WAVES WILL CELEBRATE 3RD ANNIVERSARY

Norfolk, Va., July 21—Approximately 4600 WAVES on duty in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the Northeastern section of North Carolina, which comprises the Fifth Naval District, will celebrate the third anniversary of the Women's Reserve on July 30, 1945.

The Women's Reserve was founded when the late President Roosevelt signed the authorization on July 30, 1942. Four months later, the first WAVE reported for duty in the district—an officer at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Norfolk.

Now WAVES compose 18 per cent of the total naval personnel or 86,000 who are assigned to shore establishments and have released 50,500 men for duty afloat or overseas. They have also taken over about 27,000 other jobs in the greatly expanded naval shore establishments.

Today in the Fifth Naval District 70 offices and naval activities boast from one to 1,000 WAVES. The Hampton Roads area carries the greatest concentration of WAVES with 3200 while the Maryland group in Baltimore and Bainbridge lists 750. In the North Carolina section of the district, 650 WAVES are serving in air and medical units.

Medical and aviation units in the district have the largest total with approximately 1200 each. Types of duty include mechanical and scientific work, teaching as well as clerical and unskilled billets.

WAVES serve in 24 different medical activities which include four major hospitals and two large Marine Corps stations. They are found in important technical positions such as occupational and physical therapy, laboratory technicians, and as assistants in operating rooms.

In all parts of the nation, the Women's Reserve has taken increased responsibilities. One good example is the Indian Head rocket powder plant, which does about 70 per cent of the testing for all U. S. rocket propellant. WAVES completely operate the laboratory, man one of the two firing bays and do approximately half of the ballistic calculations.

The scope of service of members of the Women's Reserve was enlarged during the past year to include the assignment of WAVES for the first time to naval stations outside the continental limits. At present 350 officers and 3659 enlisted women are on duty in Hawaii.

One of the newest fields the WAVES have entered is welfare and recreation training, which is conducted at the School for Personnel Services, Army Service Forces, Lexington, Va. On July 11, 1945, the first WAVE officers to attend the school, 14 in number, were graduated and given assignments within the boundaries of the United States. During the month course, they were given intensive training in music, dramatics, handicrafts, sports and games, program organization and administration.

WAVES in aviation repair planes, pack parachutes, collect weather information, instruct cadets in instrument training, serve as gunnery instructors, operate link celestial navigation trainers, direct air traffic, and serve as flight orderlies for the Naval Air Transport Service. Recently 80 WAVE officers were designated as naval air navigators, two of whom are now on duty at the Norfolk Naval Air Station, and one at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Edenton, N. C.

The largest group of enlisted women are the seamen, who number approximately 24,500, and fill a variety of billets ranging from general office workers to acting as film projectionists and chauffeurs. Thirty-eight ratings are open to enlisted women, with approximately 14,500 WAVES serving as yoemen. Others include storekeepers, radiomen, specialists, telegraphers, electrician's mates, cooks, bakers and printers. A hundred enlisted women have qualified as chief petty officers.

Bernice C. Lovett
vs.
David K. Lovett

In the Circuit Court for Kent County
In Equity No. 3462

The object of the Bill filed in the above entitled case is to procure a Decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii for the plaintiff, a resident of Kent County, Maryland, from the defendant, a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

The Bill states:

1. That on the 18th day of June, 1929, your Oratrix, Bernice C. Lovett, was married to David K. Lovett at Baltimore City, Maryland, and lived there together for about a month, when the said David K. Lovett deserted her and declared his intentions to live with her no longer.

2. That, though the conduct of your Oratrix towards her husband, the said David K. Lovett has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said David K. Lovett has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

3. That your Oratrix now resides in Kent County, State of Maryland, where she has lived for twelve years.

4. That the said David K. Lovett is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

5. That your Oratrix and the said defendant, David K. Lovett, have had no children born to them from said marriage.

It is thereupon, this 10th day of July, 1945, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Kent County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 4th day of August next, give notice to the said David K. Lovett, non-resident defendant, warning him to appear in this Court in person, or by Solicitor, on or before the 20th day of August next, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Our Country Needs Still More Used Fats...And We're the Folks to Save them!

IN between the good news about the war these days, careful readers of the paper will see grave words about a serious national shortage that has a direct bearing on military and civilian production schedules.

● Our domestic supplies of fats and oils will be approximately one and one-half billion pounds less than last year. Yet thousands of tons of fats are still needed to help make countless essentials for the battle- and home-fronts.

● While country people have been doing an even better job of saving fats than the city folks, we must remember that, because of the meat situation, we are in a better position to save. That's why we can't afford to miss a trick.

● So, let's save not only the big amounts from frying and roasting, but also meat trimmings, plate scraps, and scrapings. Melt them down once a week and add the liquid fat to the salvage can. Skim soups and gravies. Scrape every pan. Every drop is important.

● When your salvage can is full, take it to your butcher, and get 2 red points and up to 4¢ for each pound. If you have any difficulty, call your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent.

100,000,000 More Pounds of Used Fats Are Needed This Year

Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.
