Future Wheat Growing.

From the AMERICAN FARMER.

Obervers who do not observe assert that the culture of wheat in the United States has passed its climax, that it will steadily decrease in the next few years and that as a profitable occupation it no longer leads, says the Milling World. Let us see. This country has now about 65,000,000 inhabitants. The wheat consumed by them averages about 350,000,000 bushels annually. We raise a surplus of from 80,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels a year on our present acreage. Taking the latter figure as a basis for calculation and allowing our population to increase 2½ per cent. a year by natural increase and immigration, how long will it be before we will need every bushel of our now exported surplus to feed our own people? The increase in population will be about 1,500,000 annually, calling for about 7,500,000 bushels of wheat more each year to feed the new consumers. Even if the increase called for only 6,000,000 bushels more each year, we will have overtaken our 120,000,000 bushels surplus in twenty years. In other words, in 1909 the United States sowing only the present acreage to wheat, will have no surplus for Great Britain or any other country. It is easy to understand that, as the demand outgrows the supply relatively, as the home consumption gradually overtakes production, wheat-growing may yet become a far more profitable industry than it is now or than it ever has been. European economic writers foresee the inevitable expansion of the home consumption demanded in the United States and they appreciate the situation so well and so thoroughly that they openly advocate the development of India or any other wheat-growing country that promises to grow enough wheat to supply Europe's needs when the American supply shall be needed for the American demand. Meanwhile, wheat-growing in America remains a great industry that shows no signs of decadence and that promises great things for the future.

At Castle Garden there are many theories of the great decline in European immigration to this country during the first half of the current year. It is said to be owing to the reduction of the surplus population of several countries of Europe by the immigration of past years, to the difficulties encountered by many immigrants in finding employment here, to the new inducements offered to settlers by several South American governments, to the action of our consuls abroad in preventing undesirable persons from leaving for New York, and to the strict enforcement here of the contract labor law. The falling off in the arrivals at Castle Garden during the first half of the year as compared with those in the corresponding period of last year was nearly thirty-seven per cent. or from 239,325 to 173,678; and this falling off was from all the European countries from which immigrants come to the United States.

Belgium still holds its own as the most drunken country in Europe. On an average each man, woman, and child consumes yearly 250 quarts of beer and 13 quarts of spirits. It may be that Bavarians drink more beer than that, and Russians more spirits, but taking both together, the Belgian is unrivaled. The government is at last aroused to a sense of the evils of the situation, and some restrictive laws are to be put in force. The right to collect by legal process bets incurred in drinking houses has been abolished; it is forbidden to sell drink to persons under 17 years of age and to sell any one liquor until he is drunk is made a crime. The effect of these laws will be looked for with interest. It can scarcely fail to do good.

* * *

An addition has been recently made to the food plants produced in this country, which in time may prove a strong rival of Indian corn. The new plant is the sweet cassava of the tropics. It is very productive, and good land will give at least ten tons of cassava root per acre. Its main use is for conversion into starch, tapioca and glucose, although it can be utilized in an infinite number of ways.

* * *

It is stated that about five hundred veterinary surgeons in Great Britain have signed a paper condemning overhead check reins as painful to horses and productive of disease. It distorts the windpipe, and is liable to cause paralysis of the muscles of the face, apoplexy, coma and inflammation of the brain, all these resulting in shortening the life of the horse.

* * *

The singular fact has been pointed out that a ton of seven-eighths inch dynamite cartridges, placed end to end and reaching about one mile, would be consumed in about a quarter of a second if a cartridge at each end were denoted, while if such a train were simply ignited its combustion would require several minutes.

A wealthy young lawyer spent two days and a night over one case, and at the end of that time could not tell which side he was on. It was a case of champagne.

She Lived to Spite Him.

A certain maiden lady was twice in her life engaged to be married, and each time some unforseen event interposed to destroy her hopes of matrimonial bliss. Hers was a sad case. Time began to wrinkle her fair brow, and no new suitors appeared. To add to her distress she became sick nigh unto death. The assistant clergyman of the parish—a bashful youth—was sent for. The sick room was well filled with sympathizing neighbors when the young divine made his appearance and, after some remarks, proceeded to read a portion of the Scriptures. He fell upon the chapter in which the woman of Samaria is introduced. When he read the words, "Go, call thy husband," the sick woman groaned a little, but when he uttered the words, "The woman answered and said 'I have no husband,'" the old lady rose upright in her bed, and with flashing eyes squeaked out, "I'm no' gaun to staun sic impidence frae onybody, preacher or no. I winner yer no ashamed o' yersel', ye rascal. I've had two chances for a man, an' I'll leeve to see anither—see if I don't." And she did.

Pretty Girls of New Orleans.

On a first visit to New Orleans one is impressed by the peculiar appearance of the women. One can see in New Orleans more delicious-looking young girls and more prematurely old-looking women than in any city in the country. The girls, up to the age of eighteen or twenty, are lovely. They have rich complexions, bright eyes, the mingled languor and vivacity that render the Southern girl so fascinating. Then, too, in summer time most of them wear white dresses with lace or open-work sleeves and yoke, through which a creamy, satiny skin glints with aggravating attractiveness. There is but one word that fully describes them to the masculine mind. They are delicious-looking. But they fade very quickly, and this accounts for the number of old-looking women of twenty-five years or thereabouts one sees on the streets, in the cars or in their carriages. And when they get old-looking they lose all their attractiveness. They are any thing but delicious-looking.

