What a Horse Would Say If He Could Speak.

Don't hitch me to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing. I need the skin of my tongue. Don't leave me hitched in my stall all night with a big cob right where I must lie down. I am tired and can't select a smooth place. Don't compel me to eat more salt than I want by mixing it with my oats. I know better than any other animal how much I need. Don't think because I go free under the whip I don't get tired. You would move up if under the whip. Don't think because I am a horse that iron weeds and briars won't hurt my hay. Don't whip me when I get frightened along the road, or I will expect it next time and maybe make trouble. Don't trot me up hill, for I have to carry you and the buggy and myself. Try it yourself sometime. Run up hill with a big load. Don't keep my stable very dark, for when I go out into the light my eyes are injured, especially if snow is on the ground. Don't say whoa unless you mean it. Teach me to stop at the word. It may check me if the lines brake and save a runaway and smash up. Don't make me drink ice cold water, nor put a frosty bit in my mouth. Warm the bit by holding it a half minute against my body. Don't forget to file my teeth when they get jagged and I cannot chew my food. When I get lean it is a sign my teeth need filing. Don't ask me to back with blinds on. I am afraid to. Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give away I might break your neck. Don't put on my blind bridle so that it irritates my eyes, or so leave my forelock that it will be in my eyes. Don't be so careless of my harness as to find a big sore on me before you attend to it. Don't lend me to some blockhead that has less sense than I have. Don't forget the old book that is a friend of all the oppressed, that says, "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."

Sixteen Before He Could Speak.

An interesting and, in all probability, an unparalleled case of intellectual development is to be found in Russell Barnes, of Clarksburg, W. Va. Barnes is 40 years of age and has been from infancy regarded as an imbecile, but is now declared to be only an instance of slow development. He was in his seventh year before he began to exhibit even the intelligence of a babe, and nearly 16 before he was able to pronounce the simplest words, which he did with a child's lisping accents. It was not until then, too, that he made any effort to walk. Efforts to stimulate his brain were repeatedly made, but met with no success, the growth of his mind proceeding as slowly and gradually as with a child of two or three years.

But though finally abandoned as an idiot by his friends, his development has gone on steadily, and now he exhibits the aptitude of a school boy of 13 or 14, betraying a love of study. He takes in ideas but slowly, requiring several hours to commit a short paragraph to memory, though what he has once learned he retains and applies readily.

Prof. Morris has taken great interest in Barnes's case, and he has devoted much time to teaching him. He says that his pupil far from being an idiot, in reality possesses a fine mind, which has only been extraordinarily slow in maturing, but which, should Barnes live long enough for it to reach its full development, will be capable of great things. He seems wholly unconscious in every way that he is a man, having all the tastes of a boy, and enjoying the pastimes and sports of such, and fraternizing with them in everything.

Shell Money.

A transparency in one of the windows of the Catlin gallary, at the National museum, shows an Indian drilling a hole through a piece of shell. He is making money. Not that the photographer had to pay him a great deal to sit for this portrait, but he is manufacturing those flat beads, which most of the Pacific coast Indians rate at one cent apiece.

Indeed, shell seems to have been the earliest, as it is now the favorite money among the lower tribes of men. Every one has heard about the wampum of our eastern Indians. It was made of clam and other shells, cut and worked to the shape of "bugle" beads and was used for currency, recording events, making treaties and in religious ceremonies. The finest old wampum belts are still in the possession of the Iroquois of New York, and the old treaty belt of Penn is in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Sometimes whole shells are used, as the cowries of Asia and Africa and the tusk or dentalium shells of the Indians of Washington, Oregon and California. The latter shell is a hollow curved tube resembling a tooth. They pass, according to size, from twenty-five cents to two dollars. Broken bits pass as our small change, and small shells are made into pretty necklaces for the squaws.

Men are what their mothers make them.

A Great American Magazine.

THE SUCCESS OF "THE CENTURY" AND ITS PLANS FOR 1891.

The Century Magazine is now so well-known that to tell of its past success seems almost an old story. The N. Y. Tribune has said that it and its companion, St. Nicholas for Young Folks, issued by the same house, "are read by every one person in thirty of the country's population,"—and large editions of both are sent beyond the seas. It is an interesting fact that a few years ago it was found that seven thousand copies of The Century went to Scotland—quite a respectable edition in itself. The question in England is no longer "Who reads an American book?" but "Who does not see the American magazines?"

A few years ago The Century about doubled its circulation with the famous War Papers, by Gen. Grant and others, adding many more readers later with the Lincoln History and Kennan's thrilling articles on the Siberian Exile System. One great feature of 1891 is to be describing that remarkable movement to the gold fields in '49, in a series of richly illustrated articles written by survivors, including the narratives of men who went to California by the different routes, accounts of the gold discoveries, life in the mines, the work of vigilance committees (by the chairman of the committee) etc., etc. General Fremont's last writing was done for this series. In November appears the opening article, "The First Emigrant Train to California"—crossing the Rockies in '41—by Gen. Bidwell, a pioneer of pioneers. Thousands of American families who had some relative or friend among "the Argonauts of '49" will be interested in these papers.

