"BATTER UP" NEXT WEEK

MUSICAL REVIEW STAGED LOCALLY

"Batter Up," the musical revue which will be staged in the Old Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, May 11 and 12, is strictly a home talent production. It features a cast of home people, and is directed by two home boys, Harry S. Russelll and Joseph N. Wheatley, much of the material in the show was written and arranged by he directors and every penny of the proceeds from the show will remain at home.

The revue, which will be staged in two parts, is being presented for the benefit of the Chestertown Baseball Club. Chestertown, a newcomer in the Chesapeake Bay League, lacks much of the necessary diamond equipment and the forthcoming production is being staged in an effort to raise money to aid in equiping the team.

The first part of the production to be staged next week will be devoted to various sketches and skits. There will be an opening chorus of male voices, a stage band presentation by Raymond "Reds" Moffett and His Washingtonians, vocal music of the harmony type by Mary Joe Wheatley and Anna Lewis, a brass quintet from the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company Band, a magical presentation and several short sketches of a humorus nature.

The second part of the show will be an old-fashioned minstrel in a new fashioned setting, wih special costumes and scenery. All of the old minstrel favorites will take part and the youngest minstrel soloist in the world will be featured.

Reserved seat tickets for the show have been placed on sale at Stam's Drug Store.

DOGS AT LARGE UNLAWFUL

UNLAWFUL TO PERMIT DOGS TO RUN AT LARGE AND PURSUE GAME

BY E. LEE LECOMPT

I wish to call the attention of the public to the law as provided in Paragraph F of Section 20 of Article 99, Public Laws of Maryland, which is as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person of allow any dog or dogs belonging to them to run at large on other property than that owned or tenanted by them between March 1st and September 1st and pursue game or destroy the eggs or nests thereof.

"Any person harboring a dog or dogs shall be termed the lawful owner of same."

The penalty for violation is provided in Paragraph C of Section 22 of Article 99 and provides a fine of not less than Twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than One Hundred ($100) dollors and costs for each and every offense and Five ($5.00) dollars additional for each game bird or game animal caught or killed illegally.

The Department, at this season of the year, is receiving complaints by phone and letters daily of dogs running at large pursuing and destroying game, applying especially to rabbits. It is very detrimental to our game supply and especially to rabbits during the propagating season, to allow dogs to pursue same. A mother rabbit has very little chance to escape pursuing dogs and in great many cases, the entire family is destroyed. Dogs also dig out thousands of small rabbits from their nests and destroy them.

It does seem that the dog owners of Maryland should realize that their cooperation with this Department in keeping their dogs either under leash or confined, March 1st to September 1st will save thousands of pieces of game and will assure an adequate supply in the covers for their benefit the next hunting season.

Therefore, we plead with you at this time to conform with the law as herein quoted and assist us in increasing our game supply.

Our Deputy Wardens have been instructed to strictly enforce this Act.

KENT BOYS 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

IDEAL 4-H POULTRY CLUB

The Ideal 4-H Poultry Club met at the homes of Nettie Ford, near Golt, Thursday night, April 21st. Local leader Theodore Ford was present and presided. Each member gave a brief outline of his plans for this year and several asked about securing hatching eggs from well bred flocks. This good stock should help improve the standard of their flocks.

Kennedyville 4-H Club

The Kennedyville Boys 4-H Club met at the school for its second meeting on Friday night, April 22nd. Joseph Weer, newly elected president, presided and a number of questions were asked by those present regarding the four H-s and the Club program. Ass't County Agent Stanley B. Sutton explained the whole 4-H idea and helped a number of the boys decide what project they would like best. There are about 35 boys of club age in the Kennedyville Community and fifteen have already joined the new club. We hope all of these boys will take advantage of this opportunity.

The Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club

The Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club held a meeting Saturday afternoon at the farm of Mr. Joseph Gibbs at Massey for Dairy Cattle judging practice. The members present enjoyed a very good work out using Mr. Redgraves fine Guernsey cows for practice. Judging is a very important phase of 4-H Club Work as it helps the members recognize good stock when they see it. Every Club Member should take part in some type of judging.

Two More Communities to Have 4-H Clubs

Twenty-four boys met with Stanley B. Sutton Ass't County Agent, at the Fairlee school during their noon hour last Wednesday and talked over the plans for organizing a club in the near future. The boys are very much enthused.

Thirteen boys also met at the Still Pond school yard after school Friday afternoon and made plans to organize next week. This Club will take in boys in the Still Pond and Betterton sections.

The program of the 4-H clubs teaches observation and an appreciation of the finer things of like as well as the means to acquire these 'necessities." The ideal of the family ownership of farms stressed by real thinkers is a goal that is being reached through the 4-H program.

Those who listened in on Sunday, May 1, heard her voice still strong and sweet, when she sang the cradle song w[illegible] al the Metropolitan Opera stars f[illegible] benefit of the unemployed musi[illegible] o have suffered much during these [illegible] hard times.

MOTHER

BY ALBERT A. BACON

She may be a bit old fashioned,
And her ways seem quaint and queer,
But to me there is no other
In this world one-half as dear.

It was mother, kind and loving,
I would take my troubles to,
When the whole orld seemed against me,
Mothr knew just what to do.

She could heal those cuts and bruises,
And console me when in pain,
Then the tears would soon all vanish,
And my heart be light again.

