NOW AND THEN

LAND OF THE LOYAL FREE

EVA DEAN

Land of Might and Mercy;
Home of men born free;
Once again we pledge, now,
Loyalty to thee:
From thy vales and mountains,
From thy seas and plains,
Rally we to serve thee
When thy need ordains;
Land of Might and Mercy;
Home of men born free;
We thy sons proclaim, now,
Loyalty to thee!

Land of holy memories,
Land of hallowed dreams
Deathless every star that
From thy banner gleams
Endless be our homage
To the legions who
Died, in youth and courage,
To make thy promise true:
Land of holy memories,
Land of hallowed dreams,
Deathless as a star, thy
Flag triumphant gleams!

Radiant land of Morning;
Land of destiny;
Evermore the home of
Loyal liberty;
Tho' thy foes be mighty;
Be they far or near;
Where thy banner leads us,
There shall tyrants fear.
Radiant land of Morning;
Land of destiny;
Evermore the shrine of
Loyal liberty.

The Fourth of July, our Nation's birthday; How often have we read story; of the hot sizzling July day in Philadelphia; of the old patriots sitting in council in the State House; of the bell ringer's little boy sitting on the steps outside waiting to tell his father to ring the bell, and when the momentous Paper was signed that we ought to be free and independent, how old Liberty did ring out! All honor to our Forefathers who had the courage and foresight to sign a paper such as this, and our Nation honors them in honoring the Fourth of July.

We have lost a friend this week, a friend, loyal and kind, and true. And not only we, but the whole town will feel his loss for every one was his friend. He was truly a friendly man.

The very dogs knew of his kindness and the little birds were his constant care.

As he rests at Old St. Pauls, we know that his little feathered friends will sing requiems over his grave.

"After life's fitful fever, he sleeps well."

Old man weather has surely shown us extremes this year. Never for many years did the temperature go far below zero, during the winter, but it has reached unheard of heights this summer, giving us an excess of heat and cold.

He has surprised the usually humid climate of England by sending her a drought, and Byrd, in his icy fastnesses down at the South Pole, is surprised at the mildness of the winter, for that is the season that is prevailing now in those regions.

A smiling face a hearty good morning, as one goes on the way and we think of the passerby as a very happy person. But we do not know what sorrows that one is carrying in the heart. It is a closed door to us.

I have a house inside of me:
A house that people never see;
It has a door through which none pass,
And windows, but they're not of glass.
'Where do you live?' ask folks I meet,
And then I say 'On such a street';
But still I know what's really me
Lives in a house folks never see.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY OUT

The new Kent and Queen Annes Counties telephone directory of the Chesapeake and Potomac telephone Company of Baltimore City serving Chestertown, Galena, Millington, Rock Hall, Still Pond, Centreville and Queenstown has just been delivered. In making the delivery of this new directory, Manager R. O. Wright urges that all previous books be turned in or destroyed so that there will be no confusion caused by calling wrong numbers. A great many telephone numbers have been changed since the last book was issued, he says.

Undoubtedly telephone directories are referred to more often daily than any other book. People of every walk of life use the telephone book many times each day in carrying on their business and social affairs. For many years the telephone directory has been recognized as a valuable source of information on the proper spelling of peoples' names, and as well furnishing their street addresses.

Telephone directories contain a great amount of useful information on how to get the best service from one's telephone, how to make out of town calls, what to do in reporting trouble, how to call information, and many other phases of telephone service.
