LETTER FROM KANSAS.

MR. EDITOR.—Let me send you this week a batch of clippings. Here is one:

THEY ARE LAW ABIDING.

BALTIMORE, June 27.—The grand jury to-day indicted every brewer and liquor dealer in this city for violations of the high license law passed by the last legislature.—Topeka Capital.

I have an idea that will make a pretty expensive case. But resubmissionists who want high license because prohibition laws are disobeyed are not calling attention to the indictment by the grand jury in Baltimore of every brewer and liquor dealer in that city for violating the high license law passed by the last legislature. Why not? It seems to me that's quite a news item. The supreme court seems to be making business for Maryland as well as for us.

THE PEOPLE AND THE SUPREME COURT SALOON.

All over Kansas the people are becoming aroused against the infamy of the supreme court original package decision. The unexpected lack of interest on the part of congress in not promptly passing a measure of relief is intensifying the indignation of the people of the state on this subject.

Wonder if all over Maryland we people will not soon begin to be aroused too. How will your cities enjoy having their municipal revenues cut off? How will you enjoy to have bloats from other states come in and sell liquor free, for Uncle Sam, without license?

Here is the way they take it in Kansas:

INDIGNATION MEETING.

Special to the CAPITAL.

LINCON, Kan.—An original package house was opened here yesterday by Lewis Collins, agent for Maynard, Hopkins & Co., Kansas city. It was open about an hour. An indignation meeting was called and the agent commanded to desist—which he did. The liquors will be shipped east in here is no doubt about the loyalty of the property owners of Garnett to prohibition. The Plaindealer says:

[redacted]

Here is another:

No less than three "original package dealers" came to Garnett last week to open business for some Missouri brewery, but went away again without securing the building wanted for a salesroom. We are very glad to report that notwithstanding several of the business houses stand empty their owners would not rent for the purpose they were wanted. If a package house should be opened every effort should be made to close it at once. Our people don't want one.

Ottowa, Lawrence and Topeka have sent the original package Supreme Court Saloon men where they can quietly meditate over the uncertainty of Supreme Court decisions and all other equally hollow things terrestrial. Kansas wont be run over, and don't you forget it. I can give you 500 more similar extracts.

SONGS OF KANSAS.

[Written by Dan B. Brummitt and sung in Baker University, Baldwin, by the students.]

My Kansas, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of hominy,
Of thee I sing.
Land of the classic Kaw,
Fair land without a flaw,
From Leavenworth to Wichita—
Thy praises ring.

In all thy vast extent,
No child by parent sent
Can whiskey get.
Topers are mad as hops.
Closed all their liquor shops,
But when it comes to crops,
Kansas goes wet.

In all the growing west
Kansas is first and best
At growing stuff.
Great crops of corn and shoats,
Great crops of wheat and oats,
And eighty thousand votes
More than enough.

Corn's grown most out of sight—
We thought it grew one night
Almost a foot.
We worked and helped it grow,
So we've a right to crow;
The boys at home, you know,
Have it to cut.

So let us sing again,
Shouting the glad refrain,
Queen Kansas reigns,
Reigns o'er the prairies wide,
Which smile on every side,
Kansas Columbia's pride,
Queen of the plains.

What a peaceable set we are. Judge Heren has held three terms of court in Jewell county without trying a criminal case.—Jewell County Republican.

The only state in the Union where [illegible] like that can be made is [illegible] Prohibition is the best law [illegible] book.—Topeka Capital.

Weather very hot and dry now. No rain since June 17th. Wheat stacked. Oats on shock. Clover and timothy hay in process of being cured. Blackberries and early harvest apples ripe, and very plentiful.

Alliance men are very stirring and active. They propose to see ere long whether this country will have a silver bill go through, or not. It is putting it mild to say that the West is very indignant over the suggestive and suspicious monkey performance at Washington. It smells of Wall street gut fat.

Wonderful Growth.

The following interesting statement of our national prosperity under existing economic conditions is taken from Senator Hiscock's speech on the silver question, in the senate, June 5. "Senator Plumb asks: 'Why change tariff legislation as such prosperity exists?' It may be answered that the efficiency of tariff legislation having been demonstrated by results, it is now time to make that legislation more complete, to modify it where it has been proved to be weak, and extend it to industries and localities which have not hitherto enjoyed its advantages.

"Let me invite your attention for a moment to our own industries, the manufacture of cotton, woolen goods, chemicals, paper, agricultural implements, lumber, flour, glass, iron and steel and shipbuilding, the leading industries of our country.

These industries are so organized that their reports practically give us their condition now as compared with ten years ago. The estimated capital employed in 1890 is $1,784,740,082 as against $1,165,015,748 for 1880; the hands employed in 1890 are estimated at 1,274,383 as against 844,776 in 1880; there was paid in wages in 1880 $256,795,327, and it is estimated that $350,689,508 will be paid in 1890; the value of material used in 1880 was $1,197,204,561, and the estimate for 1890 is $1,576,302,978; the value of the product in 1880, $1,774,127,423, and the estimate for 1890 is $2,293,790,228.

"In the last eight years the metallic products of the United States have increased $50,000,000 worth, and in what are known as non-metallic products the increase has been nearly $100,000,000.

"So far as one is able to estimate from the statistics that have been furnished by the leading industries, the reports of the agricultural department and those of the geological survey, the wealth per capita in this country has increased in the last decade to $1,000. From 1870 to 1880 the increase was from $780 to $870.

"In the six cereal products (wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, buckwheat), as reported by the statistician of the department of agriculture, there was an increase of 44.3 per cent. in the average annual production and of 30 per cent. in the average farm value of crops for the past nine years over that for the preceding ten years.

"The two decades preceding 1880, in respect to the material prosperity of our country, are without parallel in the history of the nations of the world. The expenditures by the general government and by the states amounted to at least $9,000,000,000, not paid in exchange for property for the people or the developement of the country, but to support armies in the field and prosecute a great civil war. Property of the value of $1,200,000,000 was destroyed in the seceding states, and for four years their production, in those pursuits which create national and individual wealth, was suspended. Nearly three millions of workers and producers were for three years called from our industries; nearly half a million of men were killed in the conflict, and a million more were disabled in various degrees. The funded national debt reached nearly $3,000,000,000. It has been reduced to less than $800,000,000.

"The valuation of the property of the people in 1860 amounted to about $16,000,000,000, including the value of the slaves; in 1870 to $30,000,000,000, and the slaves had been enfranchised; in 1880 to over $43,000,000,000, and as indicated from the returns from the largest industries of the country and the reports I have referred to, the last decade will show an increase in property and prosperity largely in excess of either of the two preceding it.

A Pigeon's Race With a Train.

Many experiments have been made to test the speed of carrier pigeons. The results are often wonderful, but we are better able to appreciate the power of the bird when it is racing against a rapid train of cars than when it flies simply against time. Such a race from Dover to London was described in an English paper.

The race took place between the Continental mail express train and a carrier pigeon, conveying an urgent document for the French police. The rails, carriages and engine of the express train were, as might be expected, of the best possible construction for power and speed.

The pigeon, which is known as a "Belgian voyageur," was tossed through the railway-carriage window by a French official as the train left the Admiralty pier, the wind being west and the atmosphere hazy.

The train had made more than a mile before the poor bird decided which direction to take. It circled up in the air, rising all the time in wider rings, while the train, which made no stop, was speeding along at the rate of sixty miles an hour, and the railway officials were ready to lay any odds on their train.

But the race was not to the strong, for a telegram announced the arrival of the bird twenty minutes before the train was heard of.
