Pocomoke Bank Short $16,990; Probe Strats

Pocomoke City—Defalcations totaling $16,990 over a period of years by a longtime employe who kept a record of the amounts he took were reported this week by Joseph C. Stevenson, cashier of the Citizens National Bank.

Cashier Stevenson, who said the man had worked for the Eastern Shore Institution for more than 30 years related that federal bank examiners uncovered the shortage during a routine examination.

When questioned the employe admitted embezzling the money, Stevenson said. No charge has been filed.

At Baltimore, both the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the office of United States Attorney Bernard Flyn said investigations had been started.

William G. Kerbin, state's attorney of Snow Hill, said the case was being handled entirely by federal authorities.
