RURAL ELECTRIC TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

The sixth annual members meetin of the Choptank Electric Cooperative Inc., will be held on Monday, Marc' 6, 1944, at 12.30 P. M. in the Dentonia Theatre in Denton, Maryland, according to F. E. Yeoman, Supt. and Mgr.

The Cooperative now operates approximately 1300 miles of rural lines in Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot, Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset, and Worcester Counties.

This annual members meeting is always the most important event of the year for the Cooperative's 3000 members. The program will include the election of directors and reports of officers on the progress made by the Cooperative during the past year

During 1943, the Cooperative has extendedelectric service to farms wherever possible, as part of their program to encourage the best use of electric labor-saving and food producing equipment.

Since January 1943, War Production Board regulations have authorized the connection to rural power lines, farms who can be certified by County War Boards on an animal unit basis. Under this plan the Cooperative has connected 114 new members and will build so such others as obtain the requisite certifications, but getting these certifications is the responsibility of the farmers who desire the service.
sire the service.

FSA EXPLAINS NEW RULES ON FARM LOANS

Stretching limited Farm Security Administration funds to meet needs of all Kent County farmers unable to finance 1944 farming operations two important steps are being taken by the County FSA committee, according to Ralph P. Williams, Chairman, Olin S. Davis, Walter L. Walbert and Roy Mitchell.

'All new applications are carefully reviewed by the county committee to determine if all possibilities of adequate financing through local banks or other credit agencies have been exhausted. If the application is approved, the smallest loan consistent with maximum war food production is recommended to conserve remaining funds."

As a second step in placing FSA Funds where most needed, the financial status and progress of all borrowers in the program three years or more is being reviewed to determine if they have become eligible for bank credit, it was explained. A borrower who has progressed to the "Commercial Credit" stage will be referred to local financing agencies if supplemental credit is required.

"FSA loan funds for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1944 will be exhausted in the county within a month or two by present demands unless more applicants can be financed through other local credit agencies. We hope in this way to take care of every family-type farmer who cannot qualify for regular credit and would be prevented from making full use of his experience, labor and production resources."

Joint-ownership machinery services as well as operating goods can be financed through FSA by small farmers unable to get adequate credit elsewhere. Information can be secured through the County FSA Supervisor J. Weldon Walbert, Hubbard Building, Chestertown, Md.
