FEEDER CATTLE HERE NEXT WEEK

455 HEAD DUE FROM WEST

The largest single shipment of cattle in or out of Kent County will arrive next week when 455 head of western steers will be shipped here for pasture.

The shipment will be made by a special train with eleven stock cars and will come direct to Chestertown where they will be examined by Dr. Durner, County Vetenarian and then transported by truck to all parts of the county. The cattle will be pastured by 25 farmers, representing practically every district in the county.

This shipment is part of the Federal project of transferring these cattle from the drouth stricken western states to eastern pastures where they will be cared for for a three months period, the farmers to receive $1.75 per head per month for the use of pasture and water. During the three months period, as the cattle fatten, they will be shipped to packers and used for relief purposes.

Those who expect to see a herd of long horn rangy western cattle will probably be disappointed as the old western ranches have been divided into smaller fenced in farms where the more productive breed of beef cattle are raised.

These cattle have been without sufficient water so long that as a rule when they are turned out on pasture they will run for water and lay around in the streams for a day or two before they start to eat.

JOHN CHARLES THOMAS TO SING HERE

John Charles Thomas, Metropolitan Opera Star, will sing at the Club House of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club tonight, Saturday, during the dance.

Mr. Thomas is competing in the Eastern Shore Ameature Championship golf tournament at the local club.

Starting as a choir boy in Memorial Church, Baltimore, his baritone voice has won him world wide fame and a place in the New York Metropolitan Opera.

During the early part of his career he has visited in Chestertown at the Bordley home and has given concerts here. He now has a palatial home near Easton and is a member of the Easton Country Club.

PREPARE CHILDREN FOR SCHOOL

PROTECT HEALTH OF BEGINNERS

Schools will open in a few days and the army of youngsters, who will reach school age, this year, will join their older brothers and sisters on the great pilgrimage along the Royal Road of Learning. Preparations are being made for the enrollment of over 40,000 first graders in the schools throughout the State. About one fourth of the total are colored.

'If your Doris or David is starting to school this year,' Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, says to the parents of the youngsters who will tackle the three R's for the first time, in the schools in the counties, 'don't wait until either of them comes home from school with a headache, or with aching teeth, to find out that they need medical or dental attention. Take them to your doctor, now. Have them looked over thoroughly; if they need attention of any sort have it done before they start to school.

'The transition from babyhood to childhood puts a great strain physically as well as mentally upon the growing child and the least that the parents can do is to see that these small human machines are in the best possible shape for the great adventure. You would do as much or more for your car if you were going to start on a trip into an unknown territory. Be equally careful to have your child 'inspected' and got into the best condition possible before his name is entered upon the school books.

'And remember: Our Maryland law will not permit a child who has not been vaccinated against smallpox to be enrolled in any public school in the State. If your child has not been vaccinated against smallpox, have that done before you take him or her to school. We have had only one case of smallpox in Maryland in the last five years, that case was reported in 1931. But smallpox is prevalent in other parts of the country. Over 6,000 cases were reported in the United States, in 1933, and unvaccinated people are likely to get it whereever it occurs.

'If your child has not been protected against diphtheria, have him or her protected against that disease also, before you send him to school. We have been able to keep Maryland comparatively free from smallpox by the careful observance of our requirements in regard to vaccination. And we hope eventually to have as clear a record concerning diphtheria. The treatment has been greatly simplified since toxoid has been used to protect children against the disease. Only one treatment is necessary. Ask your doctor about it.'

BUOY ROCK TO REMAIN OPEN

In an article appearing in our issue of last week in reference to the opening of the Buoy Rock oyster grounds, the subcaption was misleading as to the closing of these grounds. We are publishing the following letter so as to correct any misleading interpretation of the article:

Editor, Chestertown Treanscript,
Chestertown, Maryland.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for inserting the news item concerning Bucy Rock but we are afraid that the second line of your caption is a bit misleading. Nothing in the item indicates that the rock will be closed again on January 22nd. It merely states that the closed period this year was from January 22nd to October 15th. When a rock is once closed and a definite time set for the opening, to close it again requires a new advertisemet. It is, of course, too early at this date to say what will be done later in the season.

Yours very truly,
H. H. JOHNSON,
Chief Clerk.

Judge—You are accused of hitting the complainant with an antique egg. What have you to say for yourself?

Prisoner—Not guilty. Your Honor. That egg hatched on the way and flew off; it never hit him.

