Using a Cat as a Clock.

Every one knows that cats can see in the dark, and the reason they can do so is because of the peculiar construction of their eyes. You may have noticed that in a moderate light the pupil or black part of pussy's eye is small and of an oval shape, while in a full glare of light it becomes narrow. Now, in the dark it expands to a circle and nearly fills the surface of the eyeball. This peculiarity of the cat's eyes is turned to account in a curious manner by the Chinese. The Abbe Huc relates that when he was traveling in China he asked his attendant what time it was. The man went over to a cat that was quietly basking in the sun, and examining his eyes, told the abbe that it was about two hours afternoon, and, on being questioned how he knew that, he explained that the pupils of a cat's eyes were largest in the morning, and that they gradually grew smaller as the light increased, till they reached their minimum at noon; that then they began to widen again till at night they once more became large.

The good abbe was filled with admiration for the ingenuity of people who could use cats as clocks. But it must be admitted that this way of telling the time of day is rather a loose one and could only be trusted in very clear and serene weather, for temporary gloom or the darkness of a storm would sadly derange your four footed clock and put it all wrong.

Bee and Honey Statistics.

At the Rhode Island experiment station, where bees and honey come in for a share of attention, an interesting trial of the industry of bees was made last season by placing a hive on the scales and frequently recording its weight. Beginning on June 11, on which date no gain was made, the increase fluctuated from nothing to two and a quarter pounds per day. During July the greatest increase in any twenty-four hours was two and three-quarter pounds per day. This was a colony of fair strength, and the weighing was done between 4 and 5 a. m., before the bees left the hive. There were twenty days during which a decided gain was noticed, six in which no gain or loss took place and eighteen days of loss. The gain was twenty-two and a quarter pounds and the loss fifteen pounds, leaving a balance of seven and a quarter pounds. A bulletin from this same station places the value of the annual honey and wax production the same as that of the rice or hop crop of the country and but little short of buckwheat. It exceeds maple sirup and sugar, and also all the vegetable fibers excepting cotton, and yet not over 8 to 10 per cent. of those favorably situated for cultivating bees keep them.

The best helper in trouble, the best guide to the erring, is not one who is utterly unnerved by the distress which his sympathy causes him. Like the skillful surgeon, his head must be clear and his hand steady if he is to probe to the seat of the trouble and administer efficient relief.

Do you know that the roots of trees show great instinct? How they will shoot off here and there, and go down into the earth in search of nourishment. Make it easy for them to find it.

We see it stated that some people regard the Canada thistle as an excellent fertilizer. Praise for the Canada thistle comes about as near "sacrilege" as any thing in secular affairs can.

Have an interview with the orchard and inquire into its needs. Especially ascertain if it is not hungry, and if it is feed it with manure.

The elm tree is declared to be very exhaustive to the soil, and is not fit to be grown where you desire to raise crops.

FERTILIZERS

We appear again before the farming public in this our second year, greatly encouraged both in the amount of sales and from the flattering reports that we are receiving daily from all sections of the county as to the good results on last year's crops. We could produce hundreds of testimonials verifying this fact without going back over a series of years to get them; but as we have sold goods over nearly all this county, we prefer to refer you to your neighbors who have used them.

We challenge competition in analysis, drilling condition and bulkiness of our goods, as our sacks will show, and we also challenge competition in and we invite the farmer to go to the full extent of finding out the truth of this assertion. We believe that we are selling more goods than all of the factories of the county combined, and it is because of the large amount of our sales that we are able to do business on small profits.

We Make Our Own Goods

from material with a guaranteed analysis, and

We know what we Sell, and do not have them manufactured by the cheapest BIDDER IN SOME OBSCURE PLACE, but do it right under the eyes of our customers. We will give a large reward if any such insoluble matter as hoofs, horns, leather or marl, or such cheap materials as plaster, ashes or dirt of any kind can be found in them. We invite the farmer to our factory and ask that you encourage home manufacture by buying from
