A More Miserable Makeship.

The attempt of the Democrats in Congress to patch up some sort of a compromise by which the Sherman silver law, which was denounced by the Democratic National Platform as a miserable makeshift, might be repealed or suspended, seems to be destined to an ignominious failure. The Sherman law has served its purpose and should be repealed. It was passed for the purpose of preventing a large majority of the Democrats from adopting, by the aid of a few silver Republicans, a free silver coinage act, and was and is immeasurably better than such a law, which would have debauched the currency of the country long ago. The certificates or treasury notes issued upon the deposits of silver bullion, purchased under the law, are at least based upon the actual value of the metal and not upon an arbitrary standard. Except as the price of silver has depreciated these certificates represent equal values in the precious metal stored in the treasury vaults. But —lame and impotent conclusion—the Democrats propose to coin part of this accumulated bullion into standard silver dollars, containing 412½ grains and worth something over sixty cents in the dollar. This, under the terms of the repealing act agreed upon among the Democrats, is to be done at the rate of $3,000,000 per month. In other words they propose to coin about that quantity of standard dollars per month out of bullion the value of which does not exceed two millions.

Of course there is a provision in the proposed measure to placate the free-silver men; but it is said to be unsatisfactory to that element. The general features of the proposed bill are also obnoxious to the Republicans, who will not support it, and it now appears almost certain that no legislation for the abrogation of the Sherman law can be anticipated during the present Congress. There would be very little wisdom in superseding the "miserable makeshipt," with one more miserable still. Following is the full text of the proposed bill:

"That the Secretary of the Treasury shall set apart so much of the silver bullion, at the coinage value thereof purchased under the act entitled, "An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon," approved July 14, 1890, as may be necessary, including the silver dollars heretofore coined under said act, to redeem all the outstanding United States Treasury notes issued in payment for silver bullion so purchased, and shall retain the same in the treasury, to be used for that puropose only, and he shall cause the residue of the silver bullion purchased under the aforesaid act to be coined at the rate of three million dollars per month into silver dollars of the weight of four hundred and twelve and one-half grains troy of standard silver, as provided in the act of January 18, 1837, on which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act, which coins, together with all silver dollars heretofore coined under the provisions of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be a legal tender, at their nominal value, for all debts and dues, public and private, except when otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. The standard silver dollars coined under this section shall be covered into the treasury as a miscellaneous receipt.

"Second. Any holder of the coin authorized by this act may deposit the same with the Treasurer of the United States, or any assistant treasurer, in sums of not less than ten dollars, and receive therfor certificates in denominations of one, two, five and ten dollars, or multiples of ten dollars corresponding with the denominations of United States notes, and the coin deposited for or representing such certificates shall be retained in the Treasury for the repayment of the same on demand. Such certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued.

"Third. The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to suspend the purchase of silver bullion, under the said act of July 14, 1890, until the reissue of the silver bullion belonging to the United States has been coined as required by the first section of this act.

The tax conference or convention called by Governor Frank Brown met at Sutro's Hall in Baltimore, on Tuesday evening, and was temporarily organized by the election of Hon. Frank T. Shaw, of this city, chairman, and Hon. George A. Pearre, of Allegany county, secretary. A call of the roll disclosed the presence of most of the delegates named by the Governor, though only Dr. Shaw and Mr. Buckey were present from this county. Governor Brown made a lengthy address, in which he explained the constitutional objections which induced his veto of the Hayes bill, and discussed the subject of taxation generally. After voting to appoint a committee of two from each Congressional District in the State, on permanent organization, rules and order of business, a proposition to adjourn until March 1st was introduced, and after considerable discussion, adopted. The county delegates generally opposed the adjournment, but were outvoted. It is not probable that so many of them will again assemble. Senator Hayes, the author of the bill vetoed by the Governor, after the adjournment gave his views at some length and advanced some cogent arguments in favor of its constitutionality.

An election law has been passed by the Alabama Legislature that will disfranchise, it is said, 40,000 colored voters on on account of illiteracy. How many whites will be similarly affected by its provisions is not stated. It ought to prove a stimulus to all men in the State to qualify themselves for the exercise of an intelligent suffrage.

