WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

W. L. W. Seabrook, - Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1889.

Visit of Col. J. C. Fuller.

Col. J. C. Fuller, President of the Harrisburg and Gettysburg Railroad, and Mr. A. E. Lehman, chief engineer, arrived in this city, by private conveyance, on Friday evening of last week and stopped at the City Hotel. During the evening they were called upon by numbers of the citizens and a conference was held with them concerning the proposed extension of the H. & G. Railroad to Washington city. Col. Fuller stated that the survey of the proposed direct line from Gettysburg to Washington had so far progressed that an approximate estimate of the cost of construction had been made by Mr. Lehman, which fell within the limit under which it had been determined the work would be undertaken, making ample allowance for contingencies. The line, as surveyed, he stated, is about eighty miles in length which he thought could be shortened, perhaps to seventy-six or seventy-eight miles. The road he said will be built, if subscriptions to the amount of five thousand dollars per mile on an average throughout its length shall be made by the citizens along the line, and he has ample assurances that this will be done on the route now surveyed.

Concerning the proposition to divert the road from the line surveyed and locate it through Westminster, Col. Fuller manifested the strongest interest and unhesitatingly stated that a point would be strained to accomplish that object. He seemed to realize fully the importance of Westminster as a business station, and is ready to meet the people in an effort to bring it here. When Col. Fuller was first waited upon at Philadelphia by the committee, of which Mr. John L. Reifsnider was chairman, appointed by a meeting of our citizens, he evidently did not fully apprehend the importance of taking Westminster in the line of the road, and would only consent to make a preliminary survey by this route upon condition that the money to defray the cost of such survey be raised here. And he also made the further condition that the difference in cost of construction between the Westminster route and the alleged direct line should be provided in the same manner. Even upon these conditions, at a subsequent meeting in this place, it was determined to raise the funds required to make the survey and numbers of subscriptions were made by individuals for the purpose, it being the understanding that if the road should be located through Westminster, subscribers to this fund would be reimbursed to the extent of their subscriptions by stock of the company.

Since that time Col. Fuller has been over the ground and has materially modified the conditions referred to. The sum necessary to make the survey was stated at $1200 to $1500. Col. Fuller has now consented to make the survey and bear all the cost above $1000 and he also agrees to exempt the citizens of Westminster from the obligation to subscribe the difference in cost of construction, above referred to, and to put them on the same basis as all other persons along the proposed line of the road.

The whole subject is purely a matter of business. Sentiment has nothing to do with it. If the road should be constructed by way of Westminster it would at once enjoy the advantages of a large and important trade, and this fact is apparent to its projectors. It is alleged that the diversion of the line to this route would increase its length perhaps six or seven miles, and add that proportion or more to the cost of construction. Col. Fuller apprehends some difficulties in engineering that may not be readily overcome; but well informed and intelligent engineers, familiar with the country through which it must pass, are fully convinced that no insuperable obstacles will be encountered.

The first part of Col. Fuller's conditions will be met and our citizens have already subscribed and are paying the thousand dollars required to insure the survey. The project is one of great importance to this community and the public interest in the matter should he commensurate with that importance. It not only means cheaper fuel, in which the interest of every citizen is involved, but it means cheaper lumber, increased trade and prosperity to city and country, as well as convenience of communication between the extremes of the county and the county-town. It not only means convenient access to the national capital, but it probably involves another line to the metropolis of the State. There should, therefore, be no hesitation on the part of the people to exert all their energies and employ their best efforts in obtaining the location of the line through this city. The preliminary survey will soon be made and there seems little reason to doubt that a practicable route will be found. Let the people, if it shall be, be prepared to give the road every assistance in their power and thus assure its construction. Other communities, notably Frederick and several towns in Frederick county, are making strenuous efforts to secure the road in that direction. We are thoroughly satisfied that none of them can offer such advantages of trade to this railroad as it would find in our own city; but they may hold out financial inducements of sufficient moment to draw it to them, unless the citizens of this community meet their efforts with corresponding interest and energy. It is a false maxim that "all things come to him who waits;" false as to individuals and false as to communities. If the people of Westminster, having a full appreciation of the importance of this work to the city, expect that by waiting for it, it will eventually come, they will realize a sad and grievous disappointment. The way to secure it is to work for it with unceasing energy and zeal.

