A Causeless Rebellion.

Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, of Baltimore, on the occasion of decorating the graves of Confederate dead, last week, made some remarks in which he declared the rebellion was not a "lost cause," but one of the rights of man against aggressive power. In view of the fact that at the beginning of the rebellion two of the departments of the government, out of three—the legislative and judicial—were both under the control of the South and its sympathisers, and the other department—the executive—was powerless to make one aggressive step against the legal rights of any State or section, it must appear to the careful student of history that there never was a more causeless rebellion. Gen. Johnson says he is sorry it did not succeed, but the freedom with which he can now, as the soldier of an unsuccessful revolt against National authority, make such and even stronger observations, is conclusive proof that there was nothing to rebel against. It is a pity that such ultra rebels cannot be touched by the magnanimous treatment they have ever received from the victorious government against which they rebelled.

What's the Use?

The Democrats of Westminster held a meeting last Saturday evening to organize a tariff reform club. Ex-State Senator Henry Vanderford presided, Mr. J. J. Baumgartner, secretary. Speeches were made by Mr. Vanderford, and by Messrs. Charles M. Howard and Roger W. Cull, of Baltimore. Hon. Frank T. Shaw, and Messrs. D. N. Henning and B. F. Crouse were appointed a committee on permanent organization, to report at a future meeting. Our Democratic brethren are not oblivious of the fact that the present Congress will reform the tariff in the interests of American producers and laborers and on the line of protection to American homes and American people; but the sort of reform they are seeking is a tariff for revenue only, and on the line of free trade, thus exposing our own people to the ruinous competition of foreign cheap labor in every department of industry. The American farmer is to be brought into competition, in our own markets, with free potatoes and small marketing from the British Provinces and free grain from Russia, produced at lower prices by ill paid labor; and all other classes of producers are to share in a similar experience under the baneful system of reform proposed by our free-trade friends of the Democratic party. The Democratic party has taken up and adopted a system that is in inimical to the highest interests of all classes of the American people, and will find the experiment a useless one. The voters of America are not yet ready to barter their birth right of prosperity for a mess of pottage, and very poor pottage at that.

The Tariff and Silver Bills.

Democratic journalists are unreliable prophets. A little while ago they were morally certain the Republicans in the House of Representatives had run against a snag in the McKinley tariff bill, and that an irreconcilable division would be the consequence. Then the vote was taken and every Republican in the House, but one, voted for the bill. The prophets again took up their parable and announced that the fatal rock upon which the Republican ship would inevitably be wrecked was the silver question; and that, at any rate, the Senate would so emasculate the McKinley tariff bill that it would bear no semblance to the original. And now the Republicans of the House, aided by some Democrats who believe they were sent to Congress to legislate for the welfare of the country and not as mere obstructionists, have passed a commonsense silver bill. The vote in its favor was emphatic. The bill provides for the purchase of silver bullion to the amount of $4,500,000 monthly, upon which silver certificates shall be issued according to the actual value of the commodity. It repeals the Bland compulsory coinage bill and provides for free and unlimited coinage whenever the value of silver shall approximate the relative standard of gold. The measure is, of course, not satisfactory to the extreme silver men, but it is sound and conservative, and much more likely to give stability and appreciation to the price of silver than the existing law. The Democratic prophets, however, are not tired of their occupation and go on repeating their predictions of failure for this and the McKinley tariff bill in the Senate, and their anticipations of Republican inability to agree upon several other prominent measures under consideration, among which are the federal election law and the anti-gerrymandering bill.

In the meantime the Senate is carefully considering the tariff measure and will almost certainly pass it without very mat rial alteration. S me amendments will undoubtedly be made to it; but there is little room for doubt that a bill will receive the sanction of both Houses of Congress that will substantially embody all the important features of the McKinley measure.

Any silver legislation too, and there is scarcely a doubt tha there will be such legislation, will be in the line of the measure passed by the House. The extreme silver men in the Senate will find that they must make some concessions, as well as demand them of others, and the best sentiment of the country will sustain a measure which aims to give the circulating medium a substantial basis of value and at the same time enchance the value of silver as a commodity and aid in establishing the bi-metalic system of coinage as something more reliable than the ephemeral scheme at present in operation. The Republican party is legislating for the welfare of the whole people, of all classes, and it has the courage to do its work in the manner best calculated to promote the general public good, even against the objections of some of its most prominent adherents.

