Story of a Necklace.

The pretty Duchess of Fife has been photographed in evening dress with a single string of pearls about her neck. There is somehow about this string of beads a singularly pure and girlish air, and it is the one necklace that is always in good taste for a young girl. As you clasp the string of pearl beads about your own neck I wonder how many of you know of the romance connected with those which were first made?

Love, which governs all the world, comes in this story. In the time of Louis XIV. there was a maker of pearl rosaries and necklaces who was famous for the exquisite beauty that he gave them. The ladies came from far and near to buy these wondrous beads, for from no one else could they be gotten. Vainly did his rivals try to imitate the perfect whiteness and polish of the beads manufactured by him. With all his prosperity he was very unhappy and dreaded to sell his necklace because of the poison (said to be mercury) with which he used to give them their great beauty. One day his son was astonished to hear him say, as he sold a particularly beautiful pearl rosary: "Infamous man that I am! May this crime be my last!"

Soon after war was declared between France and Flanders, and the old man was very happy, because he thought no more necklaces would be ordered. His only son was about to be married, and the sweet little girl whom he had chosen so pleased the father that he had said: "Ask of me anything, for I am glad to have so sweet a daughter." With great glee she answered: "O, father, make for me one of those beautiful necklaces, such as only you can make." The unhappy man was speechless with horror, and wandered through the woods all night wondering what in the world he would do. When the daytime came he threw himself on a bank beside the water to rest, and there, floating on top, was an iridescent substance, at which he could not help but look; it seemed so like his own pearls. He searched for it and found that the effect was caused by the scales of a small whitefish. He collected some, experimented with them, and succeeded in producing with them the whiteness and polish for which he had formerly been forced to use the poison. On the wedding day he clasped around the neck of the beautiful bride the handsomest string of pearls that he had ever made, and as he kissed her sweet, red lips he knew he could be happy, for there was not a particle of poison in them. The truth of the story lies in the fact that to this day the method of making pearl beads discovered by Martin Jacquin is still the only one. So if you wear about your neck a string of beads like that which delighted the heart of the lovely Ursula, and if you have to thank the man for having invented a necklace free from taint of poison, you must remember that he perhaps would never have made his great discovery if the whim of a woman had not driven him to it.

The natives of Africa call New England rum, shame-water. The Dark Continent has a keen discernment. For it is a burning shame to civilization and Christianity that the African barbarian should be destroyed by Boston rum. The pitiful slavery and cannibalism prevailing among these tribes awake a sense of horror in all who read of them. But it is still more horrible that from a Christian nation the vile poison should be poured in upon them that must lead to their debasement, robbery and destruction. Is the history of the corruption of so many of the Indian tribes by intoxicating liquors to be repeated in Africa?

* * *

A number of merchants, especially those interested in textile goods manufacture, propose to begin an agitation in favor of a broad and comprehensive system of industrial schools, first in New York City and then elsewhere. The movement has its origin in a conviction that, unless American youth are drilled thoroughly in the rudiments and the higher development of textile manufacture, this entire department of industry will before long pass absolutely into the hands of an undesirable class of foreign-born and foreign-bred workmen.

* * *

A firm at Bolivar, N. Y., is engaged in manufacturing gas from crude oil. It is claimed it beats old nature. Under the new device the gas can be sent to any reasonable distance required. The owners claim they can show more fire for heating purposes than any other gas plant in the world and at a lower cost than any on record, or, in fact, as cheap as natural gas. For a portable gas work for hotels at watering places it is said it can not be beaten.

* * *

The art of making red glass for church windows, as practiced in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, was lost for a long time and was only recovered in 1826. The modern product is still inferior to the ancient.

FERTILIZER! FERTILIZER!

A FEW POINTERS FOR THE FARMER.

The season for sowing Fertilizers is now at hand and farmers will see many cheap Fertilizers advertised claiming great merit. We desire, however, to call their attention to the fact that we are the largest buyers of

RAW MATERIALS

in the county, and are manufacturing and shipping our goods over 800 miles from home and are able to meet competition at that distance. We are shipping into three different States and our goods have been subjected to the analysis of the three different State chemists, who have proved them as represented. This being the fact, we know that we can

SAVE TO THE FARMER

who deals directly with us from $2 to $5 per ton on our goods when the analysis is taken into consideration. We further wish to state that we make a

Special Mixture for each Crop

Corn, Oats, Potatoes and Vegetables, according to their chemical requirements, and are not like the patent medicine man who sells one kind of medicine to cure all ills that human flesh is heir to. We also as desired by the farmer himself. We ask you to call and see us before buying elsewhere, and try our goods along side of the socalled cheap Fertilizers, and see for yourself where you get the best value for your money. We also are headquarters for CLEAN MICHIGAN CLOVER SEED AND NO. 1 WESTERN TIMOTHY SEED, at very low prices.

MIX FORMULAS

Yours Respectfully,

ARMSTRONG, CATOR & CO., MILLINERS.

Baltimore, 1884.

Mr. C. P. Knight, Sole General Agent N. J. E. Paint Co.—Dear Sir: In January, 1878, our store was painted with the Liquid Enamel Paint made by the New Jersey Enamel Paint Company. We used tints that generally show the effect of exposure, but the paint has retained its color, gloss and freshness. We shall take pleasure in using it in future.

Yours truly,

ARMSTRONG, CATOR & CO.

Baltimore, October 21, 1882.

Mr. C. P. Knight—Dear Sir: The Enamel Paint manufactured by the New Jersey Enamel Paint Company, which you furnished me years ago for painting the exterior of my residence in Baltimore county, has given entire satisfaction, and to-day presents as handsome appearance as when first applied. It has stood the exposure wonderfully well. I will in the future use no other paint for the same purpose.

Very respectfully,
