The recent appointment of Mr. Medford Capel as Supervising Engineer for the Chestertown water works is certainly a wise move and one that places the most experienced and capable man in the job. His 24 years as engineer fully acquaints him with every detail of the work. He succeeds Mr. Charles S. Smith whose retirement after 32 years was necessitated due to poor health. Under the management of these two men the water department has prospered and is now a valuable municipal asset.

The disagreeable tasks frequently are the ones that count the most. The Kent County school teacher's, this week, have been doing a disagreeable but highly valuable task in the issuance of the No. 2 food rationing book. Due to the activities of this highly trained group of men and women the public has been spared what might have otherwise been a long drawn-out procedure. If you cooperated by being pleasant during the registration, you assisted this war working group.

Number two food stamp books are being issued this week at the white schools of the county to practically every resident, man, pwoman and child. By Saturday night it is expected that every family group in the county will be in possession of the No. 2 book which will determine the amount of canned goods, certain dried vegetables and, later, amount of meat that each individual will be permitted to buy. This food rationing program is a severe war measure and one that is evidence of the threatened food shortage and the sacrifices that the civilian population must make if our armed forces and our allies are to continue activities on a large successful scale. When one studies the ration chart of point values, as shown on page four of this issue, it is easy to understand that the work of the house-wife is to undergo a change that will be hard, at least at first. It is almsot a case of "The can opener has gone to war" and instead of opening a can, most of the meals will have to be prepared in the kitchen. Many delicacies will have to be dispensed with and more fresh foods prepared. This summer should see the greatest home canning activities that has taken place for many years. Every plot of ground affords an opportunity to help solve the contemplated food shortage problem and each jar or can of home preserved or dried food means more food for the armed forces. The food rationing program presents thousands of individual problems and this gives these individuals an opportunity to do some worthwhile war work by solving their own problems. As casualty lists are reaching practically every hamlet in the country, the more and more opportunity do people have to wake up to the full realization that a war is going on. There has been many comments as to whether those who registered for book No. 2 declared all of their canned goods on hand. We like to think that they did because if they didn't, each casualty list that they see will make the hurt a little more severe.

Letter To A Tennessee Doughboy At Camp

Dear Cousin:

Your Uncle has a job at last. The first time he has worked in 38 years.

We are rich now—$17.25 every Thursday. So we sent to Seer Rowbuck for one of them new fangled bathrooms like rich people has. It came and we got her all put up. You should see it. On one side of the room is a big long white thing like the pigs drink out of only you can get in it and take a bath all over at once. Over on the other side of the room is a little white gadget hanging on the wall called a zink. This is for light washing like face and hands. They also sent us a roll of writing paper but its kind of cheap I think. It rips easy.

But over in the corner—wow—they got a thing and you can put one foot in and scrub till it gits clean. Then you pull a chain and git wtaer for the other foot.

Yours truly,

P. S. Two lids came for the da- - thing but we got no use for them. So Ma's using one for a breadboard and we framed Grandpop's picture in the other.

'Tree Farms' for Conservation

Another example of the conservation program sponsored by the timber industry is the system of "tree farms" recently established in Alabama, where certificates were given individuals and companies employing approved forestry principles.

INSTRUCTIONS.—To find the Point Value of an Item:
1. Find out the net weight of the contents (from the label, if any).
2. In the line across the top of the chart, showing the weight in ounces and pounds, find the column in which this weight belongs.
3. Find the item in the listing of items in the column to the left.
4. The POINT VALUE of the item appears on the same line as the item and in the column listing the correct weight.
All Point Values must be determined by weights. If no weight is marked on the item, the item must be weighed.
In finding the Point Value of a container where contents are given in fluid ounces, consider the fluid ounce to be the same as the avoirdupois weight ounce. One pint is one pound; one quart is two pounds.

The Point Value of any item weighing over four (4) pounds shall be arrived at by multiplying the number of pounds of that item by the Point Value per pound of that item as given in the "Per Pound" column. Fractions of a pound should be figured in quarter-pounds. Fractions of a quarter-pound should be figured to the next higher quarter-pound. Thus, an item weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces would be considered as weighing 4 pounds 12 ounces for the purpose of getting the Point Value of the item.