The report of the receivers of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal leaves no hope of its restoration as a waterway.

The Democrats are a good deal disturbed by reports that Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, is exerting considerable influence in favor of Wallace for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination in that State over Ex-Gov. Pattison.

Gov. Jackson testified before the Archer investigating committee on Wednesday, but nothing new was elicited. It was simply a story of what he didn't know about the constitution, and other matters.

The Baltimore Morning Herald speaks of the Hagerstown Mail as its "anti-Democratic, and, therefore, virtually Republican cotemporary." The Mail, though outspoken in its denunciation of Gormanism and ring Democracy, has never failed to give loyal support to Democratic tickets, county, State and National. It certainly is not a Republican journal.

Mr. George L. Wellington, of Allegany county, has been appointed Assistant U. S. Treasurer, at Baltimore, by President Harrison. No federal appointment ever made, in Maryland or elsewhere, was received with more general satisfaction than this. Mr. Wellington is eminently fitted for the efficient discharge of the important duties of the office and is deservedly popular throughout the State.

The Conference Committee of the United States Senate and House of Representatives have agreed upon a dependent pension bill. The house considered the measure on Wednesday and promptly adopted it. It came up in the Senate on Thursday and was discussed at some length, but not passed. Action may not be taken upon it for a week or longer. We will publish the full text of the bill, which will probably become a law, next week. It is estimated that it will add about forty-two millions of dollars to the pension account annually.

Some of the disciples of free-trade in the United States must have discovered the art of extracting sunbeams from cucumbers. They appear to be highly delighted by the result of the Oregon election; point with pride to the defeat of the Republican candidate for governor, and declare that Mr. Hermann considers his re-election by a majority greater by two thousand than ever before, as a mere local matter. It must be remembered that Mr. Hermann voted for the McKinley bill; that the tariff was a leading issue in the Oregon campaign and that on that issue Oregon has rolled up an unprecedented majority for Protection. If the Democrats choose to keep on shutting their eyes to the fact that the people of this country are not in sympathy with free-trade ideas and cherishing a fond delusion on the subject they will have another opportunity of waking to the, to them, sad truth after the campaign of '92.

Western Maryland Tidewater Ordinance.

The Western Maryland Tidewater Railroad ordinance, which was amended by the Second Branch of the City Council, of Baltimore, at its meeting on Monday of last week, by requiring the company to use the tracks of the P. W. & B. Railroad on Canton avenue, was made the special order for Monday last, when it came up and the amendment was reconsidered and the ordinance passed in its original form. This now gives the Western Maryland the right of way to tidewater on its own independent tracks, the very object sought by the incorporation of the company and the legislation, State and city, which has been completed by the passage of this ordinance. The amendment of the Second Branch was fatal to the purpose designed, and if it had been adhered to, would have rendered nugatory all the efforts made to release the Western Maryland Railroad of the excessive burden of the tunnel charges under which it is now laboring.

As it is, under the ordinance as now adopted, great things are in store for the Western Maryland under its present most efficient management. We congratulate Col. Hood on his triumph.

Wheat harvest has begun in Virginia and farther South, and small lots of the new crop are expected in Baltimore this week. In the northern neck of Virginia, it is said, the wheat is unusually good.

While a gang of section men were at work endeavoring to replace an engine that had jumped the track of a railroad in Illinois, on Saturday last, the locomotive toppled over on them killing five persons.

Twelve barrels of gasoline exploded in a burning building in Philadelphia, last Saturday, and threw a shower of burning fluid over the firemen engaged in suppressing the flames, thirteen of whom were seriously burned.

Two freight trains, one of which was loaded with race horses and their attendants, collided on the Wabash Railroad, at Warrenton, sixty miles west of St. Louis, Mo., on Monday morning last, and seven men and fifteen horses were killed.

Farmers around Emmitsburg, Frederick county, state that their wheat is being affected by rust, in some cases extending nearly to the top of the stalks. The oats crop in the same section is suffering from the depredations of a small worm.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Taylorsville Items.

