REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Congress,
JOHN E. WILSON,
OF CECIL COUNTY.

Election Tuesday, November 4th, 1890.

Vicious Legislation.

The Democratic members of the Legislature, in their anxiety to reduce the Republican vote of Southern Maryland, enacted a law at the last session that is operating with extreme hardship on voters whose business may take them temporarily from the State. A case has just come under our notice that indicates the vicious and improper character of this legislation. A young citizen of this county, who for the past two summers has found employment in Pennsylvania, was notified by the officer of registration of the district in which he is a voter, to show cause why he should not be stricken from the list of registered voters. He appeared before the officer and made his statement, offering to verify it by his oath. The officer decided that he must be stricken off. He then came to Westminster and sought advice, which led to the submission of the following statement, in substance, to State's Attorney Henning, counsel of the officers of registration:

"I am a citizen of Carroll county, Md., and claim my residence with my parents who reside here. I have been registered and have voted in a district of the county ever since my majority, three years ago. I worked in Pennsylvania from march, 1889, till just before the election in November of that year. I came home then and voted and remained until last March, and then went to Pennsylvania to work and remained there until September 29th, when I came back home. I had no attention to acquire a residence in Pennsylvania, and only went there to work temporarily. My home is with my parents and I have had no intention to make a home elsewhere, and my absence was only temporary and intended so to be. I am willing to make oath to the aforegoing statement. Am I entitled to retention on the list of registered voters in the district where I reside?"

To the inquiry predicated upon this statement Mr. Henning replied in the negative. It is not our purpose to call in question his opinion. The question just now is not so much whether the language of the law disfranchises this young man, as whether the Legislature is empowered under the constitution to impose qualifications for voters not authorized by that instrument. The act of 1890 does not define what constitutes residence; it imposes an unnecessary obligation upon the citizen to make oath every time he may be temporarily out of the State for six months, on business, at work, or for pleasure, to make oath that he does not intend to remain out of it, on pain of disfranchisement by being stricken from the list of registered voters. It was intended as class legislation and is in every way vicious. It operates to deprive the citizens of rights that ought to be inalienable, was passed for party advantage and is a flagrant wrong and outrage.

Judge Crane, of the Seventh judicial circuit, has already decided that the law is not applicable to the case of persons only temporarily employed outside of the State, whether they be married or single. In this his opinion differs from the interpretation given it here.

The following among other inquiries, was submitted by State's Attorney Eichelberger, of Frederick, to Attorney General Whyte:

Have single men in government employ, or working out of the state for a living, and whose parents live in the state, lost their residence in the state?

His answer was, "No."

Of course Republicans have no more right to complain of this law than have Democrats, if it be impartially enforced. A rigid inquiry should be made to ascertain whether Democrats who have been out of the county for years, but have voted here, have been stricken from the lists in cases where they failed to make the necessary oath. Let us have fair play in this matter.

Frantic efforts are being made by the Democratic press to demonstrate that the McKinley tariff bill has already increased, or will soon increase, the cost of living in the United States. Intelligent people will realize that too brief a period has passed since the passage of the bill for any perceptible change in this respect. They will understand, too, that merchants, who send out circulars calling attention to an increase of prices on account of the tariff, are either seeking an increase of profits or are actuated by political motives. It is a fact, perfectly well known, that there has been an immense importation of such articles as are affected by the schedules of the new law, and that the supply is largely in excess of the demand for such goods. An attempt to increase prices under these circumstances will certainly end in failure. The competition of trade will soon reduce prices to their proper level, if they should be temporarily increased by fictitious influences.

Governor Jackson, on Thursday, appointed Hon. Frank T. Shaw, of this city, Tax Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Col. Woolford. Dr. Shaw's connection with the ways and means committee of the last House of Delegates, as chairman, and his recognized ability and character and large public experience, well fit him for the efficient discharge of the duties connected with the commissionership.

One of those vexations accidents, or incidents, which sometimes occurr in the best regulated newspaper offices, happened to the SENTINEL last week. In making up the forms two editorial articles were consolidated under the head, "What a Democratic Judge Says." The last paragraph of the article, as it appears, should have been separated from the preceding one by a rule.

Gov. Jackson has appointed Gen. Jos. B. Seth, of Talbot county, commander of the Maryland oyster police fleet.

The McKinley Bill Misrepresented.

From the common tone of Democratic criticism of the McKinley tariff law uninformed citizens would be led to infer that a general increase had been made in customs duties. This may not be willful, but it is practical misrepresentation. The tariff is revised by this law, the rates being raised in many instances, left remaining as they were under the previous law in others, and in many cases lowered or entirely abolished. In the case of sugar, for instance, the duty has been entirely removed on all grades below No. 16 Dutch Standard, and fixed at only half a cent a pound on that and finer grades. This is an immense reduction in the interest of consumers, who include all the people of the country. In this respect it is far more liberal than the famous Mills bill which maintained rates on sugar making an average of something like two cents a pound. Under that notorious measure about forty-five millions of dollars would have been exacted in duties, without corresponding benefit except to a very limited home product. As a protective measure the tariff on sugar was practically without benefit to the country. Under the McKinley law bounties are offered to stimulate sugar production, and the amount of such bounties in the aggregate will depend upon the amount of production. The protection afforded under the old law was of no value to the people, because the area of sugar culture has been too limited to warrant the hope or expectation that it might in time produce a supply sufficient to meet the home demand. The cultivation of the sugar beet may evenutually bring about that desirable result, and the means of stimulating and protecting it is provided in the bounties referred to. Under this McKinley robber tariff, therefore, the masses of the people, who are all sugar comsumers, get the benefit of the abolition of duties on the lower grades and of the largely reduced rates on the higher grades of that product.