Ex-United States Senator George E. Spencer, of Alabama, died in Washington, D. C., on Sunday night, of paralysis.

The question of the political complexion of the United States Senate during the next Congress has been definitely determined by the election of William N. Roach to represent the State of North Dakota. Mr. Roach is a Democrat and his election gives the Democrats forty-five Senators, not including Martin, who was elected by the minority branch of the Kansas Legislature, and will probably be admitted. although the body by whom he was chosen was illegal. As the Senate is composed of eighty-eight members, however, the Democats will have a clear majority without him. This lays upon them the entire responsibility of legislation and the conduct of the government during the next two years, and will leave them no excuse for failures to redeem the pledges of the Chicago platform, the enforcement of which will leave no vestige of the principle of protection in the tariff revenue laws of the country. We haven't a doubt that the fulfillment of that pledge will be bad for the country and for the Democratic party as well.

The Maryland delegation in attendance at the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the National Educational Association, held in Boston, Mass., this week, received flattering attention and had a very pleasant time. They were presented to Gov. Russell on Tuesday, who expressed a cordial regard for the people of Maryland and spoke of his enjoyment in a recent visit to Baltimore. They were entertained by the City School Board on Tuesday evening. The delegation consists of State Superintendent E. B. Prettyman; Superintendent Henry A. Wise, and Assistant Superintendent Jno. E. McCahan, of Baltimore; Prof. Wilbur F. Smith, of Baltimore, President of the State Teachers' Association; Mr. Jno. C. Bannon, Examiner of Anne Arundel county; Mr. John D. Worthington, Examiner of Harford county; Prof. James A. Diffenbaugh, Examiner of Carroll county, and Mr. John H. Cunningham, of this city.

The Growing Business of the Western Maryland Railroad.

Every report of President John M. Hood, of the Western Maryland Railroad Company, exhibits a gratifying increase in the business and earnings of that important work. On Wednesday he submitted to Mayor Latrobe a statement showing approximately the earnings and expenses of the road during January, which indicates that this increase is of a permanent and healthy character. The report showed:

Gross earnings $84,215.60 against $60,083.26 in January, 1892, increase $24,132.35; operating expenses $64,976.05, increase $15,788.13; net earnings $19,239.55 against $10,895.34 in January, 1892, increase $8,344.21.

President Hood, in his report, also said: "The net earnings for December are shown by actual figures to have been $27,941.52, instead of $23,942.09, as heretofore shown by approximate figures, an increase of $3,999.43.

"For the four months of the fiscal year ended December 31st the gross earnings were $370,627.82 and the operating expenses $260,398.84, being an increase of $92,245.26 in revenue and an increase of $37,211.46 in expenses, making a net increase of $55,033.80 for the four months, which will doubtless be further increased from three to four thousand dollars when the actual figures are substituted for the approximate ones for January."

Maryland G. A. R.

The annual encampment of the Department of Maryland, Grand Army of the Republic, was held in Baltimore on Tuesday and Wednesday. The most important and interesting feature of the proceedings was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which occurred Wednesday afternoon and resulted as follows:

Department commander, Frank Nolen; senior vice department commander, J. W. McCullough; junior vice department commander, O. A. Horner; medical director, J. E. Pritchard; chaplain, A. S. Cooper; council of administration, Thos. J. Larkins, A. F. Carrick, H. C. Mackie, George J. Finch and W. C. Clay; delegate-at-large to national encampment at Indianapolis in September, John W. Worth; alternate-at-large, Daniel Young; delegates, Dr. A. A. White, Myron J. Rose, A. J. Crockett, Edward Schilling; alternates, William H. Parker, Alex. M. Briscoe, J. G. Bridahan, H. E. Challis. The new officers of the department were installed by Junior Vice Commander-in-chief Peter B. Ayars, of the Department of Wilmington. The department commander appointed Dr. Hugh A. Maughlin as assistant adjutant general, and John W. Worth as assistant quartermaster general.

Col. Wm. A. McKellip, Messrs. John M. Reese, Ezra J. Yingling, W. S. Drach and Charles P. Baile were present at the encampment as the representatives of Burns Post of this city; James Easton, of Pickett Post, Winfield, and S. P. Murdock, of Thaddeus Stevens Post, New Windsor.