Mother knew where cakes and cookies
Always handy, could be found;
When a fellow's very hungry,
There's nothing better, I'll be bound.

As the years rolled swiftly onward,
When to manhood I had grown,
And had started on life's journey,
There to face my trials alone;

Mother's prayers ere always with me
Like an angel hovering near,
Alays ready to protect me.
Guide and comfort, stremgthen, cheer.

You may choose your wives and sweethearts,
As you journey on life's way,
But you'll only find one "Mother,"
So be kind to her today.

Should she ask you for a favor,
Do her bidding with a smile,
Never turn from her in anger
Saying, "Can't you wait awhile "

Don't do that—my son, my daughter,
It will only bring regret,
When you see her sweetly sleeping
'Midst the flowers, you'll not forget.

In conclusion, let me tell you,
Always cherish Mother's name,
When at last we meet in Glory,
We'll find it in God's Hall of Fame.

HEALTH NOTES

FACING FACTS ON MOTHERS' DAY

A square deal for every mother-to-be is urged in connection with the nation-wide observance of Mothers' Day, which this year, falls on Sunday, May 8.

"Mothers' Day," Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, of the State Department of Health said, in calling attention to the day, "recalls memories that make all of us want to pay our tribute of honor and reverance to all mothers. To those of us in public health who are especially concerned with the health of mothers and young children, the day has additional significance, because of the opportunity it gives to stress the importance of adequate care for every mother-to be as well as the veneration we give to all mothers.

"What we speak of as 'adequate' care, means care and advice, before, when, and for some weeks after the baby comes. Such care safeguards two lives, not only one.

"To understand why such care is important, all you need to do is to glance at the records of our own health department, or of those of any other health department. For every 165 babies born in the State last year, there was one maternal death. There is hardly anything that is more saddening than a motherless baby, and for the sake of both mothers and babies, we want to safeguard our Maryland mothers in every way possible.

"Every expectant mother needs special care during the whole of the waiting period. It is much easier for the mothers to be who live in the larger cites to get such care than it is for those who live in the rural districts, many of them at long distances from their family physicians. In addition, even when care is available, many mothers and fathers do not realize that such care is necessary, and they make no provision for it. Mothers of limited means especially, often wait until the last minute before calling a physician, and such delays often mean the loss of not one like only, but of two.

"What are known as 'prenatal' clinics—which provide such care for women of limited means—are available to all who need them in Baltimore City. More recently, with the approval of the practicing physicians of each section, similar clinics have been established in six of our Maryland Counties—Harford, Cecil, Allegany, Calvert, Anne Arundel and Frederick, and it is hoped that this service will be gradually extended to every place in the state where it is needed."

FURROWS

MR. EDITOR:

As I wuz lookin over the papers this week I come across the statement that the proposed tax had been removed from the parimutual bettin tickets. It seems to m that bettin is a luxury and an unnecessary one at that and could very well be taxed. But it seems that our Congressmen are tryin to find more ways to tax people that can't afford to be taxed. The people that can afford a luxury are the very people who can afford to pay fer the privilege of the luxury. It ain't fair to tax a man because he buys the necessities of life and ain't able to enjoy any luxuries.. If the poor can't find enough money to get food and clothes they ought to be taxed fer what they do buy.

I don't claim to be one of these here economists, but it strikes me that the whole system of taxation in this country is wrong. In the first place there ain't no system about it. The tax gatherers just go after anything they can find and tax it. Take the farmers as a case in point. Land is taxed whether it produces anything or not, and a lot of farmers ain't makin enough to pay their fertilizer bill, let alone a lot of extra money fer taxes. And if a farmer builds a new shed fer his cows the tax gatherers add more to his assessment. The tax burden is so heavy that it kills the desire of a lot of farmers to improve their farms.

In the second place, our system of taxation, if we call it a system, pays no attention to the question of ability to pay. There are a lot of people in this country that make good money, but don't help to support the government. Some system ought to be found that would distribute the burden of supportin the government more equally than we do at the present time. Why should the farmers of this county have to pay more fer the support of the government than any other class of people in the county?

I wuz talkin with a man not long ago that lives in another state and he said that they tax incomes and not property. That seems to me to be a lot fairer than the way it is done in this county and state.

But a change in the system of taxation is not all we need in this state. We need to get rid of some of our super-fluous officials. The business of this county could be run by half the people that now hold jobs that are paid fer out of public funds. If the people that the government pays salaries to would do the work themselves and not leave it to a lot of deputies we could get along on fewer officials. And this could be done all the way up the line, in the state government and in the National government too. It would cut down our expenses a lot, and there would be less excuse to keep tax rates and assessments up so high that they are killin the people.

But officials always begin to holler when somebody says something about droppin some of them. They have a lot to say about any mention of the great army of the unemployed. But who pays these non-workin officials? Why, the tax payers of course, and they don't get much fer their money either. There are about a hundred thousand useles job-holders in the federal government alone. Of course it would work a hardship on them to drop them from government pay-rolls now, but it is workin a bigger hardship on the people that are bein taxed to death to support this mighty standin army of salary drawers.

If something ain't done to ease up the burden and strain on the tax payers the government will find itself bankrupt some of these days. It cost the people of the United States more to run the governments last year than it did durin the late war. There ain't no sense in that sort of thing and I fer one would like to see a change.

Yours truly,
JOSIAH ALLEN WEATHERBY.