Of course sugar is the leading article in this category, but there are many others in which reductions are made in rates or the duties totally abolished, so that, of the ordinary importations, nigh one-half will be admitted free.

Another feature of the new law is the increase of rates on luxuries, whether of kinds produced in this country or not. Champagnes, brandies, cigars and the like are illustrations of this fact.

Altogether the tariff has been adjusted in such manner as to produce the best results and operate for the general welfare and interests of the country, and its effect will be, at no distant day, perceptibly experienced in the increased and increasing prosperity of the country, while its effects will otherwise be felt in the diminution of household exoenses.

Worse and Worse.

The Banner of Liberty of this week, under the above head, has the following: Several weeks ago we referred to the the case of a Carroll county registrar refusing, at the September sitting, to issue certificates for transfers to two persons,—father and son, upon their written application for them, he saying at the time that he would not grant the transfers unless the parties appeared in person, or one of them came and swore for the other. So, on Monday last the father appeared before him for his transfer, and also presented an order from his son, and was willing to take the oath at first required, but the registrar, for some reason perhaps not hard to guess, disregarded his promise and refused to give a transfer except to the son himself. Such registrars are well calculated to cut down the Republican vote. The law is plain enough on this point at least for any one to understand. It says the person shall make application and any man with common sense knows that application for anything can be made in writing as well as in person. We think it the duty of Carroll Republicans to examine that registrar's acts and see if he has been so particular in all cases that come before him. If he has, he has at least been honest to the best of his knowledge. We are glad to say that in the case above referred to we lost nothing but a little trouble and expense.

P. S.—We are glad to say that the Middleburg registrar acted differently.

According to John Morley forty-five per cent. of the inhabitants of England, who reach the age of 60 years, become paupers; and Ruskin said: "Though England be deafened with spinning wheels, her people have not clothes; though she is black with the digging of fuel, they die of cold; and though she has sold her soul for grain, they die of hunger." A beautiful picture this of the benefits of free-trade. It agrees well with the testimony of a former citizen of this place who, two years ago, saw men and women at work in England bare-headed and barefooted. Clothes were cheap, but the laborer had no money to buy. Are the wage-earners of America prepared to lend encouragement to a party which favors the very methods here that have wrought ruin and wretchedness for their English brethren?

The German-American citizens of the United States had a great day on Monday all over the country. It was the 207th anniversary of the landing of the first German settlers in Americ , and was celebrated with imposing ceremonies by naturalized Germans and the descendants of Germans in all the trade centres of the land. In Baltimore a great meeting was held during the day at the Academy of Music, where a vast audience gathered to listen to speeches by Rev. Henry Scheib, Col. F. Raine and Dr. Lewis H. Steiner, and to hear the well-rendered music of the Fatherland. At night a grand torchlight procession occurred in which thousands participated. The procession was an hour and a-half passing a given point and was a grand demonstration. The city was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

For the first time in twenty-five years a Republican was elected Mayor of Covington, Ky., on Monday last. The Republicans also elected the city weigher, three out of five aldermen, five of the ten councilmen and five of the ten members of the school board. The method of balloting was somewhat similar to the Australian system.

It was inadvertently stated in the SENTINEL last week that the duty on wheat had been increased from 10 to 20 cents by the McKinley tariff bill. The increase is really from 20 to 25 cents per bushel.

The stertorous habit, commonly called "snoring," is not infrequently the precursor of nasal catarrh. See that you cure it with Old Saul's Catarrh Cure before it reaches that painful and troublesome stage.

A Grand Wash Women Jubilee will be held at Winfield, in Mr. R. Pickett's grove, near Mrs. David Zile's gate, commencing at 9 o'clock, A. M, Saturday, October 18th, 1890.

HAGERSTOWN'S GROWTH MARVELOUS.

Hagerstown started on a boom in May, 1890, under the guideance of the Hagerstown Manufacturing, Mining and Land Improvement Co., that is developeing into gigantic proportions, and is surprising all with the rapidity with which it is progressing. No town in the South can offer equal advantages or larger future profits. Her cheap transportation over six railrcads, her unexcelled manufacturing facilities, her unrivaled churches and schools, with drives, roads and streets nowhere equaled, are attracting manufactures (six in the last ninety days), investors and persons seeking a location unsurpassed for healthfulness and cheapness of living. Has 95 manufactories now established, 65 passenger and 39 mail trains daily, giving her all the comforts and facilities of a metropolis. Money grows rapidly here when invested in real estate. One instance out of many is given: $133 invested in lots at the June sale brought $1,200 cash in August. The Hagerstown Manufacturing, Mining and Land Improvement Company will hold their second sale of 1,000 business and building lots on Oct. 21st, 22d and 23d, 1890. Don't miss this opportunity to make money in the best town in the South. Car fare refunded to all actual purchasers at this sale. Come and be convinced! Terms of sale:—One-third cash, balance in one and two yearly payments. For any additional information address the Company, or H. H. Straub, acting Secretary Hagerstown, Md.

"Art is long and time is fleeting," and it is too bad to spend half of a short life distressed with neuralgia, when 25 cents spent for one bottle of Salvation Oil will cure it quickly.

George Conklin, the lion-tamer, says he will have nothing to do with cross-eyed animals, nor use any other remedy for his coughs and colds but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. He says it is the only reliable cough medicine to be had.