Some anxiety was occasioned here on Wednesday by a statement that appeared in the Baltimore American's Frederick correspondence that day to the effect that negotiations had been completed between the projectors of the new road to Washington and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, by which the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad would be tapped at Kingsdale, Pa., and its track used from that point to Frederick. The report did not appear reasonable, yet for greater certainty in the matter Mr. John L. Reifsnider, chairman of the Westminster Citizens' committee, telegraphed to Col. Fuller at Pine Grove Furnace, Pa., as follows:

WESTMINSTER, AUGUST 14, 1889.
Col. J. C. Fuller, Pine Grove Furnace, Pa.
Baltimore papers report you have accepted road from Kingsdale to Frederick and will build from there to Washington. Is it correct, or any probability of it? Telegraph.
JOHN L. REIFSNIDER.

To this telegram Mr. Reifsnider received the following reply:

PINE GROVE FURNACE, PA., AUGUST 14, 1889.
John L. Reifsnider, Esq., Westminster, Md.
Absolutely false in every particular. Nothing will be done until your survey is made.
J. C. FULLER.

Time to Call a Halt.

The ease with which divorces can be obtained in many of the States of this Union is a disgrace to the country, and a crying evil that calls for a prompt and effective remedy. The case of Mrs. Mary E. Flack, wife of James A. Flack, sheriff of the great city of New York, furnishes a forcible illustration of the looseness prevalent in divorce proceedings in that quarter. Apparently Mrs. Flack was plaintiff in this divorce suit. She was represented by an attorney named Benjamin Wright, and Joseph Meeks was the referee in the case. The divorce was granted. Subsequently Mrs. Flack instituted proceedings to annul the decree, and in her affidavit declared she had never applied for a divorce. Wright, who was ostensibly her lawyer, then came into court and made a sworn statement which was, in effect, that he was induced to act as Mrs. Flack's counsel by Meeks, who became the referee in the case, and who presented him, Wright, with an authorization signed by Judge Monell, Flack's counsel. While holding the position of counsel to Mrs. Flack, Wright was never informed of Meeks' appointment as referee and was in entire ignorance of the granting of a decree of divorce until he read the report in the newspapers.

Mr. Flack, who was a prominent figure in the Tammany Society, has resigned from that organization and he and his counsel, Judge Monell, and referee Meeks are in a very unenviable position. The whole affair looks like a criminal conspiracy in the interest of sheriff Flack. The decree of divorce has been annulled, but the case should call public attention to an evil that is becoming greater every year. Even in our own State, where conservative ideas generally prevail, divorces are by no means infrequent and it is to be feared are too often granted on trivial pretexts. Under existing laws the courts seem to be invested with almost unlimited discretion in the adjudication of divorce suits and the time has come when there should be some strict statutory limitation of the causes for which decrees in such cases may be granted. Conformity to the divine law would be about the best guide in the matter and we hope the subject will be agitated, in our own State at least, until the law makers shall be induced to enact a statute in harmony with the divine word. It is a subject that is rarely discussed in the pulpit, yet ministers of the gospel, as preachers of righteousness, ought to throw the whole weight of their influence in the scale against the iniquitous system now prevalent. It seems reasonable that if divorce were more difficult there would be fewer hasty, ill-considered marriages. The declaration of the Church is: "Whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder," yet in practice the injunction is persistently ignored, and the Church—the Protestant portion of it at least—enters no protest. How long is this state of things to continue? Isn't it time to call a halt and seek a remedy for this most deplorable evil?

The Cattle Fly.

Various opinions concerning this pest, which has made its appearance in this locality, have been expressed by the newspapers, some holding that the cause of the injury it inflicts on cattle is that it deposits its ova in the flesh at the base of the horns, and the insect in the grub state burrows deeper and deeper until at last, in some cases, the horns drop off and death relieves the animal's sufferings. This theory seemed to be reasonable, but investigations made by the Department of Agriculture at Washington show it to be erroneous. The following dispatch, dated Washington, August 8th, gives a full explanation of the matter:

"Last summer a new pest was reported in cattle in New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Northern Virginia. The pest has again made its appearance this summer.