The Cabinet Complete.

Mr. Cleveland has announced the completion of his selection of cabinet officers, the full list of whom is as follows:

Walter Q. Gresham, of Indiana, Secretary of State.

John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, Secretary of the Treasury.

Daniel S. Lamont, of New York, Secretary of War.

Hillary A. Herbert, of Alabama, Secretary of the Navy.

Hoke Smith, of Georgia, Secretary of the Interior.

J. Sterling Morton, of Nebraska, Secretary of Agriculture.

Wilson S. Bissell, of New York, Postmaster General.

Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, Attorney General.

Most of these gentlemen are comparatively unknown to the people of the country at large and have not occupied very prominent stations politically. Mr. Carlisle is, undoubtedly, the ablest and best man among them.

On Wednesday morning the fast mail train on the Western Maryland Railroad struck a two-horse wagon loaded with furniture, at Chewsville, Washington county, and killed two men, Elias Hoover, aged 45 and Martin Burns 35. John Sneckenberger, who was driving the team, escaped. Both the victims of the accident were married men.

Endangered Port Deposit—A Man and His Son in Peril.

The town of Port Deposit is in deadly peril from the ice gorge in the Susquehanna river, which extends from the bridge of the P. W. & B. Railroad more than ten miles up the river. A portion of the town has already been inundated, but the prospect is that worse is to come, and the destruction of property must necessarily be very great in the final catastrophe unless the ice shall be gradually melted away under the influence of a moderately mild temperature. A sudden thaw will precipitate the dreaded catastrophe. Just now great interest centers in an island lying in the river off the town of Port Deposit and owned and occupied by a man named William W. Roberts. Roberts has refused to leave the island, which is partly submerged, and his sixteen-year-old son Victor elects to remain with him. His wife and other members of his family are elsewhere. For many days anxious glances were turned toward the island without discovering any signs of life, and at last two newspaper men, representing the Baltimore American and The Sun, accompanied by Mr. J. Lawrence Paxton, of Port Deposit, undertook, on Tuesday, at very considerable personal peril to reach Roberts' house over the great ice-pack lying between the shores of the island and mainland. They succeeded in getting within hailing distance, but found a swift current of water, eight or ten feet deep surrounding the buildings. After repeated hailing Roberts and his son became aware of their presence and getting out a boat rowed to them. They were the first persons from the outer world the Robertses had seen for twenty-three days. They urged the father and son to leave their perilous position and return with them to Port Deposit but the man refused to leave his stock—a horse and two cows—and the boy determined to stay with his father. It has transpired that Mr. Clarence Seabrook was the representative of the American who participated in the dangerous undertaking. It is greatly feared that Roberts' house will be swept away in the expected flood and that he and his boy will perish.

[Since the above was written they have been forced to leave the island by the sheriff.]

Fact and Fiction.

Exaggerated stories of the effect of the cyclone which struck this city on Sunday night were telegraphed from Baltimore to other cities. The plain facts were embellished with an amount of fictitious description calculated to amuse the people of this community to be sure, but likely also to alarm persons at a distance who have friends residing here. Here is the story as told in the New York Tribune by a special telegram:

BALTIMORE, FEBRUARY 20, (special).—The thunderstorm that ended in a blizzard last night left ruin in its track through Western Maryland. In Baltimore the wind lifted tin roofs, ripped up trees and telegraph poles, sent shutters, signs and awnings flying through the streets, and did other damage. At Westminster, Md., a number of buildings were wrecked. The roof of Smith Hall, at Western Maryland College, was torn off and carried several hundred yards. In Smith Hall are the dormitories of the girl students. Most of them were preparing for bed at the time. They rushed from the hall out into the storm in their night clothes, and several were injured by being hurled against the other buildings by the force of the wind. St. Paul's Reformed Church was nearly demolished. The iron and wood steeple was torn off, carried across the road, and falling on two dwellings crushed in the roofs and nearly killed the occupants. Several valuable memorial windows in the church were smashed. A number of persons were knocked down and hurt by flying shutters on the streets. Considerable damage was done to W. S. Myer & Brother's flour mills. Twenty houses were unroofed. The residents of the town were panic-stricken, and many of them ran out of their houses and were exposed to the storm for hours. At Linwood, a few miles from Westminster, Jesse Smith's house was unroofed and valuable live stock killed by the destruction of the barn. Manchester was also swept by the blizzard, many houses being unroofed and barns and stables demolished.

