THE TRANSCRIPT

The Second Sunday of May has been set apart as Mother's Day.

Everywhere in the shops, has this been emphasized, and the boxes of candy and other packages done up for her are most alluring.

Of course all mothers appreciate these things, brought or sent them by their children, but what they appreciate most is the loving thought of her.

So even if you do give her a beautiful gift of candy, take the time also to gather for her a bunch of lilies of the valley, or some other sweet flower that is blooming in such profusion at this time of year. It seems very fitting that the day which is given to her should be in the most lovely season of the year.

BETTERTON

Death came suddenly to two of Betterton's oldest citizens, Mr. Willey was found dead on Sunday night and Mr. Harry Clark dropped dead on Sunday night. The funeral of Mr. Willey was held in the Episcopal church on Tuesday morning and the interment in Baltimore. Mr. Clark's was held at his home and interred at Cecilton. Sympathy is extended to both of these families in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. William Owens have returned from Baltimore and opened Owens Cottage for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fellows entertained her mother, Mrs. Scott and sister, of Swarthmore several days last week.

Mrs. Laurie Hackett is spending the week with her mother in Baltimore.

Frequently some one will ask, 'just what do you mean by a Chiropractic adjustment?' To nany persons a Chiropractic adjustment brings up the picture of rough handling. Others think of the back as such a delicate structure that a little push may distort it.

In order to make perfectly clear just what a Chiropractic adjustment is and does, it is first necessary to say a few things about that back of ours. In the first place it is strong, well protected, accurately shaped and balanced and can support heavy loads as well as severe strains. Like any other mechanical structure, it can be suddenly or accidentally overloaded. Also by being subject to a wrongful posture, kept out of equilibrium for sustained periods, will tebral bones.

result in displacement of its ver-

The exact position with relation to all the vertebrae of the spinal column must be clearly understood to determine the degree of displacement. When determined and due allowance is made for muscular re-action and other counteracting forces, the hands are placed at the particular point where the least pressure is needed to slip the bone back into normal position. This is neither painful nor unnatural. It is not massage or rubbing which may ease sore or tired muscles. It does make a mechanical change in the vertebral relationship thus removing irritation on spinal nerves.