"It is a small fly, half the size of a house fly, which settles in great numbers around the base of the horns and on other portions of the body, where it cannot be reached by either tail or head. It sucks a moderate amount of blood, reduces the condition of the cattle and lessens the yield of milk by from one-third to one-half. This new pest has been investigated by the Department of Agriculture, through the entomologist, L. I. Howard, who has succeeded in tracing the entire life history of the pest. He finds that the fly lays its eggs usually at night in freshly-dropped cow dung, and that for the development from the egg through the maggot stage to the perfect fly again a space of only twelve days is necessary. He says this rapidity of reproduction accounts for the wonderful numbers in which these flies appear, and it follows with reasonable certainty that the insect will pass the winter in the quiescent stage at the bottom of dungs dropped late in the fall, (the approximate date to be determined later). The preventive is obviously to lime the dung in the fall in the places where the cattle preferably stand at night.

"At the present time applications may be made to milch cows and valuable animals which will keep the flies away. The applications may be (1) fish oil and pine tar with a little sulphur added; (2) tobacco dust when the skin is not broken; (3) tallow and a small amount of carbolic acid."

Virginia's campaign will be formally opened to-day with the Democratic convention at Richmond. There is a lively prospect, and the fight will be one of the hottest the state has ever known. The Republicans, after a long career of quarrels and dissensions, are again united, and the Democrats are by no means confident of success. The Republicans have an excellent show for carrying the state.—American of Wednesday.

Now look out for reports of outrages by the colored people in the counties of the State where they are numerically strong. This is the usual pretext for terrorizing them and deterring them from the exercise of the suffrage.

There has been an insurrection in the Sandwich Islands, but it was promptly and speedily suppressed. The insurgents took refuge in a bungalow from which the native forces found it impossible to dislodge them. The skill of a baseball pitcher was finally employed to throw bombs into the place and in a short time the leaders came out and surrendered.

Dr. Brown-Sequard's Elixir.

A short time ago it was announced that Dr. Brown-Sequard, an eminent physician of Paris, had discovered an elixir which, administered hypodermically, had produced the most astonishing results, by restoring old and feeble men and women to the elasticity and vigor of youth. The announcement was received with incredulity bordering on derision by the medical and scientific world, but numerous tests recently made in our own country lead to the hope that a really valuable discovery has been made, by which life may be prolonged and strength imparted to the frail and weak. Of course the claim that youth can be restored to the aged is an absurdity, but, if a means has been discovered by which the delicate and ailing may regain the health and strength which nature designs to impart, and by which the years of man may be lengthened and his physical vigor maintained, it will be an untold blessing to humanity.

The elixir of Dr. Brown-Sequard is prepared by taking certain vital portions of the guinea pig or dog, containing the nerve centres, reducing them to a pulp and therefrom distilling the marvelous remedy. American physicians, who have been experimenting with the discovery, have generally taken the nerve centres of the lamb instead of the guinea pig or dog from which to prepare the elixir, and, if reports are to be believed, the results have been very satisfactory. Indeed some rather remarkable stories are told of the effects of the remedy. In the case of an old, rheumatic and tottering colored man, who was barely able to walk at all, it is said that after the injection of the remedy he was as supple as a boy. It will do no harm, however, to cultivate a certain incredulity in regard to the extreme effects reported concerning this new discovery. It is safe to say that the fabled fountain of youth will not be rivaled in its supposed effects by Brown-Sequard's elixir. This discovery as a means of restoring perpetual youth is as mythical as the anxiously-sought fountain, but it may have a more substantial basis as a genuine remedial agent. Experiments, more or less satisfactory, have been made in Cincinnati, Kansas City, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, York and other cities. As yet Baltimore and Maryland are behind in subjecting the alleged discovery to the test of practical experiment, at least as far as the public has knowledge. It is to be hoped the physicians of this locality will not long defer such action. In the meantime let no old man dream that he is about to have an opportunity of being made young again. From experiments made in Philadelphia and St. Louis, it is apparent that the use of the elixir will not be unattended with danger, as, if made from diseased animals the patients may be inoculated. Dr. Shaw of St. Louis says it should only be administered by physicians, after thorough examination by the microscope.