"Now, sir," said the judge, who had been sorely tried by the stupidity of the preceding witness, "I want you to give your testimony so that the jury can form an intelligent idea of the matter, or I will commit you for contempt." The witness looked earnestly upon the jury and shook his head despairingly as he rose and left the box. "Send me to jail jedge," he said resignedly, "There's no use wastin' time here." He was excused.

"How do women go up stairs?" asks Mabel Jenness in one of her talks on physical culture, and answers the question as follows: They bend forward, letting the figure flop together. The chest is contracted and they can't breathe. When they reach the top the heart is beating like a trip hammer. The effort would be reduced one-half simply by standing straight, keeping the chest up and breathing as one ought to.

"Is the coon a smart animal?" asked a stranger of old Si Jackson, on Onion Creek. "I should say dey was smart." "Well, how smart are they?" "A coon played me de meanest trick you eber heered tell on. I foun' a hole whar de Coon went inter de groun', an' I waited dar all day long to shoot dat coon, an' when he did come out he was a polecat."

* * *

All plants and trees consume water in large quantities. Sir John Laws discovered that an acre of barley will take up 1094 tons of water in two days. Trees and plants are composed more largely of water than any other substance. The branch of a tree will lose nine-tenths of its weight by drying.

There was something more than orthography in Josh Billings' writings, after all. Some fifty or sixty ambitious writers have endeavored to fill his shoes, but they only rattle round without attracting any particular attention.

"Judge a man by his eyes, but a woman always by her lips," said Benjamin Franklin. Now we understand how Benjamin happened to get so deeply interested in the study of electrical phenomena.

The international congress of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals in Paris assembled, have passed resolutions condemning blinkers and the long whips and the bits now in use.

FERTILIZER PREMIUMS!

The Leading Fertilizer House in the County in Quality, Quantity and Prices.

WE desire to announce to the farmers of Carroll county and our friends generally that we have now ready at our factory for the Fall trade the largest and most complete line of Fertilizers kept in Western Maryland. All our goods are made from the driest and most carefully selected material that can be purchased, and are manipulated with special care and reference to the Fall crop. In their concentrated form they represent a greater percentage of the principal elements of plant food than any other brands on the market, as the guaranteed analysis on each sack will show. Our Dissolved Animal Bone has no superior in the State and our price for it will be found much lower than is asked by the numerous local agents for an inferior grade. Our line of Fertilizers consists of Raw Bone Meal, Bone Dust, Bone Ash, Diss. Slaughter-House Bone, Diss. Bone Black, Finely Ground Tankage, Dried Blood, Acid Phosphate or South Carolina Rock, Muriate of Potash, Sulphate of Potash or Kainit, Sulphate of Soda, Sulphate of Ammonia,

And a General Line of Agricultural Chemicals.

Farmers' and Grangers' Clubs will find it to their advantage to ascertain our prices before purchasing elsewhere. We have the largest stock in the State outside of Baltimore and we mean to sell it. It may be of service for other houses as well as the farmers to know that we can quote goods from $10 to $60 per ton, and we can assure purchasers that from $5 to $10 can be saved on lots of $100 purchased of us. We desire to have farmers remember that in buying from us they pay a single profit only. We further say to farmers who have been buying from outside agents that if they will bring to our factory one of their empty sacks with the analysis thereon, we will reproduce the same goods from $3 to $5 less per ton than the original price. A credit of $1 per ton will be allowed to any farmer who will bring his own sacks.

We are also offering as a special inducement to the farmers of our county PREMIUMS of $150 for the purpose of introducing our high grade goods. For particulars see our circulars. A full description and analysis will be found in our pamphlets to be had at our office.

FARMERS!

LOOK SHARP!

AND

Study Your Interest Well!

The Farmers' Fertilizer Company

Again calls the attention of Farmers of Carroll and adjoining counties to its large and carefully selected stock of

FERTILIZERS

Which are manufactured of PURE material only. These goods have been thoroughly tested and have in every case proven satisfactory. The company therefore feels justified in saying that its goods are the best in the county. In addition to this the company assures the farmers that its prices are the lowest for the same quality of goods of any factory, agency or house in the county for the following reasons:

1st. It buys its material from 75 cents to $2.00 per ton less than any other home companies because of buying in larger quantities.

2nd. It has no agents.

3rd. It pays no premiums and, better than all, instead of conceding a gain of from $5.00 to $10.00 only on $100 purchases it assures to every purchaser an advantage of from $2.00 to $3.00 PER TON, according to the quality of goods, less than any other establishment in the county, which is a saving of from $12.00 to $16.00 on $100 purchases.

With a view to economy the Farmers' Fertilizer Company carries no more varieties of brands than is needed for the production of a good crop. What it has, however, are pure and suited to the soils of the county.

The company will take pleasure in mixing at a reasonable cost any formula desired.

Farmers who furnish their own sacks will be allowed $1.00 for each ton of Fertilizer purchased. CASH SALES will be allowed a discount of 2 per cent.

In addition to its well known

BRANDS 1, 2 AND 3,

Three new Brands have been added, ranging in price from $17.00 to $19.00 per ton, which are from $2.00 to $3.00 per ton cheaper than any goods of the same quality on the market.

To be convinced of the truth of these declarations call at its factory and see for yourselves.
