Why the Leaves Turn.

"Probably not one person in a thousand knows why leaves change their color in the fall," remarked an eminent botanist the other day. "The common and old fashioned idea is that all this red and golden glory we see now is caused by frosts. A true and scientific explanation of the causes of the coloring of leaves would necessitate a long and intricate discussion. Stated briefly and in proper language, those causes are these: The green matter in the tissue of a leaf is composed of two colors, red and blue. When the sap ceases to flow in the fall and the natural growth of the tree ceases oxidation of the tissue takes place. Under certain conditions the green of the leaf changes to red, under different conditions it takes on a yellow or brown tint. The difference in color is due to the difference in combination of the original constituents of the green tissue and to the varying conditions of climate, exposure and soil. A dry, cold climate produces more brilliant foliage than one that is damp and warm. This is the reason that our American autumns are so much more gorgeous than those of England. There are several things about leaves that even science cannot explain. For instance, why one of two trees growing side by side, of the same age and having the same exposure, should take on a brilliant red in the fall and the other should turn yellow; or why one branch of a tree should be highly colored and the rest of the tree have only a yellow tint, are questions that are as impossible to answer as why one member of a family should be perfectly healthy and another sickly. Maples and oaks have the brightest colors."

The Mount of Olives.

It is nearly 200 feet above the hill on which Jerusalem is built, 2,700 feet above the Mediterranean and 4,000 feet above the Dead sea. On the highest spot the Russians have built an extensive convent and a tall and graceful campanile, from out of which a chime of bells rings to the praise of Him whose ascension consecrates the locality. The Carmelite Sisters have a large convent on the brow of the hill built by Mme. de la Tour d'Auvergne, Duchesse of Bouillon. By a curious perversion the site is said to be the place where the Lord's prayer was spoken. It is inscribed on thirty-two large panels on the walls of the convent in as many languages, among which I noticed the Hindoostanee, the Chinese and the Tartary tongues. Olive orchards are planted on parts of the hill, but the western slope, reaching down to the Valley of Kedron and Jehosaphat, is a dreary graveyard crowded with gray tombstones, bearing inscriptions in Hebrew or Arabic, according to the faith of the sleepers. Close by this desolation of sepulchers is the inclosure called the Garden of Gethsemane and a beautiful Russian church in full Muscovite style, consecrated last October, on the visit of the Grand Dukes Sergius and Paul.

Wonders of Philosophy.

The polypus, like the fabled hydra, receives new life from the knife lifted to destroy it. The fly spider lays an egg as long as itself. There are four thousand and forty-one muscles in the caterpillar. Hook discovered fourteen thousand mirrors in the eye of a drone; and to effect the respiration of a carp, thirteen thousand three hundred arteries, vessels, veins, bones, etc., are necessary. The body of every spider contains four little masses pierced with a multitude of imperceptible holes, each hole permitting the passage of a single thread, all the threads to the amount of a thousand to each mass, join together when they come out, and make the single thread with which the spider spins its web; so that what we call the spider's thread consists of more than four thousand united.

Good Showing for Texas Negroes.

It is said that the negroes of Texas have no just cause for complaint, inasmuch as they own 1,000,000 acres of land and pay taxes on $20,000,000 of property. But it would seem that a race which has risen from the position of owning just nothing at all, plus being encumbered with a dead weight of absolute ignorance, plus being subject to arbitrary laws and still more arbitrary customs, to such a degree of prosperity in such a short space of time is not so absolutely "inferior" as certain gentlemen would have us believe. It seems probable that at least a few of the more prosperous negroes are fitted to take part in State, or even in national legislation.

A very nice breakfast dish is made by baking ripe tomatoes. Take a shallow earthen dish that can be sent to the table and cover the bottom with nice tomatoes cut in halves, placing the cut sides up and sprinkling them with pepper, salt and bits of butter; spread fine bread crumbs over them and bake half an hour.

Fussy Old Gentleman—"There's a fly on your nose, Mum." Irascible Old Lady—"Well, he ain't yours, is he?"

Needed Their Prayers.

Col. Dick Wintersmith, sitting under the trees in front of the Ebbitt House the other day, says a Washington letter to the New York Tribune, related the following yarn:

"It seems that the congregation of a church in one of the southern counties of Virginia was one day greatly shocked upon learning that their preacher had departed under most discreditable circumstances. On the following Sunday nearly every one in the congregation was desirous of hushing up the scandal, and under great restraint many interesting conversations were held merely to prove that the members of the church could rise above sensational gossip. Just before the services were closed Brother Elijah P. Brookrod arose and said:

"'Brethren and sisters. Since we last met in this house something which seems to have cast a gloom over this congregation has occurred. We were all much attached to our minister; in fact, we loved him, and now I propose we offer up a prayer for the wanderer.'