"Our Paupers in Blue" is the title of an editorial article in the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier, which begins with this declaration: "The intelligent and patriotic people of the North are becoming very tired of the old soldier element." This sentence, referring to the soldier, also appears in the article: "He appears in all the party platforms, is the special subject of Congressional legislation, is regarded as a potent factor in all political contests, is given the post of honor on public occasions, and takes all the money he can get for the service which he rendered when he was fighting, or running, twenty-five years ago, for principle."

Yet some soldiers are identified with the party of which the News and Courier is a prominent Southern exponent.

Two Georgians, Mr. Patrick Calhoun, general counsel for the West Point Terminal Railroad, and Mr. J. D. Williamson, president of the Chattanooga, Rome and Carrollton Railroad, fought a duel with pistols at Hoke's Bluff, Ala., near the Georgia line, on Saturday last. Williamson fired five shots and Calhoun one without effect. The duel grew out of an assertion by Calhoun that Williamson was guilty of double dealing in railroad matters. Was it any worse for Sullivan and Kilrain to pummel each other with their fists than for these representatives of chivalry to bang away at each other with pistols? By the way, somebody must have been badly frightened, considering the exhibition of bad marksmanship.

Mrs. Maybrick, the American woman who was convicted in England last week of the murder of her husband by poison, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 26th inst. Public opinion in England as well as in this country is decidedly against the propriety of the verdict in the case. It was, practically, the judgment of one man, the Judge who sat in the case, who summoned up the evidence more as a prosecutor than in a judicial way. The English sense of justice has been outraged by the result and numerous meetings have been held to express the public indignation. Efforts are being made to procure a reprieve, but the probability is that the woman will be hanged.

New York wants the World's Fair that is talked about for 1892. The original suggestion was that it be held in Washington, and there is no good reason why the locality should be changed. Washington is the most suitable place for it, as the capital of the country. Then, too, no local jealousies could be provoked by selecting that city for a grand Exposition. Washington is not a rival in trade of any of the great cities of the country. New York should modestly abandon her efforts to capture this great enterprise.

What has become of the election investigation committee in West Virginia? Prompt action was promised, but harvest is past, summer is nearly ended, and the investigation sleeps. It looks very much as if that were the intention from the outset.

The campaign for the speakership of the United States House of Representatives is expected to begin with the arrival of candidate McKinley in Washington in a day or two.

The Senate court in France has found Gen. Boulanger guilty of conspiracy and also of a treasonable attempt against the State. What the sentence will be is not stated, but the redoubtable general is at a safe distance from the jurisdiction in which he was tried, and may therefore rest assured of no worse punishment than voluntary banishment.

America's Right to Behring Sea.

The New York Tribune of the 12th instant published the following despatch, dated San Francisco, August 11th:

"In the San Francisco Argonaut yesterday appears an article by Congressmen Charles N. Felton, treating at considerable length of the question of the rights and title of the United States in Behring Sea. Mr. Felton was a member of the Conference Committee between the Senate and House in the last Congress, which passed the bill amendatory of the laws regulating fur-seal fisheries in Behring Sea. The writer first cites the well-known facts on which Russia's title to Behring Sea was based, and gives the history of Russia's control of Alaska and Behring Sea up to the date of the cession of the same to the United States, in 1868. Russia ceded to the United States all that part of Behring Sea east of a given line running nearly northeast and southwest through this sea, and retained the title to and control over that part of Behring Sea lying west of the said line. The writer then says:

"It is a matter of history that Russia, from her discovery of Behring Sea down to the cession to the United States, controlled the navigation of its waters and the taking of its marine life. To this end her navy patrolled it, and in pursuance of her laws has taken, confiscated and burned marauding vessels. She has since pursued and is now pursuing the same policy in her part of Behring Sea."

Referring to the fact that the United States and Great Britain entered protests with Russia against certain manifestoes issued by that Government in 1821, claiming certain rights over North Pacific waters, Mr. Felton shows that these protests evidently had reference to waters south of Behring Sea. He then adds:

"In all protests, correspondence, negotiations and treaties, there is no allusion to Behring Bea, Aleutian Islands, or to any region of country or sea within 1,000 miles of its eastern border; hence the sovereignty asserted and maintained by Russia over that sea from its discovery to its partition and cession to the United States, a period of over 140 years, has never been officially questioned or denied; and again, had it been understood that the waters of Behring Sea and its marine life were free to fishermen of all nations, including ours, there could have been no incentive on the part of our Government for its purchase."