TO COMBAT HORSE DISEASE

(BY COUNTY AGENT McVEAN)

Experience with the outbreak of Encephalomyelitis of horses and mules which occurred during the late summer and fall of last year through the counties of Southern Maryland and the Southern part of the Eastern Shore, seemed to point to mosquitoes and possibly other insects as an agency in the spread of the disease. General protective measures against this disease this year should include the use of fly sprays and other means of keeping insects away, and keeping the animals out of low-lying pastures and in darkened stables during the time that mosquitoes and other insects are most active. The disease manifests itself in the form of sudden dullness, stumbling gait, loss of appetite, resting against the side of the stall, barn or fence and very rapid general decline and death. All animals should be closely watched for any change from normal behavior. At the first sign the local veterinarian should be called, since a serum has been put on the market this year which is made for use in this disease. Tetanus Antitoxin and such other products made for use in other diseases have no value in Encephalomyelitis. The disease should also be reported to the Live Stock Sanitary Service, or to one of its agents or to the County Agricultural Agent.

The Curbstone Diplomat

WILLIAM S. COLLINS

At last a Town Ordinance has been enforced. The recently passed ordinance forbidding trucks to use Water Street is being enforced about as well as any ordinance could. A sign warning trucks not to use the street was placed at the entrance. The trucks cotinued to use the street. Witnesses say some would stop read the sign and just come on through anyhow. The town placed an officer at the other end of the street. As the trucks came through he would arrest them. This caused a big howl the people claiming it was nothing but a trick and that the officer should be stationed on the other end of the street to warn the drivers. Well, that is where the officer is stationed this Friday morning.

Yes, the enforcement of law does not always meet with popular approval. If the long ago town commissioners of Chestertown had attended to their jobs, a lot of the trouble caused such as the widening of Maple Ave. would never have happened.

Just let us read some of the local laws and ordinances.

Ibed, sec. 59.

They shall have power to adopt and enforce, by proper fines and penalties, all by laws and ordinances necessary for the good government of said town; to protect and preserve the property and health of the inhabitants thereof; to prevent, abate and remove nuisances; to lay out and establish new streets and alleys, and to widen, straighten, grade, extend or close up any street or alley; to locate, lay out, construct and keep in repair all necessary drains, seweres, sidewalks, culverts ad bridges; to provide for the appointment and compensation of bailiffs, police and other officers, and to define their duties; to erect and regulate markets; to provide for the inspection and cleaning of chimneys and private premises, to establish and regulate wards and fire companies; to restrain or prohibit gaming; to license bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables, theatrical and other public amusements; to regulate and protect water pipes, fire plugs, hydrants, sewers, fountains, pumps and water apparatus in the streets and alleys of the town; to fix, impore ad collect fines, penalties and forfeitures for the breach of the by laws or ordinances of the town; to levy and collect taxes on the assessable property within the town limits; to require the laying of gutters and the paving of sidewalks by the owners of the adjoining property, and the keepig of them in repair; to provide for the arrest and fining or commitment to the Kent couty jail of all vagrants, tramps, drunken or disorderly persons; (now get this one) to cause surveys and plots of the streets and town lots to be made, and when adopted by said commissioners, to be recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Kent County; to prevent and prohibit all encroachments upon the streets; to impose an annual tax upon dogs and public carts; prohibit horses, cows or other animals from running at large; to regulate the erection of buildings, and prohibit the construction of wooden buildings where the fire risk would warrant it, unless the same be protected by fire walls; to preserve order, and protect persons and property from violence, danger and destruction; to erect hospitals or pest houses, ad provide for the proper management of the same; to restrain or prohibit fast driving through the streets; the firing of guns, pistols, cannons or fire works; to contract for water supply for fire purposes, and provide for the payment of the same; to erect lamps and light the streets, or contrast for the lighting of the same, and provide for the payment thereof; to locate and restrain, or to prohibit and suppress the keeping of hogs or shoats, slaughter houses, fertilizer factories, or houses for the storage of fertilizer, or houses for the storage of fertilizers, within the town limits, to purchase and keep in proper condition, hose, hose carriages, engines, ladders, trucks, and other apparatus for extinguishing fires, and protecting property from fire, and to erect and keep in repair proper buildings thereof; to require bonds, with penalties, from officers of the town, for the faithful performance of duty; to protect the property of any water company, or gas or electric light company, or the owner of such, which may supply water, gas or electric light to the town or citizens thereof, and generally for the promotion and securig of the health and good government of the town, and to give effect to the powers vested in said commissioners.

For a long period of time the affairs of the town were conducted in a very loose manner. Very few if any improvemets would be made in a year. Since a group some years ago investigated the finances we have been having improvements each year.

What we need now in the town is a revision of the local laws and ordinances and a more rigid enforcement.

According to the local laws it looks as though the town does not give the fire company the authority or the support they should.

Ordinances that require every dog to be muzzled and some others of that nature should be revised or repealed.
