Another Railroad Survey.

So many railroad surveys are in course of prosecution at this time that it is somewhat difficult to "keep the run" of them. For instance, if the Chambersburg Valley Spirit is correct, the Western Maryland Railroad is seeking a line to the West from or near the terminus of the Baltimore and Cumberland Valley Railroad. The Valley Spirit says: "The engineers now employed in making a survey for a Western Maryland connection with the West have got a little beyond Orrstown. Their line starts at the Waddell farm between Southampton station and Shippensburg, runs westward to Herr's mill and then along the south side of the Conodoguinett, crossing that stream near the stone bridge west of Orrstown. The engineers are heading for Roxbury Gap."

A Team of Horses Drowned.

On Thursday Mr. Isaac Brilhart, of the vicinity of Wakefield, while on his way with a load of corn to the mill of Mr. Elhanan W. Englar, met with an accident that resulted in the loss of his entire team of four horses. The road crosses the breast of the mill-dam, which is 12 or 15 feet high, while at one point the water in the dam is about as many feet deep. The roadway is just wide enough for a single wagon, and just as the team had reached the point where the water is greatest in depth, the horses became frightened, it is supposed by the flying spray, and turned suddenly into the dam, carrying Mr. Brilhart and the wagon with them. He managed, in some way, to get out of the water, making a very narrow escape, but the horses were all drowned and the wagon with its contents submerged. Some of the animals were quite valuable and Mr. Brilhart's loss is upwards of six hundred dollars. The bodies of the drowned horses were taken from the dam late Thursday afternoon.

Proceedings of Circuit Court.

Edward Lynch vs. The Western Maryland Railroad Company. Action on covenant. On trial at last report. This suit was brought to enforce a covenant and for damages for breach of contract. In June, 1871, Mr. Lynch conveyed to the Railroad Company a water right and privilege to enter upon his lands, near the limits of this city, for the purpose of keeping the same in repair. In consideration of this grant the company contracted, in writing, to issue a free pass to the grantor, his heirs and assigns for ever, on all trains of said company. Under this contract Mr. Lynch was given a pass upon which he was permitted to ride, not only on the main line, but on all the roads operated by the Western Maryland Railroad Company, until the passage of the inter-state commerce law. The pass was then restricted to the main line; but Mr. Lynch insisted on being permitted to ride free on all other lines under the control of the company, and in March, 1888, upon refusing to pay fare on the Baltimore and Cumberland Valley Railroad, was required to leave the train on which he was riding between Edgemont and Chambersburg, Pa. The suit just tried was then instituted. Prayers of plaintiff and defendant were submitted and argued on Saturday last, and on Monday morning, the court, Judge Smith on the bench, granted the single prayer of the defendant as follows:

"That there is no evidence in the cause legally sufficient to entitle the plaintiff to ride free on the cars of the defendant company, whilst being employed in operating and using the Baltimore and Cumberland Valley Railroad Company, as described in the evidence, or to require the defendant company to issue to him a pass permitting him so to do, and if the jury shall find that the plaintiff was removed from the car of the defendant company, whilst being used as aforementioned and after the plaintiff refused, on demand of defendant's agent, to pay fare for riding on said car, whilst being used as aforesaid, that then the plaintiff is not entitled to recover."

The plaintiff excepted to the decision of the court and gave notice of an appeal therefrom. Maulsby and Henning for plaintiff; Roberts and Marshall, for defendant.

His Honor, Judge Jones, arrived on Monday morning and sat with Judge Smith during the succeeding proceedings.

The State of Maryland vs. Charles H. Wilson. Larceny; tried before a jury; verdict, guilty. Henning for State; Bond and Reifsnider & Reifsnider, for defendant. This prosecution was for the theft of clothing, towels, &c., from the clothes-line of Geo. A. Davis, in Mt. Airy district.

State vs. Frank Rutledge. Keeping a gaming table; plea of guilty. Henning for State; Bond for traverser.

Mary A. Duvall vs. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. Action for damages; tried before a jury.

This suit was an action for $5,000 damages for injuries received by the plaintiff by being thrown from her horse at Mt. Airy, August 8th, 1888. The accident occurred as Miss Duvall was crossing defendant's tracks at Mt. Airy, and was caused by the horse becoming frightened at the noise caused by the sudden blowing off of steam from an engine standing near the crossing. The plaintiff alleged negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendant and its employes and agents. The defendant averred that the engine was fitted with an automatic safety-valve, as are all locomotive engines, which permitted steam to escape at a certain pressure, and was really a necessary precaution to prevent explosions; and that the accident was unavoidable and not the result of negligence.

Prayers of plantiff and defendant were submitted and argued on Wednesday after which Court adjourned until Friday morning, when a prayer of the defendant, substantially alleging that no negligence had been committed, was granted, and the case thereby taken from the jury and decided adversely to the plaintiff. Exceptions were taken and the case will be taken to the Court of Appeals. McKellip & Clabaugh and Brooks, for plaintiff, Bond for defendant.

The roads in this section are in very bad condition, caused by the recent excessive rains. The turnpike through this place is not much better than a mortar bed some inches in depth and only the timely laying of street crossings by the town authorities has helped to mitigate the discomforts of those who are required to cross the streets many times a day. The addition of about a foot of stone on the street bed and better drainage is required to overcome the condition of this highway during periods of rain such as have been experienced so much recently.

