CAVALRY RIDING DRILL.

From St. James's Gazette.

The first riding lesson takes place in the "riding school," where, as the floor is covered with "tan," the recruit who comes off will fall softly. The military authorities don't want their recruits laid up in hospital. The first lesson consists of leading the horses around the riding school; so that the axiom of learning to creep before walking is slightly modified here, for the recruit learns to walk his horse around for a while, the horse's head is brought in from the boards (i. e., the walls of the school), and the recruit is taught to "stand at ease" and to step from side to side of his horse's fore feet in measured paces. Then comes the "mount;" and usually the unfortunate recruit has no sooner got up on one side than he rolls over on the other, owing to the vagaries of his horse, who knows that he has a a recruit in hand and takes advantage of it. Presently the order is given to "march;" and away file the horses around the school walls, many of the recruits thinking that horseflesh is very perverse in rubbing its side against the school wall with the recruit's leg for a buffer. The day when I got my first riding lesson many of us started off by pulling on our horse's mouths, and got (to quote our rough rider) "all over the shop like a pack of sheep. After a few turns round—during which the "rough" taught us the aids to horsemanship in the preliminary stages of the "walk"—we learned that we were not to "pull our horses' heads off," but to handle the reins gently by feeling them with our wrists and not with our whole arms. All we had to do (we were told) was to sit there and keep our bodies upright with our chests forward, by hollowing the back and drawing in our stomachs, as well as to keep our "chins off our stocks" and our heads up.

We began to see that learning to ride was no trifling job. When it came to fixing our legs, getting them well back, raising our toes and sinking our heels, we got more to do than we ever bargained for. Your teacher is a hard man to please; and I'm sure that by sheer practice recruits at Canterbury have got all their stomachs pressing up against their diaphragms. Otherwise how do they muster such small waists and such pigeon-like chests? The fact is that lungs, heart, liver, stomach, and spleen are all packed together chestward, like a tin of Australian mutton. Whether nature ever intended such cramming is a question that the military authorities don't study. Make your men as wooden as possible—never mind nature—is their dictum; and certainly they are listened to. After we had done a little walking around the riding school, we got more confidence; and thought, no doubt, that we should like a bit of a "trot," just to see what that was like. When it did come to trotting many of us fell off, or nearly fell off, and we went hobbling around the school—to quote our rough-rider again—"like a lot of stuffed dolls riding yer horses from nose to croup." And certainly many of us were more often on our horses' withers and haunches than on the center of their backs, and we had our arms more often round their necks than holding our reins. The "rough" called us to a halt, and even here we were at fault. Some of us pulled too much, or we pulled too little, or we pulled awry, with the result that our horses were "all over the shop." When at last we had stopped, our friend the "rough" again let us know a bit of his mind about our first appearance as cavalrymen. He "never saw such a bloomin' lot of asses in all his born days; my old mother could ride better than you," etc. He had probably told the same yarn to generations of recruits; but really we believed that we were a set of out-and-out duffers.

After a few months' riding drill the cavalryman learns to ride his horse at all paces; and when he can take him through the turns, circles, and windings of the menage drill, and knows how to use his "arms" mounted, he is fit to call himself a real cavalryman, and is ready to go and fight his country's wars when he gets the chance. If the reader wants to learn more of cavalry equitation, he had better join. A few months' drill will teach him all that he will care to learn.

All tea and coffee drinkers can tell by their taste if the water from which the beverage is made has not boiled or has boiled too much. Either of these conditions will spoil the flavor of the costliest tea or the best coffee berry. But not every one knows the reason or how to avoid the result.

The secret is in putting good fresh water into a clean kettle already warm and setting it to boil quickly, then taking it right off to use in tea, coffee, and other drinks before it is spoiled. If the water is allowed to steam and simmer and evaporate till all the good of the water is in the air, and the lime and iron and dregs left in the kettle, you must not expect a well flavored cup of tea or coffee.

New Windsor, Md.,

Is Alive With Choice Goods for the Spring.

We invite all our friends to call and inspect our stock. Time nor space will admit of us attempting to name the many choice lines of goods placed before you.

Our Dress Goods Display

surpasses all previous attempts and is the admiration of all who have seen them. We have them of every shade you could name and from 5 cents to $1.00 per yard. Our Trimmings are exquisite and match to perfection. Henrietta Cloth, French Serges, Fancy Stripes, Plaids, India Silks, Bengalines, Black and Colored Silks, and piles of goods we cannot name. Our French Satteens as well as American are new and nobby, beginning as low as 10 cents per yard. Piles of choice Dress Ginghams at 8 cents per yard, others at 5 cents. Challies as low as 5 cents per yard. 1000 yards of best Calico at 5 cents. 500 yards of 18 to 25 cent Dress Goods sold at 10 cents per yard. They must move. Our stock of NOTIONS is fine. Ask to see our health Corset at 50 cents, Silk Gloves at 25 cents, Silk Mits, 2 pairs for 25 cents, fine White Shirts at 50 cents. We have in HATS the very latest. In SHOES we always have the lead. Ladies' Button Shoes at $1.25, the pride of New Windsor. Our Gents' Bals. at $1.15 is the talk of the town. We have them finer. Our stock of CLOTHING is larger than ever. A beautiful Cutaway Suit for $10; others as low as $4. In CARPETS, Mattings, Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Queensware, Woodenware, GROCERIES, &c., you will always find our stock complete.

Four reasons why you should deal with us: First, we spare no pains to make you welcome and to show you our appreciation of your dealing with us; Second, our stock is well selected and the assortment equal to any outside the city; Third, we deal honestly with you, giving full value for your money; Fourth, we allow no misrepresentation in order to effect a sale.

Many thanks for past patronage, we hope by strict attention to business to justly merit a continuance of same. Very respectfully, ap-20 GEO. C. ANDERS.

WHY IS IT

The Farmers' Fertilizer Company

OF WESTMINSTER, MD.,

IS ALWAYS ON TOP?

Because only absolutely pure material is used, and the Company, besides, guarantees the same class of goods to stockholders and the trade alike.

The Company carries the largest and best assorted stock of

BONE AND CHEMICALS

In the State, outside the city of Baltimore.

Its goods are all in good drillable condition and are guaranteed to give satisfaction. The street recently opened past the Hotel Albion will relieve any objection to the railroad heretofore existing. As the company proposes to stand by its friends and customers in the future as in the past, it asks a call from the agricultural trade before purchasing elsewhere, as it means business and will not be undersold.

Special Attention will be paid to the Compounding of Private Formulas.