Whatever title Russia had at the date of its transfer to the United States must be conceded to this Government, until it is established that Russia had no title to the same, which the writer apprehends cannot be successfully accomplished.

A Striking Contrast.

From NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

The Pennsylvania Republicans began their warm approval of the Administration of President Harrison in these words:

We cordially indorse the Administration of President Benjamin Harrison, because it steadily devotes itself to the work of broad and intelligent administration by competent and trusty officials, and makes its rule of inflexible duty the faithful observance, not the hypocritical evasion, of the public statutes.

This tribute to the character of the appointments made under the present Administration is well deserved. In fact, it is only when we see how few of the selections made are successfully criticised that we realize with what care the work has been performed. The election of General Harrison made necessary a large number of removals, was, indeed, a call for them. A great many incompetent, worthless men had been appointed under President Cleveland, whom it was necessary to remove if the public service was to be restored to its old efficiency. This work has been going on with more or less rapidity during the five months since the inauguration, but there have been so few mistakes that the opposition newspapers have had to play continually on a harp of half a dozen strings to keep up any noise at all.

The readers of the Mugwump papers will bear us witness that a few appointments, of small importance, and to the number, perhaps, of six or thereabouts, have furnished their whole stock in trade of complaints on this head against the Administration. The charges against these have been reiterated, even to the point where the Mugwump papers themselves grew weary, for they seem to have dropped them. Once in a while, to be sure, there is a brief revival, as when "The Evening Post" the other day withdrew the charges it had made against the postmaster at Wilson, N. Y., being assured by a Democratic paper, "The Buffalo Courier," that they were technical and malicious, and that the postmaster was a man of good character. Thousands of appointments to office have been made since the change of Administration, and a large proportion of them, no doubt, necessarily made, and yet the number of new men against whom any objection can be brought is so small that the opposition are left almost without ammunition. This is a remarkable record.

Is it necessary to recall the record of the Cleveland Administration in this respect? THE TRIBUNE published it in full some three years after Mr. Cleveland had been in office, and the accuracy of its showing, except in a solitary instance, was never questioned. Leaving out of consideration appointments to which objection was made simply on fitness, THE TRIBUNE found that 137 downright criminals had been appointed to office, not including in this list men guilty of political crimes, of whom there were 22; and that 59 persons directly connected with the criminal classes had also received appointments, making a total of 200 persons of this stripe who had succeeded in getting places under the Democratic Administration. We shall not rehearse the list. It was a dreary catalogue, and not one likely to gratify the patriotic pride of any American. But when the present Administration is being so persistently assailed for making changes, many of which were rendered absolutely necessary by the disgraceful appointments under Mr. Cleveland, it will do no harm to remind the public of one powerful and pressing reason for removals.

Mrs. Lavinia Atwell Fillmore, relict of the late Rev. Glezen Fillmore, who was a first cousin of the late ex-President Millard Fillmore, celebrated her 102d birthday on Tuesday at her quiet home in Clarence, New York.

A fire at Truckee, California, on Monday last, destroyed thirty-five buildings in the business portion of the town. The loss is large.

Judge David S. Terry, of California, was shot and instantly killed at Lathrop in that State on Wednesday morning, by Deputy United States Marshal David Nagle. Judge Stephen J. Field, of the United States Supreme Court, and Marshal Nagle were in the dining room at the railroad depot at Lathrop when Judge Terry and his wife, formerly Sarah Althea Hill who claimed to be the wife of Senator Sharon, arrived by an incoming train. Mrs. Terry left the room for a moment when her husband approached Judge field and slapped his face, whereupon Nagle instantly fired, shooting Terry through the heart and killing him instantly. Mrs. Terry returning, threw herself on her husband's body and a scene of the wildest excitement occurred.

From accounts of the tragedy it seems that Judge Terry had threatened to commit some indignity on Judge Field and that Nagle accompanied the latter as his protector. Terry has been engaged in several difficulties, among which was his duel with U. S. Senator Broderick, in which the latter was killed.

Dr. Emanuel Melhorn, a prominent physician, died at his home in New Chester, Adams county, Pa., on Monday last, aged 65 years.

