ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

Merle Oberon and Louis Borell during a romantic interlude in Alexander Korda's new all-color comedy, "Over The Moon."

One of the most memorable romances ever written for the stage, Robert E. Sherwood's "Waterloo Bridge" has been made into a timely and tender love story, starring Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor, and coming on Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11 to the New Lyceum Theatre.

With its vital and exciting background of London of the war years, 1917 and 1940, the story is woven around a ballet dancer and an aristocratic young British officer, who meet on historic Waterloo Bridge during an air raid and seek shelter in the Waterloo underground. They realize that they are in love almost at first sight and their whirlwind courtship is telescoped into twenty-four happy hours. But before they can be married he is called back to the front. Later she reads his name among the dead and life fails to hold anything for her. Their almost miraculous reunion at Waterloo Station, when he returns after being held in a prison camp, brings their romance dramatically to a climax.

Miss Leigh is the most talked of actress on the screen today as the result of her Academy Award performance of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind."

Merle Oberon romps through the merriest adventures of the year in "Over The Moon," Alexander Korda's all-color comedy romance, which comes to the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, June 12 and 13 through United Artists release. The story casts Merle as Jane Benson, a Yorkshire lass who overnight becomes the richest girl in the world and decides to find out all about glitter and glamour.

Rex Harrison, playing the role of serious-minded Dr. Freddie Jarvis, is Merle's leading man, and other important parts in the production are handled by Ursula Jeans, Louis Borell, Robert Douglas, Zena Dare and Cecil Ramage. As the story opens Jane Benson has become engaged to Dr. Jarvis, a country doctor who decides to sell his practice so that he can take his wife-to-be on a glorious honeymoon in the gay resorts of Southern France.

Complications arise when Jane inherits a vast fortune and urges Freddie to accompany her on a mad round of pleasures. Freddie gets as far as London and then decides to bow out because he becomes disgusted with Jane's new friends and their parastic way of life. Jane pretends that she doesn't care and begins a life of gayety in Paris and Monte Carlo. All the men she meets offer extravagant love. For a while she gets a kick out of whirling from champagne party to champagne party, but when she meets a young man who is even richer than she, she breaks down and confesses her unhappiness. Then and there, she decides to recapture the man she loves. Her next stop is Switzerland, whither Freddie has gone to work in a fashionable clinic. The comedy reaches an unexpected climax when the couple go to Italy to test their love and to find it again.

God's Night Bible

By Rev. C. M. Griffeth

Pastor Ridgely M. E. Church

Ridgely, Md.

The evening stars have always been an open Bible to every thoughtful man. Ages ago the Psalmist exclaimed: "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars....."

Look up tonight into the glory of the evening sky. There you will catch a partial view of this vast universe of which you and I are such most insignificant parts.

Gaze for a moment or two at the multitude of the twinkling stars in that dark dome high above you. Those distant stars are golden letters which form the words through which God is speaking to your mind. As you gaze upon the stars with a receptive mind God will through them impress upon you His thoughts.

The stars are God's night Bible.

Observe how silently, how unhurriedly, yet how accurately and how unerring those vast distant bodies of blazing light keep in their places. Year after year, and century after century they continue on in their courses, without confusion, without perplexity, without distress, without anxiety, without fear.

But we, small insignificant parts of creation, with a life span of anly a few earth years, burden our consciousness every day with all such mental distresses.

In a careful reading of God's night Bible we will catch a vision of the vastness of creation, of the quietness of space, of the poise of worlds.

In such a reading there also comes to our minds an assurance that He who controls the universe, is well able by might and by wisdom to direct our lives if and when we are wiling to place our wills into His will.

By the stars of the night I am assured that God will guide my yielded life aright.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
