The Outlook in Wisconsin.

Reports from Wisconsin indicate that the alliance between the leaders of the Democratic party and certain citizens of foreign birth who are bitterly hostile to the school law passed by the Republicans of that State, is not likely to be productive of the result anticipated. The Republicans wisely conceived that it was contrary to sound public policy to permit the children of the commonwealth to grow to maturity without a knowledge of the common language of the country of which they are citizens, and so passed a law requiring that they be taught English. The Scandinavian and other citizens of foreign birth are bitterly hostile to the measure, being impelled by a desire to perpetuate here, on American soil, the habits, customs and language of the lands of their nativity. The Republican party has met the issue with the firmness of thorough conviction of the justice and propriety of the law. It will undoubtedly, for this cause, lose many votes. The Democratic leaders, hoping to profit by the schism, have committed their party to the unpatriotic an un-American views of the foreign element in the State; but it is reported that many Democrats are at variance with this policy and strongly in favor of maintaining the law referred to. The number of these Democrats, it is said, is greater than that of the dissatisfied Republicans, and they will not vote with their party on the issue, so that, after all, the supremacy of the Republican party in the State is likely to be maintained, and the Democrats gain nothing by their sacrifice of principle but the contempt and hostility of the better element of their own party. Whether this shall be the result or not, the Republicens of Wisconsin are to be congratulated on their refusal to sacrifice principle for expediency.

The tariff bill, after its passage, with amendments, by the Senate, was sent to the House of Representatives and referred to the Ways and Means committee. The committee promptly referred it back to the House, recommending non-concurrence in the amendments. This was done in order to hasten the consideration of the bill by a conference committee. The recommendation of the Ways and Means committee was considered by the House in Committee of the Whole and adopted, and the bill is now being considered by the joint committee. The Democrats wanted to discuss the amendments at length, but frittered away the time that was given them in complaints of the arbitrary proceedings of the majority. Mr. McKinley charged that their only purpose was delay and made a strong point in calling attention to the fact that no Democrat had attempted an argument on any one of the amendments. It is impossible to predict the length of time that will be consumed by the conference committee in considering the amendments.

Reports from the Constitutional Convention of Mississippi indicate the probable adoption of the report of the committee on suffrage. This report, as we understand it, provides an educational and property qualification for voters, and has been fiercely resisted in the convention upon the ground that, while disfranchising many colored men, it will operate in precisely the same manner upon a large body of whites. It is, of course, simply undemocratic—not in the sense of that word as applied to the Democratic party, but in its relation to the right of the people to rule.

Senator Quay has not been much given to speech making and there was hardly a suspicion, even among his friends, that he possessed, in a very great degree, the gifts of oratory; but many passages in his eulogy of the late Hon. Samuel J. Randall were replete with beauty and eloquence. His tribute to the dead Pennsylvania statesman was a generous exhibition of regard and admiration for a fallen political opponent.

Speaking Out in Meeting.

Judge Calhoon, who is President of the Mississippi Constitutional Convention, in a speech made on the floor of the Convention, last week, said: “The simple purpose of this convention is to devise a scheme whereby a minority of the people of the State can dominate the majority—nullify it in fact. Why not do it boldly and above board?” Judge Calhoon further said that “the fiat had gone forth that fraud, force and intimidation must cease, and if the convention failed to insure white supremacy by peaceful methods he would, in case a negro was hereafter killed in a political riot, regard himself and every member of the convention as accessory to the murder.” The logical inference from this speech is that Judge Calhoon confesses that hitherto white supremacy has been maintained by fraud, force and intimidation. This is certainly true and is a fact well known to everybody whose eyes are not wilfully blinded concerning it. If legal means can be devised to accomplish that which has only been made possible in Mississippi and other Southern States by the shotgun policy, the people need have no apprehension of federal interference in their local or State affairs. In their efforts to devise such a plan, however, the Mississippi statesmen should bear in mind that the Constitutition of the United States assures to each separate State a Republican form of government, and it may be a question whether any method that subverts the will of the majority of the people and subjects them to the control of the minority is Republican in form. Just here there is a large sized constitutional rock in the way of the enforcement of the new Mississippi plan.

The Party Differences in Baltimore.