"A sensational wave passed over the audience. Another brother arose, and, turning to Elijah P. Brookrod, said:

"'I am astonished that you should desire the congregation to pray for our erring minister—you, above all others.'

"'Why?'

"'Because he ran away with your wife.'

"'Yes, I know,' Elijah replied, 'and that is the reason why I think he will need our prayers.'"

Squelched.

A new member of Congress from one of the rural districts of Pennsylvania was ambitious to distinguish himself by his oratory, and accordingly watched for a favorable opportunity. At length an occasion presented itself. A motion was made in the House for enforcing the execution of some statute; whereupon the orator in embryo rose solemnly up, and after giving three loud hems, spoke as follows:

"Mr. Speaker—Have we laws or have we not laws? If we have not laws, and they are not observed, to what end are those laws made?"

So saying he sat down, his chest heaving high with conscious consequence.

Instantly Cox, the clown of the House, with a twinkle in his eye, rose and delivered his thoughts in these words:

"Mr. Speaker—Did the honorable gentleman who spoke last speak to the purpose or not speak to the purpose? If he did not speak to the purpose, to what purpose did he speak?"

That particular orator never disturbed the House again.

A famous Frenchwoman's witticism about the way her own countrywoman differ from other women in their dress is perhaps deserving of attention on part of some American women.

"There are two ways," she says, "of following the fashion.

"A Frenchwoman follows it as a dog follows its master. But all other women follow it as a blind man follows his dog."

Washington, D. C., has a policeman of an original turn of mind. Being detailed to watch a dwelling from which the milk can had been stolen early every morning for more than a week, he hid in the limb of a large tree in front of the house, and when the thief appeared, lowered himself suddenly and took the rascal into custody.

Tommy—I'm going to tell ma you pushed me overboard.

Little Johnnie—You'd better not.

Tommy—She'll lick me if I say I fell over.

Little Johnnie—That's what you'd better tell her. If you put the blame on me I'll lick you, and I'll hurt you more than your mother will.

A couple of street urchins were standing in front of a grocery, where a box of macaroni was displayed. Said the first: "Johnnie, what's them?" pointing to the box. The second boy, with an air of superior knowledge that was simply delicious, exclaimed: "Why, doncher know? It's what they lights the gas with."

A naturalist who has been prying into the matter says that the jackass bird has become totally extinct. We think there must be some mistake here. It was only yesterday that we saw at least a dozen men carrying canes or folded umbrellas on their shoulders.

"Dat war bery sad 'bout my son, Mr. Jimison; he stole some cucumbers t'other night."

"Am dat so? How foolish! He'll get ketched some ob dese times, sah."

"Oh, dat war'n't de foolish part, sah; de fool niggah eat 'em."

A young woman of Southport puts the most deliberate method of suicide on record. She walked into the water and sat down. After awhile she lay down and the tide rose and carried her off.

A marine paradox has just come to light. A Sound steamer has been condemned as unsound.

FARMERS!

LOOK SHARP!

AND

Study Your Interest Well!

The Farmers' Fertilizer Company

Again calls the attention of Farmers of Carroll and adjoining counties to its large and carefully selected stock of

FERTILIZERS

Which are manufactured of PURE material only. These goods have been thoroughly tested and have in every case proven satisfactory. The company therefore feels justified in saying that its goods are the best in the county. In addition to this the company assures the farmers that its prices are the lowest for the same quality of goods of any factory, agency or house in the county for the following reasons:

1st. It buys its material from 75 cents to $2.00 per ton less than any other home companies because of buying in larger quantities.

2nd. It has no agents.

3rd. It pays no premiums and, better than all, instead of conceding a gain of from $5.00 to $10.00 only on $100 purchases it assures to every purchaser an advantage of from $2.00 to $3.00 PER TON, according to the quality of goods, less than any other establishment in the county, which is a saving of from $12.00 to $16.00 on $100 purchases.

With a view to economy the Farmers' Fertilizer Company carries no more varieties of brands than is needed for the production of a good crop. What it has, however, are pure and suited to the soils of the county.

The company will take pleasure in mixing at a reasonable cost any formula desired.

Farmers who furnish their own sacks will be allowed $1.00 for each ton of Fertilizer purchased. CASH SALES will be allowed a discount of 2 per cent.

In addition to its well known

BRANDS 1, 2 AND 3,

Three new Brands have been added, ranging in price from $17.00 to $19.00 per ton, which are from $2.00 to $3.00 per ton cheaper than any goods of the same quality on the market.

To be convinced of the truth of these declarations call at its factory and see for yourselves.
