PENINSULA NEWS

Construction of a sea-level canal connecting the Great Choptank and Little Choptank rivers, Dorchester county, Maryland, which will bring numerous communities thirteen miles nearer by water route to Cambridge, was recommended today by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, it was announced by Senator Radcliffe and Representative Goldsborough of Maryland.

The proposed canal would entail the dredging of a channel six feet deep and sixty feet wide for a distance of approximately 14,000 feet, at a cost of $59,000 and $1,000 annually for maintenance. The proposed improvement would cut through an improved highway and would entail the construction of a bridge by the State Roads Commission across the waterway at that point, it was explained.

"The most suitable plan of improvement is found by the reporting officers to be a channel 6 feet deep and 60 feet wide from the head of Little Choptank river via Carey creek, a land-cut 3,600 feet long, LeCompte creek and Le Compte bay to Choptank river," the report said.

At the meeting of the Easton Council on Monday night the Mayor was authorized to write to the Public Service Commission stating that the Mayor and Council went on record as opposing the proposed new ferry company which seeks to operate a ferry from the Eastern Shore to Sandy Point. The Council here is in line with all others on the Shore.

Report of drainage work done by five CCC camps on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and in Delaware show that up to Oct. 2 they had cleared 5,351,780 sq. yards of ditch channels and banks excavated 330,650 cubic yards by machine work and 138, 845 cubic yards by hand and explosive, according to Ray W. Carpenter, who is in charge of these camps. It is conservatively estimated he states, that the work already accomplished is not more than one-third of what, remains to be done.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Business Men's Association of Easton that two large manufacturing concerns were anxious to locate in Easton. One of these is a pants factory and the other is the International Laytex Company, of Rochester, N. Y. The latter firm employs about 125, and the letter came through the recommendations of Hecht Bros.

The pants factory is asking what concessions are offered. The Laytex Company made no such demands. Both letters were turned over to the secretary to answer.

A mysterous disease has killed a large number of turkeys in Caroline county just as they were ready for the Thanksgiving market. The largest loser was J. Ben Colgain, of Tuckahoe Neck, near Denton, who has lost nearly 100 birds, weighting from 15 to 25 pounds. The turkeys were found lying around the premises in great numbers.

Study of present assessed valuation of real estate for tax purposes is being urged by President H. H. Nuttle of the Maryland Farm Bureau in a message to all County Farm Bureaus of the state, it has been announced from the state office of the organization in Baltimore. The request is made by the Farm Bureau's president in order that organized farmers may present their wishes before the coming session of the Maryland Legislature which will have the question to consider.

One of the most devastating forest fires to occur in this section in many years started on the Deals Island road, west of Princess Anne, around 10 a. m. on Monday, raged throughout Monday and Monday nght, Tuesday and Tuesday night and was not brought under control until late in the afternoon on Wednesday.

But for the gallant efforts of nearby forest wardens and their crews and large troops of boys from Westover, Snow Hill and Public Landing CCC Camps, the fire would probably still be going strong.

More than a thousand acres of Somerset county's best timber land is said to have been burned over during the progress of the fire.

In Judge Shehan's charge to the Grand Jury of Talbot County, on Monday last he stressed the fact that beer saloons were the breeding places of crimes, and in event those operating such places fail to conduct them in an orderly manner they might in the end be denied the right.

The question has been asked, Judge Shehan stated, why don't the courts do something about these places? In answer he stated that the state gives these people the right to operate and therefore it is a legislative act and not judicial.

He pointed out the splendid record of Caroline County with one presentment, Kent County with three and Queen Anne's with seven, and was hopeful for Talbot doing likewise without lessening its campaign against crime.

Dredging of a twenty-foot channel in the Snsquehanna river from Port Deposit, to Chesapeake Bay was disapproved by the army engineers in a report made public Saturday by the Rouse Rivers and Harbors Committee, says Associated Press. Local interests at Port Deposit had requested the present 12 foot channel be deepened to permit shipment of stone from the local quarry in deep-draft barges, contending this would permit an appreciable saving. Explaining a depth of fiftten feet could be provided under existing authority, the engineers said further improvement at this time was "inadvisable." The district engineer was quoted as saying the present lack of commercial activity at Port Deposit was not attributable to lack of adequate channel dimensions.

Earliest Settlements

Newport and Portsmouth share with Providence the distinction of being the earliest settlements. After Roger Williams settled at Providence in 1636 another band of religious "outcasts" from Massachusetts, under the leadership of William Coddington and Anne Hutchinson, settled at Portsmouth in 1638. When dissension broke out in this colony William Coddington and a group moved on to Newport in 1639.