The scaffold on which John Brown was hung at Charlestown, W. Va., in 1859, has been sold to James B. Coit, of Washington, D. C.

Trustees' Sale
OF A VALUABLE FARM
Near New Windsor, Carroll County, Md.

BY virtue of a deed of trust from Jesse Baile and Ann L. Baile, his wife, to Peter Baile and David Englar, Jr., bearing date 23d day of July, A. D. 1889, and recorded among the Land Records of Carroll county, the undersigned, as Trustees named in said deed, will offer at public sale, on the premises, situated on the public road leading from New Windsor to Jewsburg and within half a mile of the railroad depot at New Windsor, on Saturday, August 24th, A. D. 1889,

at 1 o'clock, p. m., that valuable farm on which the said Jesse Baile and wife now reside, containing of which about 12 Acres are heavily timbered. The improvements consist of a large and comfortable two-story Brick Dwelling House, 60x20 feet, with brick back-building thereto, 30x20 feet, conveniently arranged; large Ice House, Stone Spring House, Smoke and Wash Houses, BRICK BARN, 75x40 feet; large double Wagon Shed, 35x30 feet, with Corn Cribs, Hog Pens, &c., attached; together with all other necessary outbuildings usually found on a first-class farm. There is an abundance of fruit of the choicest varieties, a never-failing spring of splendid water, which is piped into and through the dwelling house, and also running water in the barnyard. The location of this property within half a mile of the station at New Windsor, the large quantity of meadow land thereto, coupled with the fact of its having two streams of water running through it, makes it admirably adapted to the dairy or milk business, which has been most successfully conducted thereon for several years past.

This property is in every respect worthy the attention of purchasers—for it is seldom that a farm so productive, with such first-class appointments, located so near a thriving town and railroad station, comes into the market.

Persons desirous of viewing the premises can call upon Jesse Baile, Esq., residing thereon, or Peter Baile, at New Windsor, and David Englar, Jr., near Medford, and for further information call upon or address Hon. Chas. B. Roberts and McKellip & Clabaugh, Attorneys-at-Law, Westminster, Md.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third part of the purchase money to be paid in cash on the day of sale or upon the ratification thereof by the Court, and the residue in two equal payments, the one to be paid in twelve months and the other in two years from the day of sale; credit payments to be secured to the satisfaction of the Trustees and bearing interest from the day of sale.

FERTILIZER PREMIUMS!

The Leading Fertilizer House in the County in Quality, Quantity and Prices.

WE desire to announce to the farmers of Carroll county and our friends generally that we have now ready at our factory for the Fall trade the largest and most complete line of Fertilizers kept in Western Maryland. All our goods are made from the driest and most carefully selected material that can be purchased, and are manipulated with special care and reference to the Fall crop. In their concentrated form they represent a greater percentage of the principal elements of plant food than any other brands on the market, as the guaranteed analysis on each sack will show. Our Dissolved Animal Bone has no superior in the State and our price for it will be found much lower than is asked by the numerous local agents for an inferior grade. Our line of Fertilizers consists of Raw Bone Meal, Bone Dust, Bone Ash, Diss. Slaughter-House Bone, Diss. Bone Black, Finely Ground Tankage, Dried Blood, Acid Phosphate or South Carolina Rock, Muriate of Potash, Sulphate of Potash or Kainit, Sulphate of Soda, Sulphate of Ammonia,

And a General Line of Agricultural Chemicals.

Farmers' and Grangers' Clubs will find it to their advantage to ascertain our prices before purchasing elsewhere. We have the largest stock in the State outside of Baltimore and we mean to sell it. It may be of service for other houses as well as the farmers to know that we can quote goods from $10 to $60 per ton, and we can assure purchasers that from $5 to $10 can be saved on lots of $100 purchased of us. We desire to have farmers remember that in buying from us they pay a single profit only. We further say to farmers who have been buying from outside agents that if they will bring to our factory one of their empty sacks with the analysis thereon, we will reproduce the same goods from $3 to $5 less per ton than the original price. A credit of $1 per ton will be allowed to any farmer who will bring his own sacks.

We are also offering as a special inducement to the farmers of our county PREMIUMS of $150 for the purpose of introducing our high grade goods. For particulars see our circulars. A full description and analysis will be found in our pamphlets to be had at our office.
