RADIANT LIVING

Slow Down A Bit

By Rev. C. M. Griffeth

Pastor Ridgely M. E. Church

Ridgely, Md.

We are driving too fast. Life is like that these days, always crowding on a little more speed. We start off in the morning with a rush. It is rush for the bus. It is rush to the office. It is rush through our work. It is rush out to lunch. It is rush through the afternoon. It is rush home for dinner. It is rush out to the movies. It is rush to bed, to get a little sleep so as to be ready for another day of rush.

John Rush was touring the country. He was proud of the number of miles he could cover in a day's time. "I think I can make Denver by six tonight!" he declared ambitiously to his wife, riding beside him as they flow along the highway.

On through the day they sped. They shot through stupenduous mountain gaps. They crossed impressive rivers. They roared through monstrous gorges. They dashed along entransing vales of unsurpassing beauty. But all that John Rush saw along his tour was the narrow ribbon of concrete along which he flew.

John Rush thought he was touring the country. He was only speeding, —and robbing himself of enjoying the beauties of nature.

We often think we are "living" when we are only speeding.

Let's slow down a bit and see the enhancing beauty and the marvelous grandeur of life—especially since we tour through life but once.

If we slow down sufficiently we might see God and come to know Him, Whom to know aright is life eternal!

An Easter Message

The enclosed message has been issued by the President Bishop of the Episcopal Church:

Because the world needs so badly a demonstration of Christian loyalty from America, it is my sincere hope that every person affiliated with the Episcopal Church will be in his parish church this Easter. Europe and the Orient are at war. Nations at conflict are watching America. Above all else we need at this time to renew our faith in Christ and to let the world know that through Him and Him alone permanent peace can be attained. I therefore hope you and your family will join with me and others in worshipping the Risen Christ this Easter.

SEE WHAT THE YARDSTICK SAYS ABOUT BIGNESS!

The Ford V-8 has the most compact engine and the longest springbase among all low-priced cars. So, inside the body, where bigness counts, it's not surprising to discover these facts:

A Inside length, windshield to rear window, is 100¼ inches . . . actually greater than some cars substantially higher in price!

B Rear seat knee room exceeds that in either of the other two leading low-priced cars. (Measurements taken in 4-door sedans, with front seat adjusted all the way back!)

C Rear seat passengers in a Ford ride farther ahead of the rear spring center, toward the center of the car where riding quality is best, than passengers in any other car at the price!
