Inexpensive Insecticides

Calcium arsenate and arsenate of lead are inexpensive insecticides effective as stomach poisons against chewing insects only. They are safe for use on potatoes; cucumbers, melons and on tomatoes until fruit forms; and on various young plants. Because they are poisonous to man they should not be used on broccoli, cauliflower or other leafy vegetables unless these are thoroughly washed before using. They are apt to injure the foliage of beans.

Grain Corn

To increase grain corn production, either plant part of the corn acreage with a variety early enough to mature grain, if not all of the acreage is needed for the silo, or plant a variety for silage that will mature grain for corn in a good corn-growing season.

Mrs. Gertrude E. Moore

Mrs. Gertrude Emerson Moore, the wife of the late Carlton C. Moore died at her home in Betterton on Thursday, September 28th in her fifty-second year. The funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon with Rev. G. E. Leister, her pastor, officiating and the interment was in Still Pond Cemetery with Mr. B. R. Fellows, undertaker, in charge. The bearers were Messrs. Harvey B. Moore, G. Herbert Moore, Thomas Silcox, Clarence Luik, Nelson Hughes and Wallace Ford.

Mrs. Moore was a member of the Methodist Church and since her girl hood has been a member of the choir and until her health no longer would permit, was always in her place. Life, as we know it, dealt her many hard blows but she could always say, "I cannot see it now, but I know it is for some good'. Although she was an invalid for nearly a year and suffered greatly "she never murmured nor complained beneath the chastening rod, but in the hour of grief and pain she leaned upon her God. She had a faith that shone more brignt and clear, when tempests raged without and when in danger she knew no fear and in darkness felt no doubt.

She is survived by one son, Emerson Moore and a grandson, Allan Moore. Her younger son, Corporal James Arthur Moore was killed in England on April 18th of this year.

James H. Sides

James H. Sides died suddenly at his home on Washington Ave., Tuesday evening.

He is survied only by his wife Margaret Fallowfield Sides.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 o'clock from his late home on Washington Avenue, Dr. W. P. Roberts officiating.

Members of the Masonic Order will serve as bearers. Interment in Chester Cemetery.

Usilton & Wells are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Sides was treasurer of the Masonic Lodge here, was in the jewelry business having been succeeded by Mr. J. S. Kreeger. He also was one of the first owners of an automobile in this section, having the agency for the Maxwell automobile, his garage being at the present quarters of Eliason Motors.

Mrs. Nettie Mae Carter

Funeral services for Mrs. Nettie Mae Carter, 66 years old, who died at her home here on Saturday, were held from the home on Queen Street at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Dr. W. P. Roberts of Christ Methodist Church. Interment was in Chester Cemetery. The deceased was the widow of former Sheriff George W. Carter, who was prominent in the councils of the Democratic Party in this county. She leaves two sons, Norman E. Carter, George W. Carter, Jr., and the following daughters: Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. J. Earle Smith, Mrs. Edward Robinson, Mrs. J. Clifton Rollison, Mrs. Harold B. Williams. Also 17 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

The bearers were the five sons-in-law and Mr. S. E. Passwater. Wilams Funeral Service was in charge of funeral arrangements.