There will be preaching in the woods adjoining the Lutheran Church foundation, near Taylorsville, on Sabbath, June 15, at 2, P. M. Temporary seating has been provided, there is sufficient shade for comfort, and the people generally are invited to come. If it should rain there is a barn near by in which the privilege of holding the services has been secured. During the summer there will be preaching. Services every two weeks at that point, by the pastor, Rev. M. E. McLinn, beginning June 15, at 2, P. M., June 29, at 8 P. M., and so on, alternating between day and night preaching this summer. We trust this step will give a new impetus to the work there and cause the building speedily to be raised, and then possibly there will be day preaching every two weeks. It is the purpose of those who have this work in charge to go right on to completion.

Taneytown Items.

Mr. Tobias H. Eckenrode is having an elevator and cleaner put in his warehouse on Baltimore street, by Mr. Golden, of Bendersville, Pa.

The Pleasant Valley Cornet Band paid a visit to our town on last Saturday and rendered some of their choice selections which were heartily enjoyed by our citizens.

Mr. Ab. Cashman, a farmer residing near town, on the Westminster road, lost one of his work horses, by colic, on last Monday.

Work was commenced on Monday morning at tearing down the building on York street used by St. Joseph's Catholic Church for a parochial school.

On last Saturday afternoon while Mr. James Boyd had his team at the stable of Mr. J. H. Haugh, loading manure, his horses became frightened at the Pleasant Valley Band, which was playing at the square, and started on a run up Church street. Mr. Boyd was on the wagon when the horses started and in an attempt to get off fell under the wheels. The front wheel passed over his legs and the hind wheel passed over his stomach. He was carried to his home and Dr. C. Birnie was called in and rendered the necessary medical aid. At present writing Mr. Boyd is doing well and is able to be about the house.

According to announcement the corner stone of Grace Reformed Church was laid on Wednesday afternoon, 11th inst. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. H. Ditzler, according to the form laid down by the Reformed Church. Quite a number of persons gathered to witness the interesting event, but the attendance was not as large as it would have been, had it been generally known. Rev. D. A. Souders, of Union Bridge, was to deliver the address but was detained at home and the address was omitted. Rev. G. W. McSherry, of the Lutheran Church, assisted the pastor in the services connected with the occasion. A glass jar, which was placed in the stone, contained the following articles: A copy of the Reformed Church Messenger, a copy of the AMERICAN SENTINEL of May 23, which contained an account of the removal of the old corner-stone; a copy of the Heidelburg Catechism, a bottle of wine, five pieces of money, the names of the pastor, elders, deacons, trustees, and building committee, and also the names of families living near and adjoining the church property. In the old corner-stone, which will be built into the walls, there will be placed a jar containing the contents found in it a few weeks ago, with some other articles added, including a copy of each county paper, and a missionary paper.

Woodbine Items.

Rev. J. S. Burton delivered a missionary discourse at Morgan Chappel, on Sunday last, to a large audience. With a map of the dark continent before him he vividly pictured the condition of the poor heathen of that benighted land. But while the church is engaged in the noble work of carrying to them the glad tidings of great joy which they receive with open hearts, a sad picture presents itself to us as a Christian nation, where the heathen send railing accusations against us for introducing alcoholic drinks to their people.

W. P. Baker, of Waysville, has moved into the dwelling he recently erected on his farm.

Columbus Conoway is building a barn on his farm near Daniel.

Bradley Shipley is rebuilding the barn that was burned a few months since on his farm near Berret.

The following scripture was brought forcibly to our mind a few weeks since. "Two women shall be grinding at the mill, the one shall be taken and the other left." We drove a load of grain to the mill and the miller being absent a short time had left his amiable wife in charge who was filling the sacks as the flower was being made and was powdered as though she had prepared her toilet for church. Of course we had too much galantry to let her carry the sacks in the mill, and to facilitate the work we piled them on the after part of the wagon-bed and stepping on top to get out, instantly the bed stood on end, and we lay bruised and mangled on the ground with the sacks piled on us, and we have scarcely been able to get about since.