Gov. Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, has been financially ruined by endorsing for a professed friend, who proved treacherous and deceived him. His obligations as an endorser exceed the entire amount of his modest fortune of $50,000, and his wife insisted on adding her inherited means to the sacrifice, and has united with her husband in making an assignment of all their possessions for the benefit of another party's creditors. The integrity of the noble-hearted statesman shines out brilliantly in the transaction, and his great misfortune has awakened deep sympathy throughout the whole country.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland, Knights of Pythias, opened its twenty-fifth annual convention at Pythian Hall, North Gay street, Baltimore, on Tuesday of last week. Reports of committees and of the grand chancellor, keeper of records and seals and grand master of the exchequer were read. At the night session the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year: Adam Peeples, grand chancellor; George Raub, grand vice-chancellor; S. S. Quinn, grand prelate; James Whitehouse, grand keeper of records and seals; W. S. Quigley, grand master of the exchequer; William Missel, supreme representative.

Gen. Pierre G. T. Beauregard, the noted Confederate commander, died at New Orleans on Monday night, of heart failure, in the 75th year of his age. He will be most prominently remembered as the leader of the rebel forces at the first battle of Bull Run, and as the successor of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson, after the latter's death, at the battle of Pittsburg Landing. In connection with Gen. Early he was employed to superintend and certify the integrity of the Louisiana Lottery drawings, a service for which he received a salary of $10,000.

The Republican candidate for Mayor of York, Pa., G. W. S. Loucks, was elected by ten majority at the city election on Tuesday last. The previous election the Democratic candidate was elected by 978 majority. This is the first Republican victory in York within twelve years.

Near Taneytown, February 10th, 1893, Mary Rebecca, only child of Wm. D. and Clara A. Whitmore, aged 2 years and 12 days.

Home is sad, Oh! God, how dreary,
Lonesome, lonely every spot;
Listening for her voice till weary,
Weary, for we hear it not.

Vanished are the little playthings,
No wee footsteps in the hall;
All is silent and so lonely,
For Mary Rebecca's gone, our joy, are all.

Softly was the sun ascending
From the eastern sky of morn
When our little only treasure
From our arms was rudely torn.

With a smile she whispered softly
"Papa, mamma, kiss good-bye,
Mamma must not cry a bit,
Becca's going home to rest."

How we miss our little darling,
She was all our joy and pride,
Angels took her o'er the river
To their home beyond the tide.

BY HER PARENTS.

Oh, what is she doing, our darling,
Who left us those few days ago?
Does she watch from the beautiful city?
Of our trials and griefs does she know?

Does she know how we wept in our anguish
As she passed from our presence away,
How naught can give comfort and gladness
As we miss her so day after day?

Does she know how I long to embrace her,
To feel her wee hand clasped in mine,
How in fancy I feel her caresses,
Her arms round me softly entwine?

Her head with its soft, silken tresses,
How often in fancy I see;
And I hear the sweet voice lisping, "Auntie,"
And laughing in innocent glee.

We think of our darling in heaven,
We know she is safe, safe from harm,
And rejoice in the blessed assurance
That she rests in the dear Saviour's arms.

FERTILIZER

—FOR—

Spring Crops!

Farmers will soon be breaking ground preparatory to putting in their Spring Crops, and one of the first items to be considered is

What Fertilizer

shall I use to give me the best results? The fertilizer that we have been manufacturing for many years has few equals and with a fair season a crop is assured, when it is used, and since the late reduction in price it is extremely low. Farmers who have used our on Potatoes have had extraordinary results, as it is a potato fertilizer, and for OATS and CORN it will be difficult for any dealer to duplicate it at the same money.

Champion Dissolved Raw Bone Phosphate

Farmers please remember that we are headquarters for fertilizer for all Spring Crops and at prices at which we defy competition.

Give us a call.

Very Respectfully,
