With its facilities turned to war, the alcoholic beverage industry in the next three years will still produce for the nation a total of 4½ billion dollars in taxes on reserve stocks now in storage.

With moderation and a self-imposed system of rationing, it is hoped that these reserve stocks will last for the duration.

Devoted 100% to the exclusive production of war alcohol, the distillers of Maryland are proud to be making a double contribution to victory: alcohol for the war program and revenue for the purchase of planes, guns and tanks to smash the Axis.