The Day and Taylorsville base ball clubs had a game on the 4th inst. at the close of which the score stood twenty-four for Day against twelve for Taylorsville. The two clubs are on the best of terms, and Day has no disposition to wound the feelings of their friends of the Taylorsville club.

Harney Items.

Thank Providence for such men as "O. T. B.," of Flemingsburg, Ky. We are glad he hails from old Carroll; and we hope that old Carroll will soon unfurl the banner of right principles above that of party affiliation.

Mr. Ezra Reaver, of Taneytown, is canvassing this neighborhood as agent for the improved Singer Sewing Machine.

Elder Solomon Stoner preached here, in the U. B. Church, last Sabbath morning. The Church was crowded and all speak well of the sermon.

Some of our farmers have commenced making hay, but the majority will not commence until next week. The grass crop is very good.

Now that harvest is drawing near we see advertised in the papers "for harvest whiskey" &c., go to such a place, as if the harvest could not be gathered without whiskey, which gives no added strength, but injures the system. This fact has been proved by scientific men. Your correspondent has now in view a man who never tasted a drop of any kind of liquor who will do as much work and stand as much heat as any beer or whiskey drinker in America.

To-morrow will be Children's Day in the U. B. Church, in this place. The services will consist of singing, recitations, scripture reading and speeches by the Sunday School scholars.

Our farmers will soon have to turn their attention to something else instead of making butter and selling it for eight and ten cents.

Reports of the growing wheat in this county are of an unusually favorable character. The wheat is filling well and maturing under favorable conditions and promises a large yield. One enthusiastic farmer says he knows of fields that will average well up to fifty bushels per acre, and that a yield of thirty-five to forty bushels per acre will be common. He is probably oversanguine, but his opinion is an evidence of the favorable prospect.

Reception.

Mr. Edward C. Lynch and his bride, nee Miss Mary Isabel Diller, were given a reception on Tuesday evening last at the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lynch, Liberty street, this city. The spacious and beautiful grounds surrounding the mansion were tastefully decorated with Japanese lanterns and other devices, and within the hospitable home the guests were entertained with the choice music of the violin and harp by Joe Mazziote and his companion. Refreshments of every description, ice cream, water ices, cake, confectionery, fruits, wines, &c., were served in lavish abundance. Many of the guests engaged in dancing. The bride wore a very becoming dress of pale blue Henrietta cloth, cut entrain, and carried a handsome boquet. More than two hundred guests were present and the festivities were continued till after midnight. During the evening the Westminster Band serenaded the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch received many beautiful and valuable wedding presents, among which were a handsome silver ice pitcher and goblet from the Westminster Fire Department, of which the groom is a member; tea and table spoons, knives and forks, butter dishes, dessert and other dishes, table and pickle castors, lamps, china and glassware, butter and fruit knives, toilet sets, four rocking chairs, clock, pictures, embroidery, table covers, tidies, towels, napkins, and many other articles.

Carrollton Items.

Mr. William Tanner has built a very large and convenient dairy, near his dwelling house, which is supplied with water forced from a spring at some distance by an hydraulic ram with a capacity of 30 gallons per hour. Charles H. Brown, of Gist, did the work. Mr. Tanner is so well pleased with the hydraulic arrangement that he intends to have it extended to his barn.

Mrs. William Long and Miss F. Long, of Alberton, Md., have been visiting friends at Carrollton and Patapsco during the last ten days.

Could wish thee back.

BY HIS SISTERS.

Near Mexico, June 7th, 1890, after a brief illness, J. Adam Meyls, aged 7 years, 4 months and 18 days.

Death has robbed us of our father,
Whom we loved and cherished dear.
It was father, yes, dear father,
Can we help but shed a tear.

Yes, we miss him, oh, we miss him,
When we see his vacant chair,
And how sad the room without him,
For there is no father there.

How we loved him! yes, we loved him,
Ah, no earthly tongue can tell;
But the shining angels called him
Up to heaven with them to dwell.

But we know that he is happy
With his dear ones gone before;
And he's singing with the angels
On the bright celestial shore.

Yet we hope to learn the lesson
That God knoweth best,
And that silent resignation,
Makes the spirit calm and blest.

BY HIS DAUGHTER, MARTHA E. MEYLS.
