THE SOCIAL WANDERER

Dear Roamer

The spotlight these days seems to focus on the brides and the brides-to-be. A slew of engagements and weddings roll in every week, all of which proves that Dan Cupid is a very busy little man. Then too you know the old saw—"In the Spring a young man's fancy etc."

Miss Mary Lil Knotts whose wedding to Mr. Charles (Bus R. Humphreys will take place on June 23, is being much feted. To-day, Miss Knotts will be the guest of honor at a tea and shower to be given by Miss Virginia Foley and Miss Julia Cruikshank. On the 18th of May, Miss Knotts and Mr. Humphreys will be honor guests at a party in Philadelphia given by Miss Foley and her brother, Mr. Tom Foley. The following Saturday, May 25, Miss Martha Speicher will be hostess at a luncheon-shower in honor of Miss Knotts.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Griffin spent a few days in Chestertown this week before leaving for Providence, R. I., tomorrow, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Griffin before her marriage on Wednesday, May 1st in Fredericksburg, Va., was Miss Matilda M. Hessey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hessey, of Chestertown. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold O. Mauritson.

Mr. Griffin, whose home is in Auburn, Indiana, is a photographer for the Army and Navy Publishing Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Maddox, of Glen Burnie, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris E. Maddox, and Mr. Stephen E. Magill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen W. Magill, of Ridley Park, Pa. Miss Maddox is a graduate of Amherst College and attended the University of Heidelberg. The wedding will take place in October.

Miss Maddox was born in Chestertown, her father having been cashier of The People's Bank a number of years ago.

Miss Catherine Fithian, daughter of Mr. William Fithian, of Chesapeake City, and Mr. Frank Legg, son of Mrs. Frank Legg, of near Chestertown, were married on Monday evening at the Methodist parsonage Rock Hall, by the Rev. F. C. Louhoff. The bride was attended by Mrs. Willard Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Legg will live in the Denbeigh section of Rock Hall.

Mrs. Freeda G. Hudson and Mr. Edward T. Collins, of Chestertown, were married on Monday, May 6th in Baltimore, by the Rev. Hass. They will reside in the Savage Apartments.

Well, so much for the marital news!

Parties during the week have been scarce. Only one comes to mind. Mrs. H. Clay Brown entereained at dinner on Wednesday evening at her home on Front St.

On Tuesday, the May meeting of Our Garden Club will be in the nature of a tour. The members are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. J. Thomas Kibler at 10 a. m. on Tuesday morning with a box luncheon under their arms. From there, the ladies will motor to the Hydroponicum (chemical water garden) owned by Mr. Miller, near Easton. Hope House will also be visited and probably one other place, all of which should prove to be a very interesting and delightful day.

Moving is always associated with Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Simon Westcott and family will move this month to their newly purchased farm near Locust Grove. Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Dick will occupy the Westcott home on Front St.

Work started this week on the construction of the new home of Dr. and Mrs. William R. Howell which is being built on the site which they recently purchased located on Barroll Heights.

Mrs. Charles Hulett and her daughter, Miss Nancy Shakespeare will move from Brick House Farm in Quaker Neck to their new home in Newark, Del., next week.

Mrs. William T. Dixon, her two daughters, Misses Bessie and Josie Dixon, accompanied by the former's mother, Mrs. Pearce Crisfield have returned from Savannah, Ga., and are now established at Green Point Farm for the remainder of the season. Miss Bessie Dixon will shortly go to Baltimore where she has accepted a position as social secretary to Mrs. John W. Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vickers are the proud grandparents of a son born on Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. George Vickers, of Baltimore. The little boy will be named John George Vickers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hathaway, of Philadelphia, who have recently purchased a home near Betterton are now spending much of the season here. Last week-end they had as their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gerhardt, and Miss Louise Gerhardt, of Philadelphia, and Miss Anne Boardman, of Baltimore.

This week-end and to-day especially, we will have guests from north east, south and west.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Collins and little son, John, of Beckley, W. Va., are guests of Mrs. R. H. Colins, Sr., until Monday.

Mrs. Wilbur D. Gill, of Midway, Kentucky, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. R. Hynson Rogers. Mrs. Gill motored East with friends and will return with them to Kentucky on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. G. Evans, of Mt. Washington, Baltimore, are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Collins, Jr.

Old Chestertown Day, is at hand. Bird in hand, you know the rest.

Yours on the tour,

The Wanderer

Preservation Of Dog Wood Trees Urged

Landowners in particular and nature lovers in general are called upon to aid in preventing destruction of the native flowering dogwood which at this time of year is the glory of Maryland's woodland. It is a rather common variety in most sections of the state and, while there is no immediate danger of its complete extermination, in the vicinity of large centers of population there is a tendency for dogwood to disappear quite rapidly, it is pointed out by Walter R. Ballard, specialist in ornamental horticulture for the University of Maryland Extension Service. He says that everyone should be vigilant, especialy during the blooming period, to prevent wanton destruction of the tree and particularly to direct the attention of others to its value and need for protection.

Dogwood has many points in its favor as an ornamental tree for the lawn and home. Not the least is the fact that it is nearly as decorative in the winter as it is in spring and fall. Dogwood makes a fine effect in front of evergreens, especially when in bloom. The red berries and coloring are rich in the fall, and even in the winter the well-developed. In addition, dogwood is not attacked by the Japanese beetle.

Mr. Ballard states that one of the best methods of protecting dogwood is to plant it on the home grounds. While it is not so easy to transplant, the larger specimens from the woods, smaller ones may be moved satisfactorily in the early spring, if the young trees are cut back to about one foot in height. The pink-flowered forms make desirable ornamental trees for specimen planting but these are rarely seen in the wild. For that reason ,the better pink strains are propagated by nurserymen by budding on the common dogwood stock. When specimens are transplanted from the woods, new shoots from the base may be trained as desired.
