Hindu Characteristics.

During the last five years the Government of Bengal has carried out an interesting inquiry into the manners and customs and the ethnological characters of the principal tribes and castes of India. A recent paper by H. H. Risley, read before the Anthropological Institute, London, gives many of the results obtained. Actual measurement of the head, features and stature has disclosed the existence of two extreme types of natives, to which the name of Aryan and Dravidian have been applied. The Aryan type is represented by the Brahmins, the Rajputs, and the Sikhs. It is a tall, fair type, having a finely cut nose, and features on the whole superior to those of the average European. The Dravidian type is seen in the Kol tribes, who recently revolted against the oppression of their Hindu landlords. It is a short, very black type, with a broad flat nose approaching to that of a negro.

From a work on Hindu folk-lore, we learn that if a person is drowned, struck by lightning, bitten by snakes, or poisoned, or loses his life by any kind of accident, or by suicide, then he goes usually to hades. If he dies naturally on a bed or a roof, he becomes a "Bhut," or evil spirit, and with this belief care is taken, on the approach of death, to move the person carefully on to the floor. The earth is believed to be resting on the horn of a cow and the raised trunks of eight elephants called "Diggai," or "elephants supporting the regions," and each of the cardinal and subcardinal points of the compass has its appropriate guardian. An eclipse is produced by the occasional swallowing up of the sun or moon by the severed head of Rahu, son of the demon family, who was decapitated by Vishnu for disguising himself as a god and drinking nectar.

The Grape-Fruit.

Comparatively little is known in this country of the grape-fruit, or pomelo, which is now widely grown in Central America. The pomelo tree is a native of China and Japan, and was first brought to the West Indies by Captain Shaddock. Thence it was taken to Florida and California, where upward of forty distinct varieties are now in existence. The grape-fruit is of the Citrus family, and somewhat similar to the orange in appearance, though rather large and coarser. The pomelo can be grown more easily than the orange, and coming as it does at the close of the orange season, it is in a fair way to become popular in the States. The fruit grows in clusters, two, three or four hanging together from the stem, from which peculiarity it has derived the name grape-fruit, by which it is generally known. A comparatively small tree will, it is said, often bear as many as two thousand pomelos at a time. These are cut down in the same manner as oranges, and wrapped separately in tissue paper ready for the market, where they fetch from a penny to sixpence each. The quality varies as much as, if not more than, that of oranges. Those with smooth, clear skins are considered the best. It is a singular fact that though widely grown in Central America this fruit is not systematically cultivated to any very great extent, many of the trees being planted more for ornament than use. If properly treated the yield would be much better than it is to-day, and would give a very fair amount of profit to the grower.

Work Now.

Young man, do not leave it to a future day, but do it now. Man of middle age, you have a vivid sense of the rapidity with which your years have gone, but they will go just as rapidly in the future as in the past. Man of old age, you have to make haste—you have no time to lose.

The ancient law said concerning the sale of on estate, "According to the number of years, thou shalt diminish the price." The nearer they were to the Jubilee year the cheaper they were to sell the land. So the nearer you come to the end of your days you ought to hold earthly things more loosely, and prize heavenly things more highly. When your business is drawing to a close you hasten to conclude your work, dispatching sometimes in an hour more than all that went the day before.

When Napoleon went on the field of Marengo it was late in the afternoon, and he saw that the battle was really lost, but looking at the western sun he said, "There is just time to recover the day!" and giving out his orders with rapid and characteristic energy, he turned defeat into victory. So although your sun is near to setting there is time to recover the day. Avail yourself of the eventide, lest your life end in eternal failure.

Prof. Ponfick, a surgeon of Breslau, Germany, has succeeded in removing in rabbits portions of the liver amounting to one-half, without killing them, and has subsequently found that the dissected organ grew again to more than its original size, proving that the liver has the astonishing power of repairing lost tissue.

A discontented man is like a snake who would swallow an elephant.

FERTILIZERS

We appear again before the farming public in this our second year, greatly encouraged both in the amount of sales and from the flattering reports that we are receiving daily from all sections of the county as to the good results on last year's crops. We could produce hundreds of testimonials verifying this fact without going back over a series of years to get them; but as we have sold goods over nearly all this county, we prefer to refer you to your neighbors who have used them. We challenge competition in analysis, drilling condition and bulkiness of our goods, as our sacks will show, and we also challenge competition in and we invite the farmer to go to the full extent of finding out the truth of this assertion. We believe that we are selling more goods than all of the factories of the county combined, and it is because of the large amount of our sales that we are able to do business on small profits.

We Make Our Own Goods

from material with a guaranteed analysis, and

We know what we Sell, and do not have them manufactured by the cheapest BIDDER IN SOME OBSCURE PLACE, but do it right under the eyes of our customers. We will give a large reward if any such insoluble matter as hoofs, horns, leather or marl, or such cheap materials as plaster, ashes or dirt of any kind can be found in them. We invite the farmer to our factory and ask that you encourage home manufacture by buying from
