. Short was appointed to the Still Pond-Betterton charge, Rev. C. W. Clark being assigned to the Sudlersville church.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Crew have returned to the Betterton House for the summer and entertained quite a large company of friends at cards on Friday evening.

Mrs. Harry Crew entertained the Ladies Aid Society at her home on Friday afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brice entertained the Epworth League at their monthly business and social meeting on Thursday evening.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Chapel held their regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. James Sutton on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Scott Crownhart is spending a while with her son, Mr. Floyd Crownhart.

Mrs. Violet Crew has been the guest of friends in Baltimore and Washington for the past week.

Mrs. William Wheeler was the guest of her daughter, Miss Katherine, in Havre de Grace the past week end.

Mr. Frank Bowman has returned from a hospital in Washington where he has been for treatment for two months.

A Laudale Ambition

The Sire—Son, your school report shows a lot of very low marks. How about it?

The Son—Well, you see, dad, everything's so high nowadays I thought it was time some items were maked down.

All Set

"Cook, can you line out a few griddle cakes?"

"Sure. Batter up."

NOTICE

Within twenty-four hours after our factory was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning, March 27th, we had made arrangements with another manufacturer to fill all of our orders, both local and foreign. The brands are to be made for us by our own original formulas. ALL ORDERS PLACED WITH US WILL RECEIVE OUR USUAL PROMPT ATTENTION.
