In Memoriam–

A tribute of love to the memory of my beloved mother, Carrie Grulkey, who departed this life February 22, 1944.

The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one I love
From memory pass away.
The rolling streams of life rolls on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of Mom, who once sat there.

Always remembered by
Daughter Sadie

MEDICAL CARE BILL SIGNED BY GOV. O'CONOR

ment, a unique development in the field of health service.

"The long step forward in the field of medicine represented by this new medical care law is distinctly in the with the most advanced thought on social development. While there have been various attempts, both Federal and on the State level, to make available needed medical care, this is the first time, as far as we know that the people of any State have definitely written into the law their acceptance of the responsibility for maintaining the health level of that portion of the population which is financially unable to make such provision for themselves.

"This accomplishment will render unnecessary the predicted Federal intervention in medical practices within the States, at least as far as Maryland is concerned. Having absolute confidence in the medical profession, we have projected this plan which is endorsed by the doctors of Maryland and is in exact accordance with the recommendations of the State Committee on Medical Care.

"The report of this Committee, made during the past year, revealed very definitely that a large number of people in the vairous Counties could not afford to pay for needed medical service. Lack of financial means made it impossible for many people to secure even the barest of medical help while many others, although self-supporting, were forced to defer or forego altogether emergency treatment because they could not bear the cost entailed.

"Medical and hospital authorities throughout the Country will watch with interest the functioning of this medical care program in Maryland. Undoubtedly, our experience here will serve as a guide to authorities in other States while, at the same time, offering to us guidance on the development of the program among our own people.

"Let me repeat here that this is not an attempt to take over generally the medical problems of our population. The growth of hospital insurance within our State, as well as of other types of health and accident insurance among our people, will be encouraged to the fullest in the confidence that every person in our State who can afford to do so will ultimately make provision for his or her own medical needs. This law merely is an expression of the feeling among our people that the State owes it to her less fortunate citizens to assist them in maintaining proper standards of health."

STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION MET IN BALTO.

At its annual meeting last Saturday at Baltimore, the Maryland Press Association, largely composed of weekly newspaper publishers, reaffirmed its conviction of the importance of weekly newspapers, from the standpoint of community and national welfare, and adopted a broad educational program pointed to improvement in services rendered to subscribers and advertisers.

All officers and members of the board of governors were re-elected as follows: P. G. Stromberg, Ellicott City TIMES, president; Murray J. Ewing, Elkton CECIL WIG, vice-president; C. E. Bray, Easton STAR-DEMOCRAT, secretary-treasurer; and as board members, Leo M. Moore, Havre De Grace DEMOCRATIC LEDGER; William S. Collins, Chestertown TRANSCRIPT; G. Arthur McDaniel, Federalsburg TIMES; L. A. Andrus, Centreville RECORD-OBSERVER; and J. D. Worthington, Bel Air AEGIS. G. W. Sample, director of information and publications at the University of Maryland, was chosen as field manager to assist the association with its development program.

Several high government officials addressed the publishers, including U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, Baltimore Mayor T. R. McKeldin, John S. White, speaker of the Maryland House fo Delegates. Other addresses were made by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University, and General Philip Hayes, commandant of the Third Service Command. Senator Millard E. Tydings telegraphed President Stromberg his regrets of not being able to leave Washington for the meeting because of the pressure of government business.

The principal speaker at the luncheon was Arthur H. Deute, president of the National Brewing Company. He pointed out that his years of experience in handling advertising had proved the importance of advertising in weekly newspapers. He paid tribute to the weekly newspaper publishers for the services they were rendering their respective communities.

Dr. Byrd emphasized that continued progress in the publishing of weekly newspapers will depend upon the enthusiasm and cooperation of the publishers to work together as a unit. He said any program of development such as the one being adopted by the publishers in cooperation with the University of Maryland, must be based upon the ideal of service.

General Hayes declared, "You have been generous with space (devoted to recruiting Army nurses and WACS) and the results have been good. But the fact that returning casualties from overseas are now reaching this country at the rate of about 33,000 a month, leaves the Army still in the position of requiring hundreds of additional women recruits. . . I can assure you that that is not an 'old' story, but one that is new and still news."

He reported that as of last February there were 359,248 prisoners of war in the country, including 305,867 Germans, 50,561 Italians, and 2,820 Japanese, and these are held in 135 base camps and 308 branch camps, some of which are located in Maryland. He spoke about the use made of these captured enemy soldiers in helping Maryland farmers and emphasized that the prisoners were not coddled but were handled in accordance with the international laws of the Geneva Conference.

HUGE AMOUNT DEDICATED TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

These appropriations, provided by Governor Herbert R. O'Conor in his budget, represent the largest amount ever dedicated to public school education in Maryland. As noted before the amount, large as it is, will be augmented by whatever contribution the State is called upon to make for the new educational program.

Counties of the State and Baltimore City likewise will receive a total of $14,105,544 during the coming two years for roads construction and maintenance, including funds to be expended by the local authorities. Of this amount $5,699,227 will go to the counties, $2,713,679 in 1946, and $2,985,548 in 1947. Any increase in the actual receipts from motor vehicle revenues, above estimates in the Budget, will be reflected in increased payments to the various counties in proportion.

From income tax receipts, approximtely $4,500,000 additional will be paid directly to the various counties and Baltimore City, plus $230,000 from the Corporation Franchise taxes, one-half of which is allocated by law to the sub-divisions of the State.

Despite the great loss in revenue that the State will suffer through the discontinuance of racing, Governor O'Conor, in his budget, proposed the continuance of the 33⅓% reduction in income taxes, as was provided in the previous budget. In the hope that, despite the racing revenue losses, it will be possible for the Board of Public Works to allow an additional reduction, as was the case in 1943, the Governor has sponsored a similar law authorizing the Board to make such reductions in the future if the income to the State will permit.

In addition, a further reduction in the Real Estate provided by the Governor's fiscal program, brings this levy down to 11 cents per $100.00 of assessment, or less than half the 23.35 cent rate in effect when the Governor took office.

Partly through economics in operation, which have resulted in savings of $6,300,000 during his administration, the Governor pointed out, taxpayers of the State have benefited to the extent of $17,500,000 by tax reduction in the past six years, while employers have been saved an additional $6,800,000 as a result of the Experience Rating Amendment of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Act.