"THE GOLD HUNTERS OF CALIFORNIA,"

MANY OTHER GOOD THINGS ARE COMING,—

the narrative of an American's travels through that unknown land Tibet (for 700 miles over ground never before trod by a white man); the experiences of escaping War-Prisoners; American Newspapers described by well-known journalists; accounts of the great Indians Fighters, Custer and others; personal anecdotes of Lincoln, by his private secretaries; "The Faith Doctor," a novel by Edward Eggleston, with a wonderfully rich program of novelettes and stories by most of the leading writers, etc., etc.

It is also announced that The Century has purchased the right to print, before its appearance in France or any other country, extracts from advance sheets of the famous Talleyrand Memoirs, which have been secretly preserved for a century—to be first given to the world through the pages of an American magazine. All Europe is eagerly awaiting the publication of this personal history of Talleyrand—greatest of intriguers and diplomats.

The November Century begins the volume, and new subscribers should commence with that issue. The subscription price ($4.00) may be remitted directly to the publishers, The Century Co., 33 East 17th St., New York, or single copies may be purchased of any newsdealer. The publishers offer to send a free sample copy—a recent back number—to any one desiring it.

Take the Weems line of steamers from pier 2, Light street, for Spencer's Wharf, Patuxent river. Boats leave at 6.30, a. m., Wednesdays and Saturdays and 9 p. m., Sundays, and return Mondays and Wednesdays in the morning and Monday nights. Refer to Messrs. Henry Vanderford and John W. 1891.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

The Tariff and the Farmer.

The Tribune will devote much space during 1891 to the Tariff as it affects the Farmer and the Mechanic.

Hon. Roswell G. Horr, of Michigan, has been added to the Tribune's staff of Tariff writers for this purpose. He will, through the columns of The Tribune, devote himself to this topic, and will invite and answer questions upon points which perplex the American Farmer and Mechanic. He will also, so far as other duties will allow, attend Farmers' Institutes and agricultural gatherings the coming winter and spring, and expound the principles of the Tariff.

Those who desire the presence of Mr. Horr at Farmers' Institutes, etc., are invited to communicate promptly with The Tribune.

Young Men Who Wish to Succeed.

Many a man feels the lack of early direction of his energies and early inculcation of the maxims which promote the formation of character and success in after life. Every such man would gladly see the young men of to-day better guided in youth than he was. The Tribune has planned the following series of valuable articles, which will appear in this paper only:

"What shall I Do?" By S. S. Packard, President of Packard's Business College.

"Suggestions for the Boys on the Farm who are Ambitious." By the Hon. J. H. Brigham, of Delta, Ohio, Master of the National Grange.

"Education without the Help of a College." By President C. K. Adams, of Cornell University.

A Continuation of "How to Win Fortune." By Andrew Carnegie, whose remarkable article of last Spring was so full of encouragement to poor men.

"Multiplicity of Paying Occupations in the United States." By the Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of the Department of Labor.

"A Talk with American Boys." By P. T. Barnum, of Bridgeport, Conn., the great American showman, temperance lecturer, traveler and writer.

"Examples in the History of our own Country. By Gen. A. S. Webb, the gallant soldier of Gettysburg and Spottsylvania and College president.

"Importance of Good Manners." The views of Ward McAllister.

"A College Education good for all; what is best for those who cannot get it." By President William Pepper, University of Pennsylvania.

The Tribune will print from week to week, well-considered answers to any questions which young men or women, in any part of the country, may ask.

Vital Topics of the Day.

"Present Needs and Future Scope of American Agriculture." By the Hon. Jeremiah Rusk.

"Proper Function of the Minority in Legislation." By the Hon. Julius C. Barrows, Kalamazoo.

"Village Improvement Associations, their practicability in Rural Districts, with the story of certain Model Villages." By the Hon. B. G. Northrop, of Clinton, Conn.

"Principle in Politics and the Virtue of Courage." By the Hon. James S. Clarkson, of Iowa.

"Influences of the Labor Movement upon Human Progress." By Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor.

"America's Suburban and Rural Homes." By George Palisser, of New York.

"Glaciers of the United States." By Professor Israel C. Russell, of the United States Geological Survey and explorer of Alaska.

Other Features.

During 1891 The Tribune will print a valuable series of articles, written by its own traveling correspondent, on the agriculture of the United States, with explanation of a large number of model farms.

A special correspondent, a practical farmer, is now in France, visiting the farms and farm-buildings of that thriftiest of the agricultural nations of the world. He will report upon the dairy, grain, stock and other branches of French farming in illustrated articles.

Mrs. Annie Wittenmeyer, President of the Woman's Relief Corps, will contribute a column of notes and news to The Tribune's G. A. R. page, every week.

Admirable letters of travel in the Southern States, illustrated with pictures, will be printed, describing the South as it exists to-day.

All the regular features will be continued.

The Home Circle columns will be varied by frequent illustrated articles on home decoration, fashions and other objects of intense interest to women. Written principally for people with little money.

Mrs. Bayard Taylor, the widow of Bayard Taylor, will write articles on Cookery. She is a remarkable housekeeper, with a scientific as well as practical knowledge of her subject.

Steinitz, the great chess champion of the world, will supply a column a week on the greatest and purest of all the games of the home.

Foreign letters, good stories, the news of the day, the best of market reports, book reviews and literary news, witty jokes, etc., etc.

The Tribune is printed in large type and broad columns, and is the easiest paper to read in the country.
