CHURCH NOTES

RADIANT LIVING

Outlasting Granite

By Rev. C. M. Griffeth
Pastor Calvary M. E. Church
Sudlersville, Md.

On a dreamy afternoon in June of 1897 a certain man, wandering among the scattered masonry of a ruined temple, sat upon an overthrown giant column, and looked upon the view that stretched out before him.

The sloping fields reached down to a distant stream and then on up toward the hazy blue mountains asleep along the horizon. The lazy sun shone down upon the slumbering valley. An impressive stillness pervaded the solitude. Overhead a couple of indifferent birds glided about.

The man sat and dreamed. He imagined the distant past when this now sepulchral valley was once the great noisy city of ancient Ephesus. He tried to picture that upon the very spot where he was sitting there was once a crowded street over whose pavement the heavy ironbound wheels of chariots rattled, triumped and banged.

But of that once proud city, nothing now remained except these few broken columns of the Temple that now lay scattered about half hidden by the tall grass of the lonely field.

Absobed in the thought of the past, he put his hand into his inside coat pocket and drew forth a little book. It was the New Testament. He turned to the Epistle that was once written to this one-time proud populous city, and read these words: "Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through the will of God, to the saints that are at Ephesus. . .

But as he read, his words seemed reluctant to penetrate the heavy stillness of the sleeping fields. They seemed to hang suspended for a moment, and then fall to his feet, leaving him oppressed by the very solitude of the place.

The proud city with its massive and imposing Temple was gone. This little Epistle, written on fragile parchment still lived.

THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a home, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies within his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.

B. R. FELLOWS,
Funeral Director.

1938 Ford V-8 Standard Tudor Sedan

MOST popular of all the Ford V-8 body types is the standard Tudor sedan, shown above. A lower hood, more sweeping lines, a newly-designed front end, louvres, fenders and hubcaps are featured. The car is available either with 85 horsepower or 60 horsepower V-8 engine. Interiors are attractively appointed. The front seat is full width. The seat back is divided. The sections are hinged diagonally and swing inward as they are tipped forward so as to leave a wide passageway on either side for entrance to the rear seat. Like all Ford body types the Tudor sedan has a large built-in luggage compartment. The standard cars are engineered for owners who demand the maximum of economy in first cost and operating cost.