The growing grain is looking well, even that sowed at a late period being well advanced by the favorable weather.

Miss Mary Hosfeldt, the young girl who was so badly burned last Saturday week, is still in an uncertain condition, though feeling generally better. The burns are very sore, however, and there is danger that in healing contractions of the muscles will be caused that may give her a great deal of trouble in walking.

Gamber Items.

The sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Samuel Knight, which occurred on Saturday last, at his home on the Deer Park farm, about two miles from this place, was a great shock to the community. Mr. Knight formerly resided here, but sold his property and removed to the farm mentioned. He was only sick about a week. On Friday, 15th inst., he assisted in cutting timber for a couple of new buildings to be erected on the farm, and though not feeling well the next day, attended to some work about his home. His illness increased, but he would not send for a physician until Mr. Geo. Carr, the owner of the farm, called to see him on business and sent for Dr. Moores, of Finksburg. The Dr. found him suffering with erysipelas and pneumonia. Blood poisoning ensued, causing his death as stated. He leaves a wife and four small children. He was a son-in-law of Mr. Wm. S. Gamber, of this place, and was about 39 years of age. He was highly esteemed in the community, and his funeral, which occurred at 3 o'clock, P. M., Sunday, at Providence M. P. Church, was attended by a very large concourse of friends and relatives. The funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Lassell.

Brothers, of this place, has moved there with his family and contemplates working in it.

Farmers have generally housed their corn and are now plowing for next year's crop, preparing winter firewood, &c.

Emory McQuay and Wm. Grimes, two youths of this vicinity, left their homes last Saturday night, since which time their whereabouts has been unknown. It is generally supposed by their friends, however, that they either went to Pikesville, Baltimore county, or to the city, as they had just returned from there the night before they disappeared.

Mr. David N. McQuay has been ordered to appear before a board of pension examining physicians in Delaware, in connection with his application for a soldier's pension. Mr. McQuay says the order requiring him to go to Delaware was a mistake of the pension agent.

Some of our young friends are often seen driving to the Cross Roads, and we expect soon to be able to report several weddings. Travel on friends. We were once young ourself, and can heartily sympathize with you in the pleasure of your courting days.

The National Silver Convention at St. Louis adopted resolutions declaring that the demonetization of silver has worked a practical violation of every contract existing in the United States, entailed uncounted losses, reduced prices more than thirty per cent., and makes debts practically perpetual, and requesting that Congress authorize the free and unlimited coinage of standard silver dollars of the present weight and fineness, to be legal tender for all debts, public and private, equal with gold, and that until such a provision is made the Secretary of the Treasury be required to coin the maximum $2,000,000 worth of silver per month.

Two road agents, or train robbers, concealed themselves near the water-tank on Pryor Creek, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, in the Choctaw Nation, Indian Territory, last Sunday night, and when an express train, bound north, stopped, took possession of it at the muzzles of their revolvers and succeeded in robbing the safe of the Pacific Express Company of fifty thousand dollars. Another account states that there were five robbers in the gang and that they only secured $1,000, all the rest of the money having been hidden by the express messenger.

Frederick H. Chapin and Charles P. Howard, of Hartford, Conn., have discovered and explored an almost inaccessible palace or fortress of the cliff-dwellers in Southern Colorado. It is 425 feet long and 80 feet high, with 124 rooms traceable on the ground floor. The structure is of masonry, with mortar, and would hold over a thousand people. No metal was found about the building, and no trace of the people who lived there. The explorers estimate the age of the ruins at six hundred years or more. Other ruins were also found.

Some young men in Southern Indiana went coon-hunting, Friday night of last week, and bagged a female tiger, about three-fourths grown. The animal had been committing depredations on the sheep-folds and pig-pens in the neighborhood for a year past. It is supposed to have escaped from a circus. It was killed by a volley from the rifles of the young men, who thought it was a panther.

In Snydersburg, November 18th, 1889, of diphtheria, John Bertram, son of Jos. H. and Martha A. Lippy, aged 5 years, 3 months and 1 day.

"One by one earth's ties are broken,
As we see our love decay;
And the hopes so fondly cherished
Brighten but to pass away.

"One by one our hopes grow brighter,
As we near the shining shore;
For we know across the river
Wait the loved ones gone before."

Near Winfield, November 20th, 1889, after a short and painful illness of diphtheria, Raymond, son of Wm. and Mollie Barnes, aged 4 years.

Shed not for him the bitter tear,
Nor give the heart to vain regret;
'Tis but the casket that lies here—
The bud that filled it's blooming yet.

—BY HIS AUNT.

Near Taylorsville, November 21st, 1889, after a short and painful illness of diphtheria, Annie, daughter of Augustus and Lizzie Brown, aged 6 years. This makes the third little bud that has been carried from their home within the last six weeks—Frankie, Roy and Annie.

Their little chairs are empty,
Their playthings laid aside;
But, oh! a brighter home than ours
In heaven they abide.

Little Annie was our darling,
Pride of all our hearts at home,
But an angel whispered, softly,
Little Annie, do come home.
