THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

October, with its skies of blue, and turning leaves, can rightly be called this year the supper month. Never, have I heard of so many church suppers in one month as this. If you should ask me, what have we been doing in Chestertown, my answer without wavering, would be, "Getting ready for, working at, or going to church suppers." Entertaining privately seems to be a forgotten thing of the moment, so I have no luncheon parties or supper parties to write you about.

Mrs. Charles Whaland however, entertained at a delightful party, late Tuesday ngiht following the Democratic meeting, at which time, the state candidates for office were guests of honor. A number of the town people were invited and the evening proved a most enjoyable one.

Wednesday and Thursday, many had dinner guests as well as house guests when the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Easton held a two day session in Emmanuel P. E. Church.

Last night, Friday, the Sophie Fisher Inn was the scene of the dinner given by the Kent County Historical Society.

And so we cover the church, the historical minded, and those who are garden inclined are reminded of the small chrysanthemum show at the home of Mrs. Jesse Maxwell next Wednesday, November 2 at 2 p. m. The show will be open to the public but exhibits will be confined to members of the Garden Club only. James Anthony will talk on "Putting the Garden to Bed for the Winter."

While on Friday of next week, the annual barn dance (combined with a card-party this year) will be held at Worton Manor the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell at 8 o'clock. The dance will be held in the barn, with door prizes for both the dance and at the house where cards will be played. As you know, this is for the benefit of the Hospital, so be sure to go.

Meantime on Wednesday, the many friends of Mrs. Catherine Beck Jones will eagerly await her arrival from Europe. I hear all kinds of rumors in the making to celebrate her return to the community, so maybe I'll have some news for you of parties before long.

Mrs. H. Clay Brown left on Wednesday for Philadelphia where she is the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gilpin Brown. She will be joined over the week-end there by her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Brown, who is teaching in Baltimore, at the Garrison Forest School.

Mr. Frank Hines, Jr., of Richmond, was the guests of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hines from Sunday until Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. H. Douglas Curry and her daughter, Miss Charlotte Jane Curry, of Westfield, Conn., are now guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hines. Miss Curry is recuperating from an operation recently performed at the Church Home Hospital in Baltimore.

Mrs. Stanley Giraitis, has returned to Chestertown until the 10th of November. Mr. and Mrs. Giraitis have leased an apartment in New Haven, Conn., where they will make their future home.

Miss Mary Margaret Eliason had as her guests last week Miss Charlotte Kramer, daughter of Col. Floyd Kramer, of Fort Totten, Long Island, N. Y. Miss Kramer was entertained at a luncheon at the Sophie Fisher Inn on Thursday.

Mrs. Charles D. Drayton, of Washington, D. C., spent a few days recently with Miss Adelaide Glascock.

Mrs. Zelda Atwell, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Atwell at Kennedyville, Md.

Mr. William S. Collins is spending the week ni New York City on business. He will be joined there for the week-end by William B. Usilton, 3rd.

Mr. John Collins, his daughter, Elizabeth and little son, John, arrived Thursday night, having motored from their home, Beckley, W. Va., and are guests of Mrs. R. H. Colins, Sr. They will return to West Virginia on Sunday.

Before I write you again Hallow'Een will have come and gone. 'Tis the time when black cats, witches, spooks and ghosts appear. Yes goblins too! Monday night it behooves you to beware, for there's magic in a cornfield and magic in the autumn when the harvest moon hangs high.

Yours on guard,

THE WANDERER

LOCAL COMMITTEE MAKES PLAN FOR NATIONAL ART WEEK

Mrs. Ingersol Named Chairman For Kent County

National Art Week, November 1 to 7th, will be celebrated again this year in Maryland and Deleware along with 30 or more States. Each county displays the work if its local artists and craftsmen in store windows, libraries schools or any public place designated by the chairman of each county. Last year Maryland won the national first prize given through the efforts of Mrs. Florence L. Holiman state chairman of the local chairman of each county. Every county of Maryland was represented, Kent County showing its exhibits in store windows through the kindness of Chestertown merchants and also at the Country Fair.

These exhibits are sponsored by the Legaue of Professional Artists and are given to encourage art in each community and to bring out local talent. Many of the paintings and other things are for sale. Mrs. Gretchen Kratzer Wood formerly of Chestertown has been appointed chairman of Porto Rico and this year they are having National Art Week also with 40 artists answering to the roll call.

At this writing we don't know the names of all who will exhibit in Kent County hope to see work from all of those who exhibited last year, which we would like to have brought to Reed Hall Library October 31st from 8 to 12 a. m. If possible bring work never before shown in Chestertown.

We would be glad to have any one bring their work and would like especially to have school children bring one or two drawings each, modelling and craftwork. Exhibition will be free to the public open daily at Reid Hall.

The committee in charge is:

Mrs. D. W. Ingersoll, Mrs. Julian Corrington, Mrs. Thomas Eliason, Mrs. Stewart Moore, Mrs. Malon Kingsley.

Mrs. Corrington and Mrs. Ingersoll are also exhibiting in Wilmington and Mrs. Ingersoll in Baltimore too.

NOVEMBER BALLOT TO CARRY BLANKS IN EACH BLOCK

Indications Are That It Will Be 3 Feet Long

When voters go to the polls on November the 8th they wlil probably be faced wtih a ballot thirty four inches long due to a ruling this week that blank spaces must be left in each box so the voter may vote for their choice whether or not his or her name appears on the ballot.

The ballots will be similar to the ballots of a number of years ago. It was understood that the election law was changed eight years ago eliminating the blank spaces and during that time they have not appeared. The recent ruling will, however, change the ballots so that voters may write in any name they wish.

The ruling has brought about a complete change in the printing of the ballots, a facsimile of which will appear in this paper next week.
