Lessons In Hydraulics.

Judge Field, of the Supreme Court, at a dinner party at Washington astonished the distinguished guests present, including the President, the Chief Justice, and Speaker Reed, by statements he made, based on his California experience, of the power of water in motion, as illustrated by hydraulic mining. Justice Field, giving ex-Senator Fair of Nevada, as authority, stated that under a vertical pressure of 100 or 200 feet, the force of the stream is sometimes so great as to hurl away or hold boulders weighing a thousand pounds; and that it would be no more possible to cut through such a stream with a crowbar or an axe, where it issued from the nozzle, than to sever eight inches of solid iron with a penknife. The distinguished guests were incredulous, and Justice Field promised to collect evidence in support of his statements that would satisfy the doubters. He has done so, and the New York Sun has had the opportunity of collating some of the wonders of practical hydraulics gathered by Justice Field. We think they will astonish the general reader who has paid little attention to this branch of mechanics.

Mr. Louis Glass, for 16 years the superintendent of the Spring Valley mine assures Justice Field that he has seen an 8 inch stream, under 311 feet of vertical pressure, move in a sluggish way a 2 ton boulder at a distance of 20 feet from the nozzle; and that the same stream striking a rock of 500 pounds would throw it as a man would a 20 pound weight. "No man that ever lived," adds Mr. Louis Glass, "could strike a bar through one of these streams within 20 feet of discharge; and a human being struck by such a stream would be killed—pounded into a shapeless mass." Mr. Augustus J. Bowie, of San Francisco, the author of a standard book on hydraulic mining, estimates that the stream from a 6 inch nozzle, under 450 feet vertical pressure, delivers a blow of 588,735 foot pounds every second, equivalent to 1,070 horse power. "It is absolutely impossible," says Mr. Bowie, "to cut such a stream with an axe or to make an impression on it with any other implement." Mr. Bowie adds that, although never to his knowledge has a man been struck by such a stream as it comes from the pipe, several accidents have occurred where miners were killed by very much smaller streams at distances of 150 or 200 feet from the nozzle. After elaborate series of computations, professor Samuel B. Christy, of the University of California, an eminent authority on mining and metallurgy, reports to Justice Field that—"If a nozzle of from six to nine inches diameter were specially arranged to throw a stream vertically upward against a spherical boulder of quartz weighing 1,000 pounds, the vertical head being anywhere from 100 to 500 feet, the boulder would be forced up until the diminished velocity of the stream established an equilibrium of pressure. There would be a point at which the upward pressure of the stream would exactly balance the gravity pressure of the boulder, holding it, the half ton rock, there suspended. In practice, of course, the boulder could not be balanced accurately upon the axis of the stream, but would fall to one side or the other. But if a large conical basket of iron bars were arranged about the nozzle so as to catch the boulder whenever it should be deflected from the stream and return it to the nozzle, the 1,000 pounds of quartz would be kept in play like a ball in a fountain. As to cutting these streams, Professor Christy says that he has often tried to drive a crowbar into one of them. The stream felt as solid as a bar of iron, and, although he could feel the point of the crowbar enter the water for perhaps half an inch, the bar was thrown forward with such force that it was almost impossible to retain it in the grasp. An axe-swung by the most powerful man alive could not penetrate the stream; yet it might be cut by the finger of a child, if the child were seated on a railway train moving parallel with the stream in the same direction and with the same velocity. That velocity would be considerably more than a mile a minute."

It is reported that the observers at Mount Hamilton have lately kept a sharp eye turned upon the shadow of one of the moons of the planet Jupiter. This shadow seemed double, indicating that the tiny moon which cast it is also double. Since the first hint of the discovery many observations have been made through the Lick glass, all tending to confirm the original impression, to-wit: That this particular satellite of the greater of the planets is double—a dot of a moon revolving around the main moon.

The mules in Ingle's coal mines, near Evansville, Ind., were hoisted out recently. Some of them had not seen daylight for eight years. The smallest thing frightened them, a flying bird causing them to jump, while upon seeing a dog they would stand and tremble with terror.

A Great American Magazine.

THE SUCCESS OF "THE CENTURY" AND ITS PLANS FOR 1891.

The Century Magazine is now so well-known that to tell of its past success seems almost an old story. The N. Y. Tribune has said that it and its companion, St. Nicholas for Young Folks, issued by the same house, "are read by every one person in thirty of the country's population,"—and large editions of both are sent beyond the seas. It is an interesting fact that a few years ago it was found that seven thousand copies of The Century went to Scotland—quite a respectable edition in that. The question in England is no longer "Who reads an American book?" but "Who does not see the American magazines?"

A few years ago The Century about doubled its circulation with the famous War Papers, by Gen. Grant and others, adding many more readers later with the Lincoln History and Kennan's thrilling articles on the Siberian Exile System. One great feature of 1891 is to be describing that remarkable movement to the gold fields in '49, in a series of richly illustrated articles written by survivors, including the narratives of men who went to California by the different routes, accounts of the gold discoveries, life in the mines, the work of vigilance committees (by the chairman of the committee) etc., etc. General Fremont's last writing was done for this series. In November appears the opening article, "The First Emigrant Train to California"—crossing the Rockies in '41—by Gen. Bidwell, a pioneer of pioneers. Thousands of American families who had some relative or friend among "The Argonauts of '49" will be interested in these papers.

MANY OTHER GOOD THINGS ARE COMING,—

the narrative of an American's travels through that unknown land Tibet (for 200 miles over ground never before trod by a white man); the experiences of ogaping War-Prisoners; American Newspapers described by well-known journalists; accounts of the great Indians Fighters, Custer and others; personal anecdotes of Lincoln, by his private secretaries; "The Faith Doctor," a novel by Edward Eggleston, with a wonderfully rich program of novelettes and stories by most of the leading writers, etc., etc.

It is also announced that The Century has purchased the right to print, before its appearance in France or any other country, extracts from advance sheets of the famous Talleyrand Memoirs, which have been secretly preserved for a century—to be first given to the world through the pages of an American magazine. All Europe is eagerly awaiting the publication of this personal history of Talleyrand—greatest of intriguers and diplomats.

The November Century begins the volume, and new subscribers should commence with that issue. The subscription price ($4.00) may be remitted directly to the publishers, The Century Co., 33 East 17th St., New York, or single copies may be purchased of any newsdealer. The publishers offer to send a free sample copy—a recent back number—to any one desiring it.

Other Features.

During 1891 The Tribune will print a valuable series of articles, written by its own traveling correspondent, on the agriculture of the United States, with explanation of a large number of model farms.

A special correspondent, a practical farmer, is now in France, visiting the farms and farm-buildings of that thriftiest of the agricultural nations of the world. He will report upon the dairy, grain, stock and other branches of French farming in illustrated articles.

Mrs. Annie Wittenmeyer, President of the Woman's Relief Corps, will contribute a column of notes and news to The Tribune's G. A. R. page, every week.

Admirable letters of travel in the Southern States, illustrated with pictures, will be printed, describing the South as it exists to-day.

All the regular features will be continued.

The Home Circle columns will be varied by frequent illustrated articles on home decoration, fashions and other objects of intense interest to women. Written principally for people with little money.

Mrs. Bayard Taylor, the widow of Bayard Taylor, will write articles on Cookery. She is a remarkable housekeeper, with a scientific as well as practical knowledge of her subject.

Steinitz, the great chess champion of the world, will supply a column a week on the great and purest of all the games of the home.

Foreign letters, good stories, the news of the day, the best of market reports, book reviews and literary news, witty jokes, etc., etc.

The Tribune is printed in large type and broad columns, and is the easiest paper to read in the country.