The Republican State Central Committee met in Baltimore on Thursday and adopted a plan for the adjustment of the factional difficulties existing in the party in that city. Neither of the antagonistic city executive committees was recognized, but a committee, consisting of John C. Rose, Sidney E. Mudd and Henry Stockbridge, Jr., was appointed to call primaries for the nomination of candidates for the First Branch of the City Council. Immediately after the fall elections the same committee shall call primaries for the election of a city executive committee.

It was further resolved that a committee of seven members of the State Central Committee and one intelligent and reliable Republican in each Congressional district shall be selected to formulate a plan for a constitution for the government of the Republican party of the State, which plan shall be submitted to a convention to be held in Baltimore on the third Wednesday of January next.

Whether the plan to harmonize the differences existing in Baltimore will be effective, remains to be seen. The indications are that it will not. The right step has been taken, however, in preparing for the future government of the party.

Four Democratic Congressional conventions were held in this State on Wednesday. As previously foreshadowed, the Second District convention, which met at Bel Air, renominated Hon. Herman Stump by acclamation. In the Third District, now represented by Hon. Harry Welles Rusk, that gentleman was renominated without opposition. In the Fourth District, Hon. Isidor Rayner, who was beaten by Mr. Stockbridge two years ago, was nominated by acclamation. It will be remembered that the Third and Fourth Districts were gerrymandered by the Legislature last winter, in order to make the Fourth securely Democratic. The convention of the Fifth District met at Catonsville, and without opposition Hon. Barnes Compton was selected to run against Mr. Mudd. This district was also gerrymandered and the Democratic vote increased, whether to a sufficient extent to return Mr. Compton elected without resorting to some of the methods for which he was unseated by the present Congress, remains to be seen. The Democratic convention of the Sixth District was held at Hagerstown on Thursday and nominated Gen. Wm. M. McKaig, of Cumberland. The convention endorsed the administration of President Cleveland, which was repudiated by the people in 1888; declared in favor of tariff reform on the line of Cleveland's free-trade message of 1887, and denounced Speaker Reed and Mr. McComas, as a matter of course. And that will be about all its action will amount to.

Mr. James Busey, the notorious rough and local Democratic boss of the Seventeenth ward of Baltimore, and Mr. Warden Weyler, of the Maryland penitentiary, joined issues in the City Council primary the other day, and the fight resulted in the inglorious defeat of the guardian of Maryland's State prisoners. The contest grew out of Busey's hostility to City Councilman Hoffman, whose renomination he opposed. Weyler and Busey have been good friends until this issue arose. The former stood by Hoffman and the fight was a fierce and bitter one, but Busey, who has many times figured in the courts for violating the laws of the State, won by a majority of something like three hundred in a total vote of upwards of two thousand. The fight was not confined to ballots alone, although, in that respect, repeating arms were used freely, but there were numerous rows and plenty of arrests to attest the lively character of the “scrimmage.”

There is a curious error in the gerrymandering bill passed by the Ohio Legislature for the purpose of increasing Democratic representation in Congress. It is nothing less than the omission of a voting precinct from inclusion in any Congressional district. It is supposed this error will invalidate the whole law, but the previous law cannot be fallen back upon as, it is said, the same error was made in that. In this emergency there is talk of an extra session, which will doubtless be called by Governor Campbell, to rectify the mistake. It might be possible, however, without further legislation, to elect all the members of Congress from Ohio on a general ticket. Such a course would give the winning party a good chance to control the next Congress.

Vice President Morton's Guernsey cattle and Southdown sheep took the prizes in their respective classes at the New York State Fair, held at Syracuse this week.

Mr. Robert Ray Hamilton, husband of the woman who is in the New Jersey penitentiary for assaulting with intent to kill her child's nurse, a year or more ago, was drowned in the vicinity of the Yellowstone Park several weeks ago. Some circumstances point to suicide. Mr. Hamilton had purchased an interest in a ranch near the Park, and was on a hunting expedition when the catastrophe of his death occurred. His horse was found quietly feeding in the neighborhood of the spot where his body was found. Divorce proceedings against his wife were pending at the time of his death and will probably abate as a consequence of that event. His criminal wife, and the child which it is charged was palmed upon him as his offspring, but was in reality a foundling, will therefore come in for a share, if not the whole, of his estate. Mr. Hamilton's income was said to be $20,000 per annum. He was a great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton.

Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, of Ohio, has written a letter to his constituents, declining to be a candidate for re-election to the seat he now holds in Congress, assigning as a reason the necessity of engaging in some pursuit which will enable him to place his family in circumstances of security against casualty or death. Mr. Butterworth is one of the most prominent members of the House, and his retirement will be good news to the Democrats, who have always had a wholesome dread of his powers of sarcasm.

The measure known as the anti-lottery bill passed the Senate on Tuesday last. It aims at excluding the use of the U. S. mails for the transaction of any of the business of lottery organizations and its direct object is the suppression of the Louisiana evil. Heavy penalties are provided for its violation and will certainly be enforced. President Harrison was particularly anxious for the passage of this measure, having made the lottery evil the subject of a special message, in accordance with the recommendations of which the bill was introduced in Congress. It will certainly receive his signature and become a law.

The election held in the State of Wyoming last week resulted in a complete victory for the Republicans, who elected the Governor and all the other State officers, the Member of Congress, and a majority of thirty-five in the Legislature. The Mormon voters of the State affiliated with the Democrats, but that party gained nothing by the combination except the odium properly attaching to such an alliance. Two Republican Senators will be added to the present majority in that body by this victory.

The Baltimore Morning Herald of Tuesday says: “The construction of the Harrisburg Terminal railroad is well under way and will be completed by next spring. The Reading Railroad Company, which will control the road, will issue $2,000,000 5 per cent. bonds for building the latter. The bonds will be issued in the name of the Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburg Railroad which is owned by the Reading, and whose line will connect with the Western Maryland. They will be secured by a mortgage on 40 miles of road and a handsome depot in Harrisburg, occupied jointly by the Reading and Western Maryland, and a bridge over the Susquehanna River. The bonds will be guaranteed by the Reading.

Somebody poisoned a lot of barbecued pork which was partaken of by a hundred or more people at a dinner given at the close of a colored religious revival meeting at Collirine, Ala., last Sunday. At last accounts about twenty of those who partook of the poisoned meat were in a critical condition, eight having already died. The remainder were recovering. A coroner is investigating the case, but the author of the horrible attempt at wholesale slaughter has not yet been discovered.

Ten thousand New York farmers stood in the mud on the State Fair grounds at Syracuse, on Tuesday, to listen to a speech by Chauncey M. Depew; and a great speech it was. The versatility of Mr. Depew's genius is amazing. He talked like a well informed farmer to farmers, and at the same time displayed a wide knowledge of economic questions, He showed, very forcibly, the interdependence of railroad and farming interests also.

The Hagerstown correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing under date of 17th inst., says the 18th Maryland regiment, on that day, erected a monument at Bloody Lane on the Antietam battlefield. There is some mistake about this. There was no 18th Maryland regiment at the battle of Antietam. In fact, while Maryland had a good many more than eighteen regiments in the field, we do not recall that any of them reached as high a number as that.

FERTILIZERS

We appear again before the farming public in this our second year, greatly encouraged both in the amount of sales and from the flattering reports that we are receiving daily from all sections of the county as to the good results on last year's crops. We could produce hundreds of testimonials verifying this fact without going back over a series of years to get them; but as we have sold goods over nearly all this county, we prefer to refer you to your neighbors who have used them.

We challenge competition in analysis, drilling condition and bulkiness of our goods, as our sacks will show, and we also challenge competition in and we invite the farmer to go to the full extent of finding out the truth of this assertion. We believe that we are selling more goods than all of the factories of the county combined, and it is because of the large amount of our sales that we are able to do business on small profits.

We Make Our Own Goods

from material with a guaranteed analysis, and

We know what we Sell, and do not have them manufactured by the cheapest BIDDER IN SOME OBSCURE PLACE, but do it right under the eyes of our customers. We will give a large reward if any such insoluble matter as hoofs, horns, leather or marl, or such cheap materials as plaster, ashes or dirt of any kind can be found in them. We invite the farmer to our factory and ask that you encourage home manufacture by buying from
