RECRUITING FOR LOCAL GUARD UNIT NOW UNDERWAY

Increased Quota Makes Vacancies For Ten Men

RECRUITING FOR

Recruiting has started in this section to fil lvacancies in the Medical Detachment of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, which have been created due to the increased quota.

The personal of the National Guard Units have been increased in all parts of the country in order to bring these units up to full peace time strength.

The new order, received by Colonel Frank B. Hines, makes vacancies for twelve men, two of which have already been filled leaving an opening for ten enlistments.

Local Unit Offers Double Training

The Medical Detachment, located at Chestertown(offers unusual training for young men. In addition to the military training it offers in first aid and medical training to young men which is valuable in civilian as well as military life. Men trained in first aid are in a position to save the life of a member of the family or that of a neighbor until medical aid can be secured.

In time of war trained men are at a great advantage over untrained men which statement can be verefied by any one who served during the world war. Men who serve in this unit are paid for drill nights and are trained to more efficiently defend their country in time of war.

Any young man interested in this training should make application immediately as at the present time only ten vacancies exist.

Local Unit Sets New Record

General Marker, Commander of the First Maryland Infantry, in a letter to Colonel Hines this week commended the local guard unit for its 100 per cent attendance during the past quarter.

This unit lead the entire State in attendance and took the honors from Company B. of Hagerstown which has held the attendance record for a number of years.
